VOL. XLIII. MARCH 2, 1889. No. 1,094

The market for railroad securities during the past week has been a waiting one, as neither investors or speculators care to do much until something is known respecting the financial policy of the incoming administration. The inaugural address on Monday may give a hint that will make or mar the market. But President Harrison is more likely, in that document, to indulge in vague generalities than in specific recommendations. A call for an extra session of the new Congress would probably depress prices, as it would be interpreted as leading to another tariff debate and a consequent disturbance to the business of the country.

The general business situation presents several unfavorable features. The abundance and cheapness of money in Wall street shows that it is not being used in the channels of trade or in opening up new enterprises. The bank clearances indicate that there is a reasonably large trade going on, but it does not seem to be profitable. The slow sale of coal, the shutting down of the collieries and the enforced idleness of so many miners tells its own story of the check given to manufacturing industry. Yet the picture is not all dark. Railroad returns are improving, because rates are being better maintained. Wheat is being marketed in larger volume than has been the case since the season's crop has been gathered; nor did we ever ship so much corn abroad as we are now doing. Should the administration decline to call an extra session and stop the accumulation of surplus by very liberal bond-buying, there might be a revival of stock speculation; but the policy would not be a wise one, as we want all our accumulations for works of needed public improvement. This might not suit Wall street, but it would be of immense benefit to the country at large.

In another column the action of the Legislative Committee of the Real Estate Exchange upon the Ives Park Boundary bill is given in full. It will be seen that the warning uttered in THE RECORD AND GUIDE last week bore good fruit, and the resolution indorsing the scheme and committing the entire Exchange nominally to its support was "tabled" on the motion of its most industrious advocate. Any further consideration of the bill should be of a condemnatory character; for enough is already known to stamp the measure as one of the most impudent and disgraceful that has emanated from Albany for a considerable time. The question of "motives" is always a difficult one to decide, even when they are quite apparent, and in the present case it is perhaps sufficient to say, what no one who has read the sweeping, unrestricted provisions of the bill will deny, that if an act had to be drawn that would jeopardize the new parks and place them permanently in the power of old opponents, like Mayor Grace and ex-Commissioner Crimmins or others that may yet appear, the Ives bill could not be improved upon. It is perfect. It need not even be asked whether legislation of this kind is either wise or proper. Acts like the Ives bill, of a "blank check" kind, which give the power to entirely dispose of valuable public property into the hands of a few individuals, deserve on the score of "probability" alone to be considered unwise and treated as such. Uncorrupt legislation seldom adopts this guise.

To say the least, it is to be regretted that the Ives bill should have come from the Corporation Counsel, and at the same time received the approval, if not the support, of some of the highest city officials. It is an unpleasant beginning for a new administration, and cannot but create distrust and a suspicion that the Mayor does not fully appreciate the force of public sentiment against any curtailment of the park area of the city. At the next meeting of the Legislative Committee the bill should receive the most pronounced condemnation, so that there may be no longer any doubt either in Albany or in the municipal offices as to where the real estate "interest" stands on the subject of the new parks. After years of agitation, effort and struggle against the most bitter opposition, the people have acquired a magnificent system of parks in the new wards, which will be a benefit to the community to-day, and a blessing to-morrow. The idea of jeopardizing this at the dictation of old enemies on any "boundaries" scheme, or on the pretence of adding a few dollars to the city treasury, is ludicrous. The people have not even seen the new parks yet; and there will be plenty of time to peddle them out by-and-by, if it must be done.

Two bills are before the Legislature at Albany to amend the Arrears law of Brooklyn. They have created a great deal of excitement on the other side of the river, and during the week have been the principal local topic of discussion in the press. There can be no doubt that the Brooklyn law is one of the most severe, if not the severest, in the country; but under its operation the finances of the city have greatly improved, and they are now in excellent condition. Much of this is undoubtedly due to the Arrears law. The penalties on "delinquency" are so heavy, amounting even to confiscation, that it does not "pay" to be in the debt of that city, as it often does elsewhere. This, of course, is an objectionable feature to some speculative holders of property, who, if occasion requires, would like to defer payment of what they owe the city until they make a "strike;" but it is a good thing for the rest of the taxpayers. The interests of real estate are undoubtedly great, but the interests of the entire city are greater. Experience has shown that the worst thing that can happen to real estate is to be tax-encumbered. It has not only a special effect but a general effect, as old holders of property in the outside wards of Brooklyn well know. We believe the people of Brooklyn will regret any impairment of the vital parts of the present law. What should be done is to provide some more certain way of informing property-holders of their indebtedness, for assessments, than at present prevails. The amount might be put upon the tax bills, or widely advertised in the papers.

The question as to the need of a national bankruptcy law has again come up for discussion, this time at the meeting that opened this week in St. Louis under the auspices of the Wholesale Grocers' Association. No one who has had any experience in trade will deny that the laws that we have for the collection of debts are not only inadequate but positively mischievous. They invite dishonesty and undoubtedly are the cause of a vast amount of fraudulent trading. In this State it is not necessary for a swindler to cheat his creditors illegally; it can usually be fully accomplished strictly according to law.

The real service, however, that a bankruptcy law would perform is not generally recognized. The experience of countries that have stringent bankruptcy laws in operation is that they are of more value in deterring reckless and fraudulent trading than in transferring to the creditors the assets of insolvent debtors. In Great Britain, in spite of the strictest legal safeguards, it has been found that bankruptcy proceedings fritter away so large a proportion of an estate in fees to the assignee, lawyers, accountants, etc., that the assets are little better than a Barmecide feast to the creditors. Upon failure there must be some one appointed to take charge of the debtor's property, collect indebtedness to him, perhaps instigate law proceedings, dispose of merchandise, etc. Creditors, as a rule, cannot give the attention and time necessary to the performance of these duties, and besides are usually distrustful of one another. An assignee has to be appointed, and then the plunder begins. To obviate this is a problem which no bankruptcy law has yet effectively solved. Its solution seems to depend upon discovering a means to make men honest and self-disinterested. On the other hand, the knowledge that a law exists enabling creditors to take possession of the property of a debtor, investigate his accounts, punish fraud and carelessness, deters either reckless or criminal contraction of debts. The creditors may not gain everything by bankruptcy, but the debtor knows he certainly loses nearly everything that he has. The adoption of a bankruptcy law is a long way ahead yet, and while such meetings as the one in St. Louis are steps in the right direction something should be done to immediately reform the laws we have.

The Massachusetts papers are congratulating themselves over the passage of a law by the Legislature, rendering the duty of giving quarterly reports obligatory on the railway companies of the State. "The wisdom of such a course," says the Boston Advertiser, "will be apparent to any one who investigates the subject." No one will deny that it is very desirable for a person who is investing money in the securities of a company, to know, if possible, on unimpeachable authority, its exact financial standing. But the real question is, can this standing be ascertained with any certainty from reports rendered by the company itself? Not only are the methods of bookkeeping often misleading, but certain corporations have been known to falsify their accounts. The Baltimore & Ohio was supposed at one time to have a cash surplus of $40,000,000, but when the facts came to be known, it turned out that this surplus merely represented certain improvements made, and it was no more cash than telegraph poles, stations and cars are cash. There is no method, it would seem, by which these accounts can be guaranteed absolutely, for it is not possible to provide against all the devices which the evil ingenuity of man can suggest for the purposes of deception. Taken all in all, however, the safest method seems to be that in vogue in England. The reports are not made by the companies themselves, but by auditors employed for the purpose, who personally examine the books and are responsible for the returns which are issued.

The prestige of the London Times has been greatly lowered by the revelation of the Parnell Commission. It was enough to make John Sterling, its first great editor, and John T. Delaney, who controlled it when in the zenith of its newspaper power, turn in their graves at the statements made by their successors before a court, respecting the spurious Parnell letters. The most unscrupulous and sensational of cheap publications could not have shown less sense than did the business manager and the editors who associated with him in the purchase of the bogus letters and the writing of the articles on "Parnellism and Crime." The Times has been losing in circulation, advertising and authority in the world of public opinion for a number of years back, but this last fiasco will make it rank hereafter with second-class journals.

On their face the charges against Parnell were absurd. He is a circumspect, politic and reserved political leader. In character, entirely unlike his countrymen, he was not the sort of man to write letters bearing his own signature and send them to every Tom, Dick and Harry advocating assassination and all manner of outrages. Even were he willing to see violent measures used in order to perfect his great object, he would naturally do it through trusted agents, or at least verbally. There ought to be a revulsion of feeling in his favor in England, but the race hatred is so strong that we doubt if it will have much effect on the next general election.

In view of the signal discomfiture of the London Times, and the supposed revulsion of English public opinion in favor of Parnell, the Irish party and their English Liberal friends think they may force a dissolution of Parliament, and, under Mr. Gladstone's leadership, might get a majority in the new House in favor of "Irish Home Rule." We doubt very much if English public opinion is prepared as yet to allow the Irish to govern themselves. Even if Home Rule were granted, would Ireland really be any better off? The vital difficulties of that country are not political, so much as economic and industrial. There is no coal or iron in the "Green Isle," and hence no manufactures or varied industries. It is a purely agricultural community; but even so, it cannot raise the small grains in competition with America, Russia, India or Australia. The United States and South America, as well as Australia, can produce cattle cheaper than can Ireland. Market gardening and dairying would be unprofitable, for there are no large consuming centres in the island itself.

With Home Rule the Irish would doubtless expect to establish a tariff, but it would be a long time before manufactures would thrive. Then, suppose the land were to be divided among the actual field-hands, and the landlord was to disappear as an element of discord, how much better off would the poor peasant be pursuing his unprofitable occupation? Certainly the outlook for the country is anything but reassuring. Yet one cannot help sympathizing with the Irish in view of their treatment by the present British government. Punishment of members of Parliament as convicts, for advocating political views is especially objectionable. What would we think if a majority of the House of Representatives should condemn Sunset Cox or Sam Randall to the penitentiary for holding certain opinions about Alaska. Yet this is what has been done with O'Brien and other Irish members of Parliament. Their heads have been shaved, and they have been forced to wear the dress of convicts and herd with the common felons. One cannot read the accounts of the way these Irish members are treated without a feeling of hot indignation against British brutality.

Professor Huxley, in the February Nineteenth Century, in the midst of his reply to Mr. Harrison's article on the "Future of Agnosticism," turns aside to give a whack at the people of the United States for the way they have treated the Mormons. He says:

> It is interesting to observe that the course taken by the great Republic and its citizens runs exactly parallel with that taken by the Roman Empire and its citizens towards the early Christians, except that the Romans had a certain legal excuse for their acts of violence, inasmuch as the Christian "sodalitia" were not licensed, and consequently were, ipso facto, illegal assemblages.

There are different ways of looking at this indictment. Professor Huxley does not take into consideration how far the acts of violence which drove the early Mormons from place to place were justified by concomitant acts of violence on their part. But, setting aside that aspect of the question, Professor Huxley is undoubtedly right in condemning the appropriation by the United States government of the Mormons' property, merely because of differences in religion. True there were differences in social practices also, but since the latter were the direct result of the former, and so far as we can see had rather a beneficial effect than otherwise, by making the children of the extra wives legitimate and rendering the husbands responsible for their support, these differences in social customs, especially as they were practiced by a large number of reputable people, did not justify the persecution the Mormons have suffered. It would seem as if the world could never understand the meaning and learn the lesson of tolerance.

The First Two Months of 1889.

The statistics given below of the conveyances, mortgages and projected buildings, for the months of January and February of this year, show a general improvement over the corresponding period of last year. The figures for the past month show that the increase which took place in the first month of the year was largely maintained, and should the statistics show a further increase in March it will be reasonable to expect one of the best years in the annals of real estate.

The conveyances for New York City, including the 23d and 24th Wards, during the first two months of the year, numbered 2,397, against 1,933 in the corresponding period of 1888 and 1,984 in 1887. The total amount of these conveyances was $42,547,240 this year, whereas the year before it was $37,311,215 and two years ago only $35,328,075. So that, including nominal deeds, for the first two months of the current year 464 deeds have been recorded in excess of the same period in 1888, at a total sum of $5,236,025 more. An improvement is manifested in the 23d and 24th Wards, where 379 deeds have been recorded, as against 290 last year, at a total of $1,419,556 as compared with $1,028,071 in 1888.

The figures for the month of February show an increase over the same month last year. The number of transfers was 1,185, as compared with 901 in 1888, and their amount $22,169,835, as against $20,022,925. The number of parcels conveyed in the trans-Harlem wards was 172 against 112 last year, and the amounts $665,331, as compared with $444,145.

The amount of money loaned on real estate mortgages for the two months of the year was $29,421,556, while for the corresponding period in 1888 it was $22,824,253. The amount loaned at under 5 per cent. interest was unusually large, showing the continued cheapness of money, to which reference has several times been made in these columns of late. The number of parcels on which loans were made at less than 5 per cent. interest in January and February, 1888, was 171, while in the same months this year it was 247. The amount loaned at less than 5 per cent. interest during the same period last year was $3,964,400, while this year it was $6,130,845.

The tables of projected buildings for January and February make an extraordinary showing. The number of buildings for which plans were filed was 548 and their cost $9,517,865, while last year, during the same months, only 317 were projected at a cost of but $4,150,880. This shows that the buildings projected this year will be more costly structures, on the whole, than those projected last year, the average cost per building in the two months in 1888 being $13,946 and in 1889 about $17,368. The figures for February show a remarkable increase, the number projected last year being 200 and this year 298, while their estimated cost this year was $5,477,475, against but $2,205,495 in February 1888. The largest increase is shown in the sections south of 14th street and between 59th and 125th streets, west of 8th avenue. There is an increase in every other section of Manhattan Island. The 23d and 24th Wards, however, show a decrease. The building interests are, in any event, assured of business to the extent of over $3,000,000 more than last year for the first two months of 1889 alone. The following are the tables:

*Two plans missing.

For the last two or three years there has been a deal of complaint among the brokers of the Stock Exchange about the material falling off in their business. Whereas back in 1881 sales of 500,000 or 600,000 shares a day were the rule, now they are the exception; and so much so, indeed, that the profits of commission houses have shrunk very largely. Without stopping to consider how far the large business of 1880 and 1881 was exceptional and unnatural, it may be remarked that there is one method of making business better which at all events is promising enough to deserve trial. Why not increase the number of stocks dealt in by listing the securities of trusts and large manufacturing corporations? In the English stock market, not only railway stocks and bonds are dealt in, but the securities of foreign nations and great business houses. There is no use, of course, in listing a stock in which no active exchange is liable to take place, so it would be undesirable for the New York Exchange to attempt to deal in Turkish bonds or the like; but in the unlisted department large sales of trust certificates already take place. Of late the shares of the Cotton Seed Oil Trust, the Chicago Gas Trust and the Sugar Trust have been so actively exchanged that they ought to be listed, just as the shares of any joint stock company ought to be listed which has a large capitalization widely distributed. The Stock Exchange should represent every branch of the country's business, not merely the railways or the express companies.

New York real estate owners still have no little time to wait before the confusion and expense at present associated with conveying property and searching titles will be cleared up. Mr. Olmstead's original bill has been divided up into two bills, one providing for future indexing and the other for re-indexing instruments affecting landed property. The former bill is pretty certain of passage, but even when passed it will not, owing to the lack of room for the indexes in the Register's present office, go into operation until July, 1890. Meanwhile the maps and books will be prepared. When the system goes into effect all that will be required in order to ascertain what instruments have been recorded affecting any particular lot or parcel will be to look under the diagram or diagrams of the block or blocks in which the land is situated, where will be found a reference to all instruments relating to that particular piece of property. It is to be hoped that the reform will not long be left in this incomplete condition. The searching of titles will not be rendered any easier for the next two or three years. Indeed, the reform will be worthless unless it is supplemented by a bill for re-indexing.

An intelligent female correspondent of the Evening Post writes a letter from the Pacific Coast on the much-vexed question of Chinese labor. She states that many classes which favor the exclusion of the Chinese are beginning to regret the growing scarcity of their labor. There are many occupations which white men and women on the Pacific Coast have not been trained to fill. At the same time, this correspondent admits that white labor is more reliable and efficient than the Chinese. The latter takes no interest in his employer's work; he will do what he contracts to do, but nothing more—a bad characteristic, for "in the vineyards," small fruit farms, and even the grain growing fields of California, it is often desirable, in order to gather a crop in its fullness, to hustle, to work a little overtime. This the white laborer willingly does; but the Mongolian quits work when his time is up, no matter what the consequences may be. Then the white laborer is by one-third the most efficient. As the Chinaman becomes much scarcer, and population otherwise increases, the wages of the white laborer will steadily advance. There will not long be any scarcity of white labor on the Pacific Coast. The stoppage of railway construction has literally thrown hundreds of thousands of men out of employment east of the Rocky Mountains. Many of these will find their way West. After all it is better to have our population homogeneous. One race problem, that of the negroes, we must solve, but it will exercise all our wisdom to do so. The Chinaman does not make a good cross with white Americans.

An Income Tax.

The unjust burden which rests upon real estate, under the present system of taxation in vogue in our States and cities, was strikingly shown in a recent address delivered by Hon. Jonathan A. Lane at the banquet of the Merchants' Association in Boston. In this address statistics were presented which showed that while the value of personal property in Boston was four times that of real estate, the revenue derived from personal property was only one-third that yielded by real estate. In other words, the tax in the city of Boston bears upon property in the proportion of twelve upon real estate to one upon personal. The relative proportion in which real and personal property should contribute to the revenues of the city or State in an equitable system of taxation is a question still to be decided; but that real estate should bear a much greater burden of the tax proportionally than personal, under a system which presumably places the tax on each according to its existing value, is certainly unfair. The figures presented by Mr. Lane would seem startling were we not so accustomed to see the rapid accumulation of personal property all about us, accompanied by little increase, if any, in the yearly assessed value of this class of property, and in many years by an actual falling off in value. If an investigation were made, it would undoubtedly be disclosed that the weight of taxation in New York City, as well as in other larger cities throughout the country, fell upon real estate in about the same proportion that it does in Boston. The assessed valuation of personal property in New York City for the year 1884 was less than one-fifth that of real property, yet there is scarcely a doubt that the wealth held in this city in the forms classed as personal property for the year 1884 greatly exceeded that held in real estate. Each year, under the present system of taxation, the situation grows worse. The yearly increase in city and State expenditures is not met by any larger returns from personal property, and, as a result of this, real estate must bear a constantly increasing proportion of the tax if the present system is continued.

Two changes are necessary before the evils of the present iniquitous system of taxation can be escaped, and our increasing State and city expenditures met in the most equitable manner. In the first place, our cities should assume control of those municipal works which are in their natures monopolies—as the street railway, the water supply, gas supply, electric lighting, etc. By this means the city expenditures will be reduced. The vast sums which our municipal governments are paying yearly to private corporations for services which they could perform much more efficiently and economically for themselves is simply outrageous. As shown in an article in our editorial columns last week on "Municipal Electric Lighting," cities which have assumed control of their own electric lighting plants are able to furnish light at one-third of the cost which they would have to pay private corporations for the same service. A similar reduction in cost has followed the municipal control of all other works of a similar nature in every city where the experiment has been tried. There is no reason why municipalities can not furnish their own light and water at a reasonable rate and still derive a handsome profit from supplying private parties. Berlin (Germany), a growing city, as much so as New York, by managing its own municipal public works is able to come out at the end of the year with a surplus of something like 4,000,000 marks. The public gas-works of Berlin supply gas for less than one dollar a thousand, yet the profits derived therefrom defray 18 per cent. of the expenses of the municipal government. Are American real estate owners content to see their property eaten up by taxes which go to enrich private corporations?

In the second place, the tax on personal property should be swept away, and in its place a tax on incomes substituted. A tax on incomes is universally considered to be the most equitable tax that can be levied, provided it can be assessed fairly. Why it cannot be assessed fairly has never been clearly shown. It is so much easier to assess an income tax than a personal property tax that very often our assessors find it convenient first to assess a person's income, and upon this, as a basis, determine his probable personality. The rent a person pays, the situation of his house or place of business, the style in which he lives, are all evidences of his income.

The real cause for the opposition to the income tax, and a reason why it should be adopted, is that it accomplishes the very purpose designed. It is only necessary to examine the working of the income tax, when applied to our own State, to perceive the force of this statement. Careful estimates based upon the amount of revenue derived by the Federal government from a tax on incomes in the State of New York for the year 1865–66 show that at that time there was in the State five thousand millions of productive property. Now, the value of all property in the State for the purpose of assessment and taxation for the year 1885 was only three thousand million dollars, of which less than three hundred and fifty millions was personal. The value of real estate in 1865, based on the State assessment, was but little more than fifteen hundred millions. From these figures then it is seen—the value of real estate for both years being given—that an income tax in 1865 reached thirty-five hundred millions of property, while a personal property tax in 1885, twenty years later, reached only three hundred and fifty millions. The experience of other States in which the income tax was applied shows similar results.

One of the strongest reasons why an income tax should be substituted for a tax on personal property is the encouragement which it would give to business. As only those whose incomes were above a certain amount would be called upon to contribute to the support of government under this tax, people would be induced to enter into or extend their business who under the present merciless system could not. There is no doubt that our personal property tax is a great check to business enterprise and the cause of many failures.

When the income tax was first introduced into England, Germany and other European countries, it was received with little favor. John Stuart Mill, whose principles would naturally favor a tax on incomes, in his writings upon this subject about the time the income tax was introduced into England by Sir Robert Peel, was seemingly not favorably impressed by it. But Fawcett, the follower of Mill, evidently convinced by its practical workings, favors the income tax in his work published in 1883, although his general principles would stand to oppose such a tax. In every country where the income tax exists at present it meets with increasing approval. Even in this country it is meeting with greater favor. At any rate, the opposition to the income tax is not nearly so strong as is generally imagined. The income tax exists—in a very imperfect form, to be sure—in some parts of the United States, and could, by suitable presentations, be introduced elsewhere as a State tax to take the place of the general tax on real estate, leaving real estate for the local political units. When Professor Ely, a few weeks since, addressed the Landlords' United Protection Association of Baltimore, representing the real estate owners of that city, on "Taxation," no part of his address was so warmly applauded as that in which he advocated the income tax, and when a year ago he addressed informally representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, his remarks in favor of an income tax seemed to meet with general if not unanimous approval.

Our Prophetic Department.

FORESHADOWER—Why not discuss the policy of the incoming administration? Of course, events will finally determine what President Harrison and his Cabinet will do jointly with Congress; but then the programmes of Presidents and strong men in the Cabinet and Congress will be potent factors in determining the action of the government in certain directions. Now, cannot some definite idea be formed as to what may be the course of events in the politics of the country after March 4th?

SIR ORACLE—There is no harm in trying to guess out what may happen under the new administration. It will be well to consider four programmes: first, that which is likely to be contained in the President's inaugural and in his first message to Congress. I take it for granted, of course, that there will be a session of the National Legislature before the usual time of meeting. The next programme will be that of Secretary of State Blaine, who is so strong a personality that his influence will be felt in the conduct of affairs; but events will determine the final action of the government, which may be called the third view of the case. Finally, there is an ideal programme which the nation ought to pursue, but probably will not. Suppose we divide the prophecy. You begin by trying to anticipate the substance of the inaugural and the first message to Congress.

F.—President-elect Harrison has shown so much reserve during the campaign and since his election that it is safe to say he will be non-committal on many important topics. He will probably, in a vague way, indorse the principles on which the Senate Tariff bill was based. Then he will favor some legislation protecting the Southern negroes in their right to vote. Practically the negroes of the South are disfranchised—their votes do not count; then the President will favor Civil Service Reform, and will also point out the necessity for strengthening the navy and beginning the work of erecting defenses for our seacoast cities. In the early part of the campaign General Harrison said he was not afraid of the word "subsidy," by which he meant, I think, that he would favor the construction of steamship lines with some sort of a government guarantee against loss to the owners. Then he will not be so reluctant as was President Cleveland to sign bills favoring river and harbor improvements. Finally, he would favor additional pension legislation, and will continue the policy of the Cleveland administration by buying bonds to get rid of the surplus in the Treasury.

SIR O.—Well, that seems to be rather an extensive programme. On one point I am quite clear—if Congress meets shortly, there will be no surplus to speak of by the close of this year. As to Civil Service Reform, I doubt if President Harrison will be any more successful than was President Cleveland in withstanding the clamors of the spoils hunters. There will be a pretty clean sweep of Democrats. When the administration guillotine commences to work the Democrats will express much indignation, of course, but they will deserve little sympathy in view of their bitter hostility to Civil Service Reform. Secretary of State Blaine, also, who will be a power in the Cabinet, believes in using the spoils of office for the benefit of his own party.

F.—Mr. Blaine's programme will naturally be brilliant and far-reaching. Being a sensational statesman he will, I judge, favor the annexation of Canada, and perhaps a purchase of Cuba, or the appropriation of one or more of the West India Islands. He would like also to annex the Northern States of Mexico. Then his scheme for having a commercial union between the United States and the Central and South American States will undoubtedly be resuscitated. He will take a high tone with foreign powers; with Great Britain on the Fisheries question, and with the Continental States on the status of the Panama Canal.

SIR O.—It is to be seen how far General Harrison will be able to control his Secretaries in their several departments. He has returned to the early traditions of the Republic and surrounded himself with able men. If he can subordinate them to his own policy he will give us a strong administration. The trouble with Cleveland's, Arthur's, and even Grant's Cabinet were the number of weak members they contained. Blaine will start with a fierce press opposition. No matter what he does, it will be construed to his discredit by Democrats and Mugwumps alike. If, however, he succeeds in any bold stroke of foreign policy, he can laugh his enemies to scorn. Now that you have given us the President-elect's possible programme and outlined some of the things Blaine may try to do, can you form any idea what will be the actual course of events?

F.—The very narrow majority the new administration will have in both Houses of Congress makes the legislative future very doubtful. Bills will be introduced to protect the negro voters of the South, but they will fail. Something like the Senate Tariff bill will in all probability pass. The appropriations for river and harbor improvements, for seacoast defenses, for the navy, for stimulating our shipping interests, will be so large as to soon wipe out the surplus in the Treasury. I predict that before two years are over the government will borrow money and pay a really much higher interest for it than the bondholders are getting to-day. There will also be an increase in the scandalous pension payments. Now, suppose you give us the ideal programme for the nation.

SIR O.—Instead of giving you an outline of my own personal views, I will read a "platform of action" handed me by a rather Utopian friend. It is extensive enough in all conscience, and covers perhaps too much ground. Some of the propositions may look wild just now, but most of them, I am convinced, will be put into practice by the year 1925; but here's the programme, not only for President-elect Harrison, but for both parties of the country:

(1). A National Convention to be called to revise the Constitution of the United States, so as to perfect that instrument and bring it in accord with the age we live in.

(2). The United States to take its proper place in the nations of the earth; not for the purpose of interfering in every petty dispute, but to protect the higher interests of the race, and to see if excessive armaments could not be cut down and a stop put to the creation of unnecessary national debts.

(3). A topographical survey of the country, with a view to growing the forests to make good the criminal waste of the last two hundred years. If we had the forestry laws of Europe our river valleys would be saved from inundations in spring and drought in the summer and fall.

(4). Congress to authorize several new Cabinet departments, such as Transportation, Commerce, Manufacture, Labor, and Education.

(5). That all peaceful efforts be made to induce the government of Great Britain to consent to the annexation of Canada to the United States.

(6). The tariff to be amended by greatly enlarging the free list, getting rid of minor and burdensome imposts, but keeping the protection principle constantly in view. By being sensible and moderate the Republicans can put an end to tariff debate for twenty years.

(7). Congress to authorize appropriations for river and harbor improvements that in a few years would rid us of the Treasury surplus.

(8). Our merchant marine to be rehabilitated by the nation offering to guarantee sufficient funds to capitalists and shipbuilders, who would furnish us twenty of the finest vessels afloat, which could be used in time of peace for carrying freight and passengers to and from principal ports.

(9). Absorption of the telegraph, life and fire insurance and express business of the country by the general government.

(10). An income tax to be levied on all incomes over three thousand dollars "per annum." Any extra expense by the government to be made up by an increase in this tax—no addition to the national debt of the country.

F.—Well! that is a pretty extensive platform, and much of it is far away from practical politics. But why an income tax?

SIR O.—I fear that if the rich do not consent to some taxation that it will provoke a great deal of agrarian legislation. We raise all our revenues from land and tariff duties—personal property almost totally escapes bearing any of the burdens of the State; that is, the vast bulk of the community of the poorer classes pay for the support of the government, while the Jay Goulds contribute little or nothing. This is all wrong. A man should pay proportionately to the estate he owns. England has had an income tax since the Napoleonic wars. It is a just tax and easily collected. As to the rest of the programme, perhaps it is somewhat extensvie; but if General Harrison wants his administration to succeed he must do something with the money for the good of the nation. The only one of President Cleveland's Cabinet Ministers who has made a good impression on the country is Secretary Whitney, for he has given us the nucleus of an efficient navy. If, at the close of President Harrison's administration, our flag is seen in every port of the world; if our rivers and harbors had improvements; if our sea-coast defenses are in good shape, his name will go down with honor to posterity.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I see that you are continually claiming that the National, State and municipal authorities should assume a great many functions which are generally thought to belong more properly to corporations and private individuals. You seem to be of the opinion that gas and electric lights should be supplied to the citizens by the city, and that the telegraph system ought to be put into the hands of the general government. But, surely, in taking this position you are disregarding the commonest facts of the practical working of our political institutions. Are we to give further opportunities for the misappropriation of public funds in face of the scandals about the County Court House and the Tweed Ring? Are we to place money in the hands of men who can steal more than $100,000 in the process of putting a ceiling in the Assembly Chamber? Does the example of the city markets encourage you to put much faith in the honesty of our officials? There is a germ of corruption in almost everybody; it needs only opportunity to bring it out. It would be far better if we sold out our market property and let private individuals supply the public, not only with food, but with the places wherein it may be sold. JEFFERSONIAN.

REMARKS.—The scandals connected with the County Court House, the Albany Capitol and our city markets could not occur in a well-organized community, of which there are so many in Europe and not a few in this country. We have achieved a great deal in the way of personal liberty and political freedom; but in many respects we are as badly off as Turkey or other semi-civilized communities.

Take, for instance, the matter of Civil Service Reform. The examples our correspondent refers to were exceptional, and were not a part of the permanent work of the city or State. Our Post-office service is a marvel of cheapness and efficiency. We could have one-cent postage to-day were it not for the newspaper subsidy, under which heavy newspaper packages are sent to all parts of the country at two cents per pound, when they cost the nation many times that sum.

Then look at our almost perfect local Fire Department. The late strike showed that we have a Police service to be proud of. There are no monetary scandals connected with the Board of Education. Who is there to find fault with the Croton Water Department? Yet all these city departments are run by politicians under a very imperfect Civil Service system. It is the gas, electric light, ferry, and horse-car companies, owned by "private corporations," which charge high rates and get heavy profits for poor service.

Our city markets have always been in an anomalous position, due to causes with which our oldest citizens are perfectly familiar. The time has come when our food markets should be organized under a separate department, and plans prepared to give the metropolis the finest buildings of the kind in the world.

In all ages and nations governments have always kept control of the market places. It has been felt instinctively that the place where food is sold should be as it were common ground. The market place has often been the locality where the citizens met to discuss their grievances and their rights. In twenty-five years it is to be hoped that New York will have public markets worthy the city's imperial destiny.

The upper stories could be used for armories and meeting places and for other semi-public purposes. Further, we ought to get rid of the wretched little butcher shops and grocery stores which charge so much and give so little. There ought to be a delivery service, so that the large city markets could supply every house in the city. This ought to be an easy matter in this age of the telephone and express.

"Jeffersonian" must see that the tendency of things is for the city to control all natural monopolies. Jefferson was a wise man in his day and generation, but the world has learned something since he died. Of course, all human institutions are imperfect, and their tendency is often for the worst. Government work involves red tape, bureaucracy and the circumlocution of office. Whenever any public work is done it is a choice of evils. But just at present the direction of events is toward more public work by governments and less by private corporations.

The Harlem River Improvement.

The progress of the work on the Harlem River improvement has not been quite as rapid as was anticipated. Still the work is progressing as satisfactorily as could be expected. At present the most difficult part of the improvement is being undertaken, the excavation of the rocks in what is known as Dyckman's Cut on the line of the Spuyten Duyvil Creek. This consists of taking out 250,000 cubic yards of solid rock under contract, the work to be finished by June 1, 1889. Of this about 120,000 cubic yards has already been excavated, so that this part of the work is nearly half completed. In addition to this the contract has been made for excavating 60,000 cubic yards of earth and loose rock. The excavations began on January 9, 1888, and the present backward condition of the work is due to the blizzard and the severe winter of last year. The cost of the excavations alone will be $315,000, the price paid per cubic yard being 93 cents above mean low water and $1.13 below. The original estimates of the government were very much higher.

The streams included in the improvement are the Harlem River and Spuyten Duyvil Creek. The former empties into the East River, near Hell Gate, and the latter into the Hudson River, and together they separate Manhattan Island from the mainland. The two streams interchange their waters at Kingsbridge, but two bridges, with only short spans of from 10 to 15 feet, form dams and prevent a free interchange. The Harlem River is navigable as far as Morris Dock for vessels of from 12 to 15 feet draught, and that is practically the head of navigation at present, though light draught boats can go as far as Fordham Landing, one mile further. Spuyten Duyvil Creek is navigable at high water as far as Kingsbridge for vessels drawing 8 feet.

On the Hudson River side the improvement commences at the mouth of the Spuyten Duyvil Creek. It then cuts through in a bend southwest of the rolling mills at that point, in the shape of a reverse curve, till it comes to a point at between 219th and 220th streets. It then crosses the intersecting roads till it comes to the Harlem River. It then follows the course of the river, past Sherman's Creek, High Bridge, the Central Avenue Bridge and further south to the Harlem or Third Avenue Bridge.

The lines of the improvement are laid down as follows: Below the Harlem or Third Avenue Bridge, the outer pier and bulkhead lines as laid down by the Park Department are adopted. Above that bridge to the entrance of Dyckman's Cut into the Harlem River, the exterior pier and bulkhead lines are laid down 400 feet wide. Dyckman's Cut will be 350 feet wide, and the remainder of the line to the Hudson River will follow as nearly as possible the course of the Spuyten Duyvil, and the width will be 400 feet. That is to say, the improvement, when completed, will make the river, all but a short distance, 400 feet wide. It will be 15 feet deep all the way, except at Dyckman's Cut, where, owing to the rock, it will be deepened to 18 feet, so as to avoid danger to vessels of deeper draught. It will probably be necessary, in conformity with the general improvement, to deepen the river south of the Third Avenue Bridge, in which case the improvement will extend as far south as Ward's Island.

At present navigation on the Harlem River is practically confined to that part of the stream between its junction with the East River and the High Bridge, a distance of five miles. The prospective advantages to commerce and real estate from the improvement are many. In the first place, there will be an extension of the available water front and a development of local trade. About ten miles of wharves will be added to the water front of the city when the improvement is completed. This will relieve such localities as are now overcrowded, and probably make the traffic in building material large on the Harlem River, which would likely become a distributing point for the quickly-improving upper wards. The value of the material which finds its way up in that section is estimated at $3,000,000 per annum.

In the second place, the improvement will result in economy in transportation. The Harlem and other distributing points on the East River will be brought nearer the coal, brick and lime depots of the Hudson River above Spuyten Duyvil, but the traffic will be limited practically to barges and canal boats in tow of steam tugs. Shippers and boatmen who have been questioned on this point are mostly of opinion that the new route, when finished, will not be used by "traders" between the Hudson River and the Eastern States on account of the several bridges crossing it.

One of the principal distributing points for bricks by the cargo is at the foot of 30th street, North River. The harbor towage of an ordinary brick barge loaded, from that point into the Harlem River below the Second Avenue Bridge, and back light, is given as $20. It is said that the cut through the Hudson would make the mouth of the Spuyten Duyvil a more economical as well as a natural point of distribution. The distance from the mouth of the Spuyten Duyvil to High Bridge, via the Battery and East River, is twenty-three miles; by way of the new improvement it will be only three and a half miles, a saving of nineteen and a half miles. The distance from Spuyten Duyvil to the foot of 90th street, East River, by the same route, is eighteen and a half miles; by the new improvement it will only be eight miles, a saving of ten and a half miles. It is estimated that the average cost of towing from the Hudson to 90th street, East River, by the new route, will be reduced 50 per cent.

Besides this, the movement of coal from Weehawken for local consumption on the Harlem will be benefited, but the Sound trade from that and other points south of it will be most likely to follow the old route through the East River. There is, however, a large and increasing floatage of railroad scows to and from the Harlem from Weehawken, Hoboken and Jersey City, connecting the railroads of New York and Pennsylvania with thos of New England. From the Weehawken to the tide water terminus of the

New England road on the Harlem, by way of the Battery and East River, the distance saved by the new route will be seven miles. On the other hand, the distance from Jersey City and Communipaw is three miles longer; but it is argued that the difficulties and perils arising from the stronger currents and crowded local and Sound traffic in the East River will more than equalize the distance and favor the new route.

It is also believed that the shipment of all ice from the upper Hudson to points on the East River would be through the Harlem. This movement alone is reliably set down at 500,000 tons per season. In addition to adding ten miles of docks and wharves to our commercial facilities, the improvement will result in economy in transportation for nearly 2,000,000 tons of merchandise, valued at close on $20,000.000, over distances varying from one to twenty-three miles.

The engineers do not know when the work will be completed. They say it lies entirely with Congress. If the necessary appropriations are forthcoming the entire work can be completed in two or three years. The total cost of the improvement is estimated at $2,651,000. Of this $421,000 has already been granted, thus leaving a sum of $2,230,000 still to be appropriated.

Real Estate Exchange Affairs.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

The weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. Reynolds Brown in the chair. The attendance was the largest thus far this season, due to the interest taken in Senate bill No. 182, introduced by Mr. Ives, a resolution favoring which was to be discussed as a special order of the day. Amongst the gentlemen present were: President E. A. Cruikshank, Ira D. Warren, Samuel F. Jayne, Geo. De Forest Barton, John D. Crimmins, Henry J. Carr, Cyrille Carreau, Marx Ottinger, Sinclair Myers, Richard Deeves, Thos. F. Murtha, Geo. S. Lespinasse, H. J. Burchell, W. M. Ryan, L. Da Cunha, F. R. Houghton, W. C. Lesster, A. J. Robinson, J. J. Clancy, J. Wolf Tone, Ira D. Warren, E. Oppenheimer and W. C. Orr.

After the minutes had been read and approved, and other preliminary business disposed of, the chairman called upon Mr. Crimmins, the proposer of the resolution favoring the Ives bill. At this point President Cruikshank rose and stated that the bill had not been submitted to a subcommittee of the Committee on Legislation, as was usual when any bill was before the Legislature, so that a committee could report upon it, but the unusual course had been taken of bringing the matter directly before the full committee. He therefore proposed that the bill be referred to the Committee on City Improvements, to be reported upon by them.

Mr. Ottinger rose to support the president. He thought that the city did not have too much park land at present. He advised that the subject be referred to the committee suggested by Mr. Cruikshank. No resolution, however, was put to that effect.

Mr. Crimmins was about to rise, when Mr. James L. Wells, who is a member of the Real Estate Exchange, but not of the Committee on Legislation, rose and said: "Have the members of the Exchange no right to be heard on this question?"

The Chairman ruled Mr. Wells out of order, and stated he would no doubt be offered an opportunity of having his say at a later stage.

Mr. Crimmins then rose to speak to the resolution introduced by him. He addressed the committee at some length, from a carefully-prepared manuscript. He said that he would make an effort to interpret the act to the best of his ability. The object of the measure was to correct the boundaries of the new parks. It gave the power to the Sinking Fund Commissioners to sell such park lands as they considered were unnecessary, and their judgment could be relied upon to act for the city's interest. There was evidence enough to show that the commissioners who selected the properties included in the new park boundaries did not do so in every case for the city's interest, besides which it was notorious that one member of that commission, at least, should not have been on it, as was shown by the influence exercised over him by Mme. Diss De Barr. Ex-Park Commissioner Wales pointed out as early as 1883 the defects in the boundaries of the new parks as then contemplated. From what appeared in the papers, one might believe that the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel, who both favor the Ives bill, had entered into a conspiracy, with other city officials, to injure the city's interests and benefit some land speculation. He had full confidence in these gentlemen, and thought that the Exchange should support them in their efforts for the city's good. "The land speculators," concluded Mr. Crimmins, "have had their day, and the citizens have now come forward to demand their rights."

Mr. Carr rose to oppose the resolution. He asked Mr. Crimmins if he had read Mr. Wales' recent letter approving of the new parks. Mr. Crimmids replied that he had been reading from official documents.

Mr. Jayne asked that Mr. Wells be heard. The latter had lived in the 23d Ward for many years, and was once an Assemblyman for that district. He might be able to enlighten the committee on the subject.

Mr. Lespinasse moved a resolution admitting non-members of the committee, but who were members of the Exchange, to take part in the discussion, which was carried.

Mr. Wells hereupon rose and delivered a long address, combating Mr. Crimmins' statements. He said: "I would urge the committee not to take any action whatever upon this resolution. Any such action would bind the entire Exchange down to a line of policy which many of its members object to. If decided upon, it should be by the whole Exchange and not by thirty or forty of its members. Three legislatures had considered this measure, and now that it has been passed and the parks dedicated to the people forever—after the whole question had been before the courts, even to the Court of Appeals—why should the Exchange come in and support a bill undoing all this work? It gives the city officials power to sell any of the new park lands which they may not consider desirable, but it does not say to what extent; it gives them unlimited power. Mr. Crimmins' statements were plausible, but they were misleading. I have every confidence in Mr. Crimmins' honesty, but he had referred to the great cost of the surveys of the new parks, which was over $200,000. Was it not a fact that the Park Commissioners had expended over $750,000 for surveys in the 23d and 24th Wards, and that with all this we have not a map that property-owners or real estate brokers can depend upon. The people in these wards are petitioning the Legislature against Mr. Ives' bill without regard to party. Keep your hands off the new parks until our citizens get an opportunity of seeing what they have acquired and are more familiar with them."

Mr. Lespinasse did not agree with Mr. Wells. The bill was considered carefully by the Corporation Counsel, in consultation with the Mayor and other city officials, and it would be showing a want of confidence in these gentlemen if the Exchange did not indorse it.

Mr. Warren advised that the committee should move slowly in the matter. "I do not think," he said, "that we want to take a position that would not be indorsed by the whole Exchange. Years were spent in selecting the location and creating the boundaries of the new parks, and the area should not be restricted unless there is good reason for it. It has been claimed that this bill has been introduced to amend the irregularities in the boundaries of the parks. Well, it is the first time to my knowledge that irregular boundaries have been held to be a serious objection to a park. The bill proposes that from time to time—down to eternity if they consider it necessary—the Park Department can revise and change the boundaries of the new parks, and it also gives them the power to exclude the entire new park area.

Mr. Crimmins rose to take exception to one or two of the statements made by the last speaker. He said that some of the new park lands would not be of any public benefit, and that it was well known that the commissioners had arranged the boundaries in some cases to oblige their friends. He referred to the cost of the surveys and said that they were not worth more than $25,000.

Mr. Wells here interrupted the speaker and asked him how much the Park Department had spent in surveys. Was it not over $60 per acre?

Mr. Crimmins said the cost of surveying the new parks was $54.78 per acre. "The awards to many of the owners of the lands taken for the park are too high," he said. "Mr. Wells will sell me lands this day for 25 to 30 per cent. cheaper than the commission awarded for adjoining property. Only recently such inducements had been held out to me."

Mr. Lespinasse rose to point out that, whereas the people in the 23d and 24th Wards paid only a modicum of the assessment on the new parks, the people in the 12th Ward were having a park laid out for which they were saddling themselves entirely.

Mr. Wells: "I am sorry for the people in the 12th Ward."

Mr. Warren asked if the city had no power to lease its own lands, without seeking power from the Legislature to do so.

Mr. Crimmins: "No; the Corporation Counsel says that it can't be done."

Mr. Crimmins, in reply to another question, said the parks were too far away, and that there was no way of getting to them.

Mr. Wells: "I am surprised to hear the ex-president of the Park Department say so. There are macadamized roads leading to all the new parks."

Mr. Crimmins: "Well, there are roads leading to any part of the country. I mean that the parks are not easily accessible."

Mr. Wells asked how it was that the city authorities had defied the law in reference to opening streets.

Mr. Crimmins: "That is in consequence of the 'one-mile' law. They will continue to defy the law in this matter."

It was evident at this point that a vast majority of those present would have voted against Mr. Crimmins' resolution had it been put.

Mr. Crimmins moved to lay the resolution on the table till the next meeting, which was agreed to. The discussion will therefore be resumed next Tuesday.

TO BOND CONTRACTORS USING DYNAMITE.

Mr. Lespinasse moved a resolution asking the committee to advise the city authorities to prepare a bill to be passed through the Legislature immediately, making it necessary for contractors who use dynamite or other explosives to be placed under bonds of $5,000 or more.

Mr. Deeves concurred, and said that the bond ought to be $25,000. He had only recently had some of his property damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars, and could obtain no redress, as the contractor was irresponsible.

AGAINST MORE PARKS.

Mr. Jayne asked what action was to be taken on Mr. Houghton's suggestion to create a Centennial Park of Fort George bluff. On motion to refer it to the Committee on City Improvements, the vote was adverse.

A REASONABLE REQUEST.

Mr. Carr offered a resolution to the effect that any member who makes the request shall not have his name attached to any reports or resolutions sent to the city's representatives at Albany which he may not agree with. He objected, for instance, to the leasing of the lands for the new parks, and yet his name appeared on the list of those supporting that measure which it was resolved to send to members in the Senate and Assembly. He would be sorry to have this occur in every case.

The Chairman: Not so sorry as the chairman of the committee would be.

On being put the resolution was lost by one vote. The meeting then adjourned.

The Auction Room Committee have decided to auction off the choice of signs in the Exchange on Monday, March 11th, at 3 P. M. The rent of each sign will be $100 per annum, payable in advance, exclusive of the premium for choice. There are twenty-one signs, all of which have been applied for. Nothing further has been heard from the opposing auctioneers in the matter.

THE KNOCK-DOWN FEES.

Since the new scale of knock-down fees went into operation on May 1 last, the knock-downs show an increase in some months and a decrease in others. The following is a list of the fees for the last three years, from

May to January inclusive, and will show at a glance to what extent the Exchange has gained by the new schedule:

July	270	472	341 00
August	145	217	182 00
September	236	333	208 00
October	1,527	1,280	1,732 50
November	1,198	1,581	961 50
December	620	541	896 50
January	445	710	1,447 50
February	766	1,078	1,637 00
	$7,027	$8,768	$10,545 50

It will thus be seen that the increase for the last ten months was $1,777.50 more than a year before, and $3,518.50 more than two years ago. The increase over last year is over one-third of 1 per cent. per annum on the capital stock.

Legislation Affecting New York City.

ALBANY, March 1, 1889.

Assembly bill No. 461, introduced by Mr. Newshafer, provides for the compilation and enactment of a municipal code in the city of New York. The Mayor is required to appoint two commissioners to revise and compile into a single volume all the ordinances lawfully in force at the time of the completion of the said code.

The Senate Railroad Committee will almost unanimously favorably report the Cable Railroad bill, which more nearly affects real property values than any bill pending in the Legislature.

Senator Pierce introduced and the Senate passed a resolution calling upon the Board of Aldermen to forthwith transmit to the Senate a certain "archive" in its possession, which is signed by upwards of 60,000 taxpayers and working people who favor the construction of a cable railroad in the city of New York as the speediest plan of settling the rapid transit problem and affording the people some mode of immediate relief.

Both Houses have agreed to adjourn over all of next week to enable the Republican members to attend the Washington inauguration. It looks now as if the session would extend well towards July.

Mr. Hamilton has a bill amending the Brooklyn Consolidation act by extending the time of arrearage on taxes to two years, and providing for redemption of arrearage at 25 per cent.

Mr. Haggerty sent up a bill amending the law relative to elevated railroads in Brooklyn as respects the award of damages to adjoining property-owners. The bill affects only 5th avenue.

In the Senate Senator Robertson introduced a bill allowing Yonkers to use part of the Croton Aqueduct for a highway; and Senator Pierce introduced one relating to the opening and improvement of the streets of Brooklyn.

The Senate Claims Committee has favorably reported the old chestnut Claim bill of Charles T. Harvey, in which he seeks payment from the city of New York of something like $200,000 for having invented, as he claims, the present elevated railroad system. The bill has been here for nearly twenty years, and has usually gone through one House only to be beaten in the other.

The Senate has passed these bills:

Senator Robertson's, relative to the sewerage system of Mount Vernon.

Senator Ives', permitting the Department of Public Works to expend $1,000,000 a year for three years in repaving the streets, bonds for which work are to be issued by the Comptroller under the direction of the Sinking Fund Commissioners.

Senator Murphy's, to permit the expenditure of $100,000 by the Department of Parks in laying out a parade ground for the National Guard in Van Courtlandt Park.

Mr. Blumenthal's, authorizing the release of the title of New York city in the old Harlem road.

Mr. Connelly's, extending the jurisdictiou of the Department of Parks over West End avenue.

The Senate Cities Committee yesterday favorably reported these bills: Mr. Castor's Public Bath and Wash-house bill, Mr. Ives' bill appropriating $200,000 for the completion of Morningside Park, Mr. Van Cott's Injunctions bill, Mr. Ives' bill for the expenditure of $1,000,000 a year for three years in repaving the streets of New York, Mr. Ives' Street Opening and Improvement bill, Mr. Aspinall's Brooklyn Public Buildings bill, and Mr. Connolly's bill extending the jurisdiction of the Parks Department.

A bill of some interest to property-owners was introduced by Senator Robertson in the Senate this afternoon. It amends the code by providing that in cases of appeal the Court of Appeals may remit the case to the General Term when it appears that it has affirmed the judgment of the court below upon an erroneous ground.

The Arcade Road.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

I read with interest "an imaginary conversation" between Father Knickerbocker and others on the question of rapid transit, published in your last issue.

I notice, however, an important misapprehension as to the time required to build the Arcade road. It is the opinion of competent engineers and of the most experienced contractors that the Arcade Railway could, at little, if any, additional cost, be built in two years; and that it should be built within three years at most. This conclusion is fully justified by the work which has been done on the new aqueduct. The Arcade Company has already contracted for one section of their road—from the Battery under Broadway to 59th street, and that part of the branch road from 23d street under Madison avenue to a connection with the Grand Central Depot at 42d street—the same to be completed, fully equipped and ready for use, by June 1st, 1891.

The other section of the road—to wit: from 42d street under Madison avenue to and under the Harlem River, and from 59th street and Broadway, north, to a suitable connection with the Hudson River Railroad on the west side—can be built simultaneously, and in even less time than the section now under contract, there being fewer obstructions to contend with.

Yours respectfully,

MELVILLE C. SMITH.

A New "L" Road Station.

Residents and property-owners in that section of the west side bounded by 63d and 68th streets have for some time been complaining of the difficulty of obtaining access to and from their homes, owing to the long distance between the 59th and 72d street elevated road stations. This, they urge, is greater than between any other two stations in any part of the city. The distance between the 81st and 93d street stations, and between the 104th and 116th street stations, is twelve blocks, but between the two stations which they have to use it is thirteen blocks. They contend that the elevated road placed extra stations only four and five blocks apart at 18th and 28th streets, and that, too, between stations which were only nine and ten blocks apart—that is, between 14th and 23d streets and 23d and 33d streets. While recognizing that there may have been an absolute necessity for the additional stations down town, it is felt that the necessity is greater still at some points up town, and especially between 59th and 72d streets. For instance, people doing business or residing near 10th or West End avenue, between 64th and 66th streets, are compelled to walk five or six blocks north or south, and two or three long blocks west, in order to get to an elevated road station. In some cases a distance of nearly half a mile must be traversed to get to the elevated road.

Convinced of the necessity of an intermediate station between 59th and 72d streets, a number of well-known property-owners held a meeting at the office of Chas. E. Schuyler, on Monday evening, to take steps to have such a station built at 66th street and 9th avenue, both on the up-town and down-town sides. Among those present were Messrs. Horace S. Ely, James Rufus Smith, W. H. Scott, W. L. Bentley, F. R. Houghton, M. Giblin, F. Crawford, J. C. Shaw, M. Brennan, John Colleran, Chas. Vogler, Geo. J. Hamilton, Chas. E. Schuyler, Fred. Baker and others. A. Britton Havens was elected chairman, and Mark Brennan secretary.

The discussion resulted in a committee being appointed to call on the officers of the Manhattan road to urge them to build the new stations at 66th street. The following gentlemen were selected: Messrs. John C. Shaw, Wm. H. Scott, Michael Giblin, Col. Camp of the Twenty-second Regiment, F. R. Houghton, Francis Crawford, Geo. J. Hamilton and Wm. Russell. They will present to the officers of the road the consents, in writing, of the owners of the four corners at 9th avenue and 66th street, thereby freeing the road from damage claims.

It appears that a station at 66th street was originally laid down on the map by the elevated railroad commissioners. If it is built it will enable passengers by the Boulevard horse-car line to connect easily with the 9th avenue road, under which it passes at 66th street. The increased population, as shown by the polling districts in the last elections, is said to be greater between 59th and 72d streets than between any other two stations. It is contended that the erection of the new station is favored generally, and that no one has appeared to raise any objection to it.

The committee will call upon the Manhattan road officers next week.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

We are certainly a very "happy-go-lucky" people. We have railroad strikes and horse-car tie-ups without number, which have injured the general business of the country and greatly inconvenienced our people. But the remedy against these occurrences has not been even discussed in the press, nor in our many "halls of legislation." If these were mere disputes between corporations and their employés, we could afford to let them go on; but they are matters which affect the public vitally, and the communities as a whole should interfere as a matter of self-protection.

You, Mr. Editor, have suggested one excellent remedy—to wit: "That all railroad employés should be put under the regulations of the government, national and municipal." This would forever put an end to strikes, and would convert bodies of disorderly workmen into maintainers of the peace.

But the measure you propose is so bold and comprehensive, and would affect interests so vitally, that one could hardly expect it to be adopted without long agitation and discussion.

How would it do to clothe the State Board of Arbitration with authority to settle such disputes at once. The corporations should not be permitted to refuse to deal with the representatives of their working people. Take the case of the tie-up in Brooklyn. Deacon Richardson refused to recognize a committee that called upon him in behalf of his striking employés. At the same time he neglected to provide new men to man his cars. He knew that public opinion would turn against the strikers, for the traveling public would naturally blame the drivers and conductors, who would neither run the cars themselves nor allow others to do so. Then the police were blamed by the press, and Commissioner Bell, one of the most efficient officers Brooklyn ever had, was berated by the New York Times and other papers for not starting the cars; but it is no part of the business of the police to run cars. If the owners man them and start them, then it is the duty of the officers to see that they are not interfered with. Mayor Chapin finally forced the Deacon to get men to start his cars, and there was no further trouble, as the strikers made no headway, in view of the splendid handling of the small Brooklyn force.

My plan is: For the State to insist that each side, through their accredited agents, shall submit matters in dispute to the State Board of Arbitration. If the corporations are in the wrong, they must submit to the demands of the men; if the strikers make unjust demands, then let the police and militia see to it that the corporations are protected in running their cars with new men.

For the present there is no danger of further strikes; but a year or two of prosperity, with labor in demand, may incite the drivers and conductors to try and better their condition, which is certainly bad enough at all times. We should be prepared for such an emergency. MANHATTAN.

Notes and Items.

At the last meeting of the property-holders, whose real estate contains covenants requiring the owners to keep the streets in front of their premises in repair, it was resolved that the expenses necessary to secure the desired legislation should be met by a subscription, no owner having to pay more than five dollars for each lot with 25 feet front, or $100 for all his lots. In accordance with this resolution, the committee appointed to secure the legislation, the chairman of which is J. Bleecker Miller, have distributed circulars asking the owners to send to the office of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, 55 Liberty street, their names and addresses, together with the number of lots for which they will be willing to subscribe. The hearing on the bill takes place at Albany during the coming week.

At the next regular meeting and dinner of the Architectural League, which will take place at the Westminster Hotel next Monday evening, a paper will be read by Calvert Vaux on "Street Planning in Relation to Architectural Design." After this, A. D. F. Hamlin will exhibit some stereopticon views and photographs, showing the artistic side of irregularly formed plots for buildings. The members of the League have been invited by Henry G. Marquand to inspect his house at No. 11 East 68th street on Saturday afternoon, March 2d, from 4 until 6 o'clock.

On Thursday, February 28th, the bids for the construction of two sewers were opened by the Park Commissioners and the contracts awarded. One on the north side of the Southern Boulevard was given to James W. O'Grady as the lowest bidder, and the other, on 3d avenue, between 170th street and the 24th Ward line, to Michael J. Lahey.

The Park Commissioners have pretty well decided to make the proposed changes in the Kingsbridge district, east of Broadway. The principal alteration under consideration is the narrowing of Montgomery avenue from 80 to 60 feet. A Mr. Mead is the only property-holder who objects to the change.

The Dock Commissioners propose to improve the water front as fast as the law will permit. The principal obstacle in their way is the fact that about half the water front is now owned by private individuals. The city has the right to appropriate these properties, but the processes of the law, by which they are obtained, are very lengthy and expensive. Nevertheless they will go ahead as fast as they can. The piers to be erected are 600 feet long and the exterior streets are to be 250 feet wide. They are now contemplating the acquirement of the water front from West 11th to 23d street.

The Running Trap.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Your correspondent, "Real Estate," suggests means by which it is possible to keep the fresh-air "inlet" to the running trap open. I quite agree with him that the precautions he suggests would, if carefully observed, in a measure prevent the stoppage at the curb to which I referred. But such a stoppage was only mentioned as a mere incident. The principal objections to the running or disconnecting trap may be reiterated in a few words. They are the filthiness of the trap, its needless cost and complication, its uselessness for any rational purpose, and its disease-spreading capabilities If any one can controvert any of these objections, as set forth in my article on the "Dangers of the Disconnecting Trap," I am quite sure your readers would be interested in receiving the information.

MEDICUS.

Back Numbers Wanted.

Fifteen cents apiece will be paid at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 191 Broadway, for copies of Nos. 877, 879, 887, 913 and 1035 of this paper.

Baker, Voorhis & Co., the law publishers of No. 66 Nassau street, have just issued the third edition of "Gerard's Titles to Real Estate in the State of New York." This work has been the standard treatise, giving the law and decisions relating to real estate and the examination of titles thereto in this State for the past fifteen years, and in this new edition, wherein the work has been enlarged and revised to date, its value to the legal profession, as well as the owner and dealer in real estate, has been still further increased. To such the volume is almost a business necessity.

A prominent west side doctor recently said that he had far more trouble with his female patients than any others. They would sit and talk for hour after hour, until he was obliged to compel them to go. They would detail to him all their hopes, all their successes, all their woes. He was the possessor of more family secrets than any detective in the city. The relation between a patient and physician seems to be so close that the former will confide more to the latter than she will to her minister. A physician is the confessor of the Protestants. What is true of the medical profession is also true, to a degree, of other professions. Lawyers and ministers, particularly priests, also have an insight into family secrets; but the doctor's knowledge is greater in amount than anyone else's.

Real Estate Department.

The business of the week has not been as large as expected by the brokers. Sales at the Exchange, it is true, have been numerous, but all the property put up at auction is not sold. This, in many cases, is because owners get inflated ideas of values after a highly successful sale like that of the Jones estate. They force their holdings on the market and then bid them up beyond reasonable figures. A report of the business transacted from day to day is given below.

In the way of private sales we give a fairly good report, notwithstanding that the brokers are complaining of the market being inactive. From all quarters we hear of considerable preparatory work being done, but there seems to be great difficulty in bringing matters to a close. We give the figures in another column showing the filings of conveyances, mortgages and projected buildings during the past two months, compared with the same months last year. In every instance the figures for 1889 are larger, especially in the case of the projected buildings.

Business for the week at the Exchange opened in a lively manner on Monday, when several sales were held. The attendance was good, and some of the properties offered were eagerly bid for. Eight lots on 145th street, west of St. Nicholas avenue, were sold at from $5,250 to $6,100 each. Michael H. Cashman bought four and Henry Turner four. These lots are considered cheap, as the street is made and paved. A recent sale in the same neighborhood was the southwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 146th street, 99.11x275, nine lots, for $85,000, or over $7,725 each. A lot on the northeast corner of 144th street and New avenue (first west of 8th avenue), size 32.10x100.6, went for $5,250 to Peter Mitchell, and two lots in the same street further east were also secured by Mr. Mitchell, the figure being $3,500 each. Three lots on the Boulevard, north of 139th street, were withdrawn on a bid of $4,375 each. Among other sales were the premises No. 114 Hester street, which, under foreclosure, brought $11,860. It may be interesting to state that this same property was sold in 1864 for $2,000.

On Tuesday no less than twelve auctioneers had sales, and as nearly all of the dozen occupy stands on the sides of the Exchange near the entrance the crowding can better be imagined than described. The most important offering embraced the premises Nos. 64 and 66 Wall street, size 50.8x100, belonging to the Howard and Knickerbocker Insurance Companies. Starting at $300,000, advances of $5,000 followed in rapid order until $345,000 was reached, when bids of $1,000 were offered. The highest bid—viz.: $350,000—was made by Secretary Hull, of the Howard Insurance Company, and the property bid in. The figure at which the premises are held by the owners could not be ascertained. Six parcels in the 7th Ward, belonging to the estate of Joseph N. Lord, realized a total of $62,700. No. 33 East Broadway, 24.10x75.2, renting at $1,400, brought the large sum of $24,300. Amongst the foreclosure sales was the fire-proof flat No. 1741 9th avenue, northwest corner of 100th street, size 25.11x96x100. The price realized was $51,100, against $50,275 due on the first mortgage thereon. Daniel Buckley was the purchaser. Ten lots on 100th street, east of 3d avenue, went for a total of $37,920, against about $35,330 due thereon. The same lots changed hands twice in April last, first at $23,358, and later at 38,000.

Comparatively few sales were bulletined for Wednesday, and as the weather was exceedingly stormy part of these were postponed until later dates. There was a small attendance at the Salesroom and little interes was manifested in the few sales held. No. 25 East 20th street, a three-story brick building on lot 20x74—only 133 feet from Broadway—was sold at $28,000 to James Muir.

Although the sales on Thursday were numerous and the attendance large there was but little excitement on 'Change. The parcels offered were not of a costly character, and $37,100 was the highest figure realized for any of the properties offered. The two-story brick and stone building No 37 Fulton street, northeast corner of Pearl street, belonging to the Fulton National Bank, was sold for $34,000 to Ferdinand Fish. The first bid offered was $25,000.

The sales held on 'Change yesterday were few in number and unimportant in character. Nothing occurred worthy of special mention.

On Tuesday, March 5th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the dwelling at No. 249 East 33d street. On Wednesday, March 6th, Mr. Harnett will sell the double flat at No. 247 East 124th street, adjoining the northwest corner of 2d avenue; the dwelling at No. 134 Sullivan street, near Houston; the dwelling at No. 501 Greenwich street, the store and tenement property at No. 165 Hudson street, and Nos. 48 and 48½ Laight street, being the northwest corner, and the tenement with stores at No. 439 East 76th street; also on the same day, to close a copartnership, the five-story factory, with boiler, engine, etc., at Nos. 380 and 382 Water street, on the northeast corner of Oliver street, and the four-story brick factory, with Corliss engine, etc., at Nos. 558 to 562 Water street and Nos. 313 to 317 Cherry street, running through. Out Among the Builders.

Renwick, Aspinwall & Russell are preparing the plans for the new Catholic Church of All Saints, which is to be erected on the corner of Madison avenue and 129th street, at a cost of over $100,000. It will measure 153.6x80 feet, and will be built of brick, with very handsome designs in terra cotta. The interior will accommodate 2,500 worshippers, and most of the woodwork will be of white oak.

Wm. Schickel & Co. are busily engaged upon the plans for the new church of St. Ignatius, which the Jesuits will build on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 84th street, and which will cost about $300,000. The church will be constructed of granite, and will be 200 feet long by 80 wide. It will have two towers in the front over 200 feet high, and will be in the Gothic style.

The competition for the large office building soon to be erected by the Union Trust Company, at Nos. 78, 80 and 82 Broadway, has been decided in favor of George B. Post. Nothing definite can be said in regard to the plans, as they are yet under advisement and may be changed in many respects. The lot includes Nos. 3, 5 and 7 New street, and measures about 72.2 feet on Broadway and 76.7 on New street, with a depth of from 112.6 to 106.2 feet. The building will have a handsome stone front on Broadway and one of brick and terra cotta on New street. It will be ten stories high and thoroughly fire-proof. President King, of the Union Trust Company, when asked if he intended that the new building should rival and outshine every other building in New York, said: "In interior furnishing and accommodation for the tenants we intend that the building shall exceed any other in New York, but we shall not go into any extravagance upon the exterior." The offices of the Union Trust Company will be on the second floor, and the rest of the building, including the ground floor on Broadway and New street will be rented as offices.

Seventeen three-story and basement, high stoop, brown stone front private houses are about to be built by John W. Haaren, on the southeast corner of 142d street and the Grand Boulevard. They will be of an average size of 20x52 each, and will be of varied designs. The cabinet trim, heating, plumbing and electrical work will embrace all the recent improvements. They will be of an ornate character, and their cost is estimated by the architect, John C. Burne, at about $290,000.

R. H. Macy & Co. intend to alter and otherwise improve the property of the New York Juvenile Asylum, and connect the structure with their present building. Under the terms of the purchase they will obtain possession by November 1st, and then make the alterations for the holiday season. They intend later on to tear down the whole building and erect a new and costly extension on the site.

Geo. Keister has plans on the boards for six five-story brown stone front flats, 25x87.8 each, to be built on the south side of 98th street, 175 feet east of 9th avenue, by J. M. King, at a cost of about $100,000. They will have two families per floor.

J. C. Umberfield will finish the nine four-story houses on the south side of 76th street, 100 feet east of 9th avenue, now up to the second tier of beams. The architect has not yet been selected, and the cost of finishing is estimated at $180,000.

The Grand Circle at 59th street, northwest corner of the Boulevard, is to be built upon by the owner, T. W. Bryant, who will erect thereon a three-story brick and bluestone front building with a tower. It will be 50x30 in size, and will have a store on the first floor, a hall on the second and rooms above. It will probably be leased for hotel purposes. The cost is estimated at $13,000. Another building of a similar character is to be reared by James Doran on the north side of 126th street, 90 feet west of 3d avenue. It will be 20x90 in size, and will contain a store, hall and apartments. The front will be of brick, stone, terra cotta and iron, and it will be a three-story and basement building, the basement being used as a bowling alley. The cost will be $14,000. Andrew Spence is the architect for both buildings.

John Totten intends to improve the front part of a plot, 75x144 in size, on the south side of 16th street, 300 feet west of 8th avenue, by building three five-story brick and stone front tenements, 25x82 each, at a cost of about $60,000. They will probably have an alleyway leading to the rear of the plot on which he contemplates building a factory. Mr. Totten will also build a five-story brick and stone front tenement, 25x82, on the north side of 39th street, 175 feet east of 11th avenue, to cost $15,000, for which the rock excavation is now under way, and for a five-story brick and stone front apartment house, 25x70, to be built at No. 229 West 20th street, to cost $15,000. Geo. B. Pelham will be the architect for all these improvements.

Henry Dudley is preparing plans for a five-story brick apartment house, 25x86, with black marble trimmings on the front, which Mary Shannon will build at No. 138 West 66th street. The house will contain two families on each floor and will cost $15,000.

Douglas Smyth has plans for a brick addition, 40x25, which is to be made to the Fifth Judicial Court building at No. 154 Clinton street. The first and second floors of the old building are also to be made over and re-arranged. The cost has not yet been estimated.

Christian Brandt has decided, instead of building five single flats, to erect three double flats, each 33.4x80 in size, on the north side of 124th street, about 400 feet east of 6th avenue, near Mount Morris Park. They will be of a first-class character in every respect, and will have steam heat, cabinet trim, electrical work and other improvements. There will be two suites of rooms on each floor. The cost of the improvement is estimated at $100,000. Andrew Spence will draw the plans.

Charles Kaiser will build a two-story, French roof and cellar, frame house, 40x22, on the southwest corner of 177th street and Fleetwood avenue, from plans by A. Spence. Cost, $7,000.

Dow S. Kittle will build a five-story flat on West 104th street, to cost $20,000. It will have two suites per floor, and the first story and basement will be of rock-faced stone and the front above of brick; with stone trimmings. Architect, Geo. B. Pelham.

Wm. J. Gessner has commenced the excavations for four five-story tenements, having a frontage of 25 feet each, which he will build on the north side of 98th street, 160 feet east of 3d avenue.

Hiram M. Moore intends to build four five-story flats on a plot of four lots on the north side of 115th street, commencing 225 feet west of 7th avenue. Mr. Moore has nearly completed seven houses on the opposite side of that street.

Lambert S. Quackenbush intends to build a five-story brick and stone front tenement, 25x92 in size, on the south side of 85th street, east of 2d avenue, from plans by Ed. Wenz. It will have three families per floor, and will cost about $20,000.

Andrew Spence has the plans on the boards for a five-story brick and stone front tenement, 23.8x80, to be built by Patrick Cuff, on the south side of 127th street, about 250 feet west of 3d avenue, at a cost of $14,000.

James McNiece intends to build two five-story flats on a frontage of 50 feet on the west side of 9th avenue, commencing 50 feet south of 88th street. Thom & Wilson will be the architects.

Don A. Gaylor will build a brick and stone factory on the southwest corner of 4th avenue and 135th street. It will cover two lots on the avenue and two lots on the street. The architect has not yet been appointed.

John C. Burne is preparing plans for a first-class flat with a brown stone front, French walnut and cherry cabinet trim throughout, to be steam-heated and with all the modern improvements. This flat is to be built by Mr. William Broadbell, at a cost of $30,000, and is to be situated on the east side of Lexington avenue, 25 feet north of 27th street.

We understand that John Casey intends to build on Nos. 1313 and 1315 3d avenue.

Herter Bros. have plans for the erection of the following buildings in New York City: a brown stone flat and store, with terra cotta trimmings, on the corner of Orchard and Hester streets; a five-story brown stone flat and store, 42x75, on the northwest corner of Norfolk and Broome streets, for Max Solomon. The cost is estimated at $45,000.

We understand that Franklin A. Thurston has plans for the erection of two five-story apartment houses, 37.6 each in width, on the south side of 133d street, between 7th and 8th avenues.

F. H. Kimball has plans for a theatre which Austin Corbin and others will build for Mr. Harrigan, the comedian.

Brooklyn.

Stanley S. Covert, of New York, will draw the plans for a small frame church, 35x64, to be erected on the south side of Halsey street, 100 feet west of Howard avenue. It will have a seating capacity of 370 and will cost $3,000.

John E. Dwyer is the architect for a two-story and attic frame Queen Anne cottage, 21x46, to be built on Highland Boulevard, Ridgewood Heights, for Mr. Hobby, to cost $4,500, and three two-and-one-half-story and basement brown stone dwellings, 20x45 each, on Palmetto street, near Broadway, for Barton & Reilly, to cost $6,500 each.

Amzi Hill has plans in hand for a four-story brick flat, 30x90, to be erected on the corner of Herkimer street and Hopkinson avenue, with a two-story and basement brick dwelling, 20x45, adjoining, for H. C. Baker.

I. D. Reynolds is preparing plans for eight three-story brick apartment houses, 19x45, which L. Palmer will build on the east side of Marion street, 173 feet south of Saratoga avenue. These houses will have all improvements, and provision will be made for one family on each floor. Each will cost about $5,200.

The trustees of the Brooklyn Bridge have received three designs for a new entrance, which it is proposed to erect at the Brooklyn end of the bridge, whenever it shall have reached the City Hall square.

William Irvine intends to build five four-story brown stone front single flats with stores on a corner of Tompkins avenue and Hancock street. They will be steam-heated and have other improvements, and will cost about $75,000. John C. Burne, of New York, is preparing the plans.

Out of Town.

ANDRE HILL, N. Y.—Horace G. Knapp, of New York, will prepare plans for three picturesque frame cottages, with shingle finish, which Peter K. Knapp will build at a cost of $2,500 each. These cottages will not be far from the monument erected in memory of Major Andre by Cyrus W. Field.

BENSONHURST, L. I.—Mrs. Aymerich will erect a two-story and attic frame cottage, 30x42, from plans by Horace G. Knapp of New York. It will be faced in shingle and in the Queen Anne style. Cost, $4,000.

CORTLAND, N Y.—S. B. Reed, of New York, is preparing plans for a handsome two-story and attic dwelling, 50x80, which C. F. Wickwire is soon to erect at a cost of $60,000. The house will be constructed of Oolitic limestone, and will have a circular stone tower 70 feet high and a slate roof. It will be trimmed throughout in hardwoods, with oak ceilings in halls and dining rooms. The house will be heated by steam, and several of the rooms will have handsomely tiled fire-places. The principal windows will have stained glass in the transoms.

FLATBUSH, L. I.—John E. Dwyer has plans under way for a two-story frame store and flat, 22x65, which Peter J. Heffron will build on Grant street, near Flatbush avenue, at a cost of $4,500.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works, until 12 o'clock, March 7th, for furnishing materials and performing the work for the plumbing and drainage of No. 49 Beekman street.

Bids will be received at the Hall of the Board of Education, until four o'clock on Tuesday, March 12th, for erecting a school building on the northwest corner of 134th street and 6th avenue. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the Superintendant of School Buildings.

Special Notices.

One of the most pushing offices on the west side is that of J. H. Hunt, at No. 1569 9th avenue. Mr. Hunt has had twenty years' experience in real estate. Among the recent sales negotiated by him is the plot of five lots on the northeast corner of 10th avenue and 75th street, which he sold for Charles Robe to Spencer Aldrich for $75,000, and resold for the latter to Joseph E. Vandewater at a considerable advance. Mr. Hunt takes charge of estates, and negotiates loans for builders and on bond and mortgage. He has also an extensive list of properties for sale, both improved and unimproved, not only on the west side, but in all parts of the city. His office is near 91st street, within a minute's walk of the elevated road station at 93d street and 9th avenue.

Leon Tanenbaum, the active and successful broker, has removed from No. 92 Spring street to handsome and commodious offices in the remodeled Prescott building No. 529 Broadway, of which he has entire charge. Mr. Tanenbaum's specialty is the sale, rental and management of business property, and the frequency of sales made by him, which appear in our "Gossip" column, shows effective work. Mr. Benjamin M. Strauss, who for the past five or six years has been Mr. Tanenbaum's active lieutenant, now has an interest in the business.

Attention is called to the advertising card of Andrew J. Corcoran, of No. 76 John street, New York. Mr. Corcoran makes a specialty of constructing water tanks and reservoirs to be placed upon roofs, and has done a large business in this city and in various parts of the country. His work is simple and durable in construction and his frost-proof tanks have given great satisfaction.

A very superior quality of white lead is that manufactured by the Carter White Lead Co. of Omaha, Neb., whose New York offices are at No. 5 Dutch street. This lead is very white and fine and thoroughly corroded, and is highly commended by painters and builders wherever it has been used.

M. H. Raubitschek & Co., the well-known brokers in up-town real estate, are making a specialty of exchanging lots for improved properties and are constantly making transactions and furnishing builders with loans. They are two young, enterprising and ambitious men, and are doing a large business. Any property or business intrusted to their care will receive their personal and prompt attention.

In another column will be found the announcement that four very desirable private dwellings, at Nos. 105, 107, 109 and 113 West 86th street, are for sale on easy terms. These houses were built under the personal supervision of Architect John G. Prague, and are models of sanitary construction. Ogden, Beekman & Ogden, of No. 111 Broadway, have the property in charge and can furnish full particulars in regard to terms, etc.

The twenty-ninth annual statement of the Washington Life Insurance Company is given in full in our advertising columns. It is a valuable exhibit for those interested in life insurance.

Few real estate brokers are so well equipped and have such excellent facilities for the sale and exchange of real estate as the well-known firm of Corwith Bros. They have been established in their present place of business for fifteen years, and for four years past have had a branch office on Manhattan avenue. This firm makes a specialty of the management of large properties and estates.

V. K. Stevenson & Co. is one of the oldest and best known of the real estate firms of this city. They have been in business for twenty-three years past and have held a prominent position in real estate circles. Their specialty is the purchase of realty for their clients at auction sales, thereby saving them great annoyance, as well as securing them property at the very lowest terms. Their card will be found in another column.

The New York Spar Verein filed articles of incorporation, with a capital of $15,000 in 150 shares of $100 each. The trustees and incorporators include Theodore Koch, Chas. Buhler, Joseph Martin, A. Brommer, Geo. H. Bruens, Robert Ernst, Andrew Baldauf, Fredk. Glaser, Theodore Koch, Joseph Martin, Frederick Opperman, Jr., Geo. Reubel, Louis Rannow ond others. The object of the company is to purchase real estate and build in the city and county of New York.

The North German Gazette says that owing to the increased traffic on the railways the Prussian government has ordered the construction of 7,000 new goods wagons and has hired 1,500 wagons from abroad. It will also ask the Landtag to vote about $15,000,000 for the purpose of increasing the rolling stock of the railways. Another account is that this is due to the inadequate rolling-stock on German railroads for some years past and the indifference of the government to the needs of the public.

The whole amount expended in support of common schools by the State of New York in 1886-7 was $13,760,670, an increase of $2,784,433 in ten years, or 25.3 per cent. The total expenditure for Pennsylvania was $10,129,733, an increase for the same period of $1,546,354, or 18 per cent. The total for Illinois was $10,134,150, an increase of $2,745,554, or 37.2 per cent. Ohio expended $9,353,639 in 1886-7, an increase of $1,942,571, or 26.2 per cent. Massachusetts comes next with an expenditure of $7,000,000, and an increase of 25.4 per cent. in ten years. No other State comes within several million dollars of the amounts above given, but quite a number of them, especially those of the growing West, show much higher per centages of increase in the past ten years.

How to Draw a Contract.

An invaluable work for all dealers in realty is found in "The Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Counsellor Geo. W. Van Siclen. This pamphlet, of only fifty-six pages, offers a complete solution of all the complicated questions that arise in drawing contracts. It discusses questions of titles, liens, curtesy and dower rights, deeds, searches, etc., and contains forms of contracts and judicial decisions which, with other general information, will go far towards making every man his own lawyer. It tells all about fixtures, assumption of mortgages, apportionment of rents, description of property, terms of payment, damages for failure to carry out contracts, information on setting aside contracts for mistake or fraud, and forms of deeds. Published by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 191 Broadway. Price 50 cents.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—It is very largely a winter market for Common Hards, and not much of a positive or specially interesting character can be suggested. Communication with river points and with New Jersey is still cut off, narrowing the source of supply down to Staten Island, the product of which command about $7.75@8.00, and Long Island at $8.00 for straight, good quality, with a few reported at $8.25 per M and some makes held a fraction higher; indeed, receivers have advantage enough to assume a pretty firm position, and it would not require much additional force of demand to run the line of value to a still higher plane. Buyers, however, while affording an outlet for about all the stock as it comes to hand, are not without a certain degree of caution in their movements, and seem a little wary about exhibiting an anxiety that might be taken advantage of, those having an accumulation preferring to draw thereon, as between the cost of laying in and the ruling line of valuation they have a very fair margin. That, however, will not apply in all cases to the same extent, and many dealers are undoubtedly working on pretty close commons in the matter of stock. Indeed, most testimony concurs in the statement that with the digging out already under way and the promises of spring work that have been made, verified, there is indication of excellent consumption against the comparatively small amounts that can become available, and some of the trade are sanguine enough to believe that all old brick will be completely exhausted before the new make can be reached, even if manufacturers experience no delays in the matter of bad weather, etc. Brooklyn, it is said, will be a very large consumer of brick during the coming season. Sales are not steadily active, but buyers are sharp in their calls when they do appear, and as supplies continue limited the market is strong with $4.00, the general asking rate.

LATH.—It has remained a firm market and justified previous hopeful calculations. Since our last quite a little amount of stock put in an appearance, some of which was already under contract, and the balance secured ready attention at full bids ranging up to $2.40@2.45 per M., the inside rate getting State stock sent in by rail, as well as some coastwise cargoes, while at the present writing receivers are talking about getting $2.50 per M on next sale of St. John goods. As might be expected, the advancing line of values has stimulated manufacturers to get forward as much stock as possible, and there is now a little more afloat, but the amount is by no means liberal.

and so under control that probably only full bids will reach it.

LIME.—The market is holding its own well, and at full former rates almost everything arriving continues to find a waiting line of custom. Receivers, too, think they could place a still fuller amount of stock, and seem to have no fear that for the present they will be over-burdened with supplies. Small shipments have been made from St. John, and 95c. is sellers' inside view of value.

LUMBER.—It was a somewhat unusual experience this week to come in contact with a selling operator complaining that reports and references to the condition of the local market were drawn in altogether too roseate colors and that as a matter of fact the situation was really dull. He seemed to be doing a good sort of business, too, stuff moving out of yard and other evidences of trade and the bearish suggestions can only be accounted for on the supposition that there was a growing desire to invest in fresh supplies, and this a preliminary measure. Indeed, the evidence generally go to show that a great many dealers have run their accumulations down much more rapidly and freely than anticipated up to date and that some of the shrewd resident agents have succeeded in quietly perfecting a number of very good contracts for various future deliveries and at a satisfactory rate. The comparative success of the winter trade and the hopeful feeling entertained regarding that to come are together keeping a cheerful strain in the market, and while he believes in no "boom" there seems every reason to expect excellent results for the incoming season. Considerable strong and more or less buoyant talk comes from sources of supply, but after all it is only of a seasonable character, and there is nothing to create an impression that the producing end of the market will neutralize the promising symptoms by too exacting pretensions.

Eastern Spruce in all general features remains about as before. "It is sure to have a good season," says one of our large receivers, an expression that seems to reflect pretty much the average idea and based more upon the expectation of spreading demand than upon great falling off in the supply. The latter is talked about and predicted with more or less force, but operators very rarely put any great amount of faith in the stories from sources of supply, preferring to take the chances as stock becomes ready or satisfactory contracts can be made with mills for specials. There is also quite a run of custom, that while preferring spruce when obtainable within reasonable range will not pay extreme rates but turn attention to substitutes, of which there is likely to be a reasonable supply during the open season.

Piling is another class of stock over which considerable favorable comment may be heard on the basis of good demand and light supplies, and while buyers suggest that, even with sailing vessels, a surplus accumulation has before been made on a pretty good market, receivers say it will not occur again.

Hemlock has found sale on a few orders for prompt execution at comparatively full rates, but on ordinary delivery there is no radical change, though the tendency seems to be toward a stiffening. There is believed to be a particularly excellent chance for boards yet, hardly to the detriment of joist, etc., and as stock promises to show up well seasoned when open markets come owners' holders have much confidence in their property.

White Pine has been offered a little more freely by some of the agents, but hardly in a pressing way, and sellers generally seem to entertain too much confidence in the market to resort to any extreme measures. And they include all grades, too, in their predictions of coming improvement, placing box-boards and desirable shipping grades among the sure things, with uppers also believed to be stated to participate. Indeed, in one way or another, there is a continued pretty good demand on the distributive outlet, and it is but natural that in turn dealers should become customers looking for something to fill out depleted assortments. They will probably get what they want in due season, though it may be necessary to pay some reasonably full figures before the full stream of new supplies commences to flow.

Yellow Pine retains a generally steady tone. There is now and then a bit of grumbling heard, but it seems to be traceable to operators outside the associations, and does not amount to anything serious. The outsider, however, is of necessity the source of considerable of the information to be obtained on this market, as the secret society methods of the members of the two associations—local and Southern—prevent anything more than a sort of surmise as to what may be going on. From the amount of stuff received this season, however, and the negotiations believed to be under way, the natural tendency is to assume that the elements of the market are healthful.

Carolina Pine is getting more or less attention all the while. Some comment is made on the apparent indifference of a few of the larger buyers, but that is due to the accumulations they secured early in the season, and as those are now commencing to run down pretty closely, are likely to become customers again. In the meanwhile there is a very good demand from general run of trade and buyers must bid full rates to receive attention. It is understood that additional productive capacity will be represented on this market during the season.

Hardwoods would not be considered very active compared with the general booming condition of a couple of years ago, but there is a better movement than at this time last season, and good reason to expect a further improvement on whatever stimulus local consumption can give it. There is some complaint that the distribution into consumption does not reflect back promptly upon offerings from first hands through soliciting agents, etc., and probably with considerable reason, as a great many dealers, manufacturers, etc., are still inclined to make contracts with primary points, especially at a season when they can take a little run around the country and do the "picking up" themselves. Export promises continue very good for stock of high and attractive quality.

	1889. Feet.	1888. Feet.
To West Indies	1,952,000	2,273,000
To South America	4,891,000	1,842,000
To East Indies	950,000	694,000
To Europe	....	10,000
Total feet	7,793,000	4,819,000
Previously reported	6,671,000	3,508,000
Total since Jan. 1	14,464,000	8,327,000

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The prospects for the season to come continues to be favorable, based on the indications hitherto noted. The halt in distribution on account of cold weather is thought to indicate no unfavorable condition. Salesmen who have traveled extensively through the West speak of low stocks and a brisk requirement that is sure to follow the coming of spring weather. Stocks are nowhere excessive, while an unusually large winter trade has broken up assortments to a degree not common in February. There is much inquiry for sorts at Mississippi River markets and in this city. Reports from Tonawanda also mention an uncommonly large winter trade, and recently the demand at the East and in Pennsylvania has shown signs of renewed life. Dealers on the seaboard notice an unwonted firmness of holders of stocks in Michigan, indicating an expectation that prices will be higher. There is everywhere much confidence expressed at the probabilities of the coming season's demand.

And upon Chicago yard trade, says:

When a comparison is made between sales and shipments in January, 1888, and a like month of 1889, the difference in favor of January this year is strikingly obvious. In January, 1888, the total was 63,248,807 feet; in the corresponding month this year it was 101,281,933, or nearly 40,000,000 feet this year more than last. January was so mild that it permitted the pushing forward of building operations, and the consequent large consumption of lumber. Measurably a like condition pertained to the demand in consuming centres outside. Owing to this feature of the season the January requiremeat was unusually large. Since February came in the weather has been less favorable to out-door work, which has probably caused such shrinkage of demand as has been observed. The country demand, though larger than ordinary this winter, owing to mild weather, has not come up to the magnitude that dealers would like to see. Usually spring trade does not fairly begin until near March 1, and there is yet time for a satisfactory demand. Last year the "Q" strike came on just as spring trade was getting started, and almost paralyzed movement. As yet no such untoward event is in prospect to blight this spring's business.

There is a variety of talk about prices. The majority of dealers are accusing several of the larger concerns of cutting prices on piece stuff, but when these charges are traced it is generally found that long dimension has suffered the most. Short piece stuff is generally held for $12, and 2x4 and 2x12 is frequently sold for $12.50. If there has been any breaking of prices it has come more from fear that there will be than from actual selling at lower than the $12 basis for piece stuff.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says:

Another feature of the season which will go toward making it more or less memorable, is the mutation of condition in the pineries. At the time the alarmists began talking about low prices growing out of heavy stocks, the mild weather and the absence of snow afforded the hopeful ones an excellent argument in support of their own tranquility. They could meet their "heavy stock" friends with the prediction that the log crop would be short. There was here every sign of a natural compensation. If there were too much lumber, it would be a benefit to the market if the log crop should be short, as it would have a tendency to stiffen prices. More than one anxious dealer who desired to sell, used the short log crop argument as a means of persuasion, along in the early part of January. But now there seems to be no room to doubt that the log crop will be as large as it was intended to be at the beginning of operations. Indeed, some say that it will be even larger than was first intended. However that may be, this much is certain, that the logging conditions were never better in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and Canada than they are to-day. It was never possible to get logs to the bank for less money than they are being placed there for to-day. Thus there would seem to be good ground for the very hopeful feeling which prevails in all sections. The dealers are in good spirits because prices are firm and likely to remain so. The manufacturers are not despondent because they will have plenty of logs at less expense than they could have had with a more rigorous winter.

ENGLAND.

American Black Walnut Logs.—The unreserved lots in the public sale of this week appeared to realize quite as much as they were worth, many being very small and poor. Boards and planks are evidently in good demand, if we may judge by the result obtained at the late sale when most of the unreserved lots brought full prices.

Squares.—Shippers of late are evidently better acquainted with the requirements of the trade here than they were formerly, recent arrivals having been of a much more salable character. We notice a particularly prime parcel has lately been landed at the West Wood wharf, and is now piled away in No. 2 Export shed. These are mostly of large sizes and long lengths, and being straight-grown, heart-wood without centre leave nothing to be desired. Such goods should find a ready sale.

American Whitewood.—This market has a decidedly cheerful tone, and late prices are maintained with firmness. This is mostly apparent in the case of better class boards and plank stuff. Of the latter the stock has run very short.

METALS.—Copper—Ingot continues without new features. The agents of the syndidate deal with consumers as the wants of the latter arise, but outside of that very little business appears to be doing, and there is no open general market. Deliveries of mineral have been liberal, and while they were promptly taken care of the impression prevails that accumulations of stock are steadily increasing. Nominally the quotations is placed at 16½@17c. for Lake. Manufactured Copper has fair general demand, and a steady market on a basis of former valuation. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 26c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 23c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 28c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 38c.; do, under 8 oz, 28@38c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz, 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 29c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 33c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 36c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for under 16 oz; and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22@25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 27@30c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 32c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 37c. Sheets 60x93 and over, 25@26c.; for 33 to 64 oz. and over, 30@31c.; for 16 to 32 oz. —@—. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 28c.; 14 oz, 30c.; 12 oz, 32c.; and 10 oz, 35c. Bolt copper, ⅝ inch diameter and over, 25c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@31c. per lb. Iron—Scotch Pig appears to sell about as fast as it comes to hand, and while small fractional variations in value now and then show themselves, the general conditions of the market are quite steady, and importers have no grounds for serious complaint. We quote at $19.00@$21.00 per ton, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig is rather slow of sale, with the movement confined in the main to moderate sized invoices. This has no disturbing effect, however, as a great portion of the present output is under contract, and goes directly into the hands of the larger consumers, who will probably afford a similar exhaust for some time to come. We quote at $17.50@18.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.50@17.00 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.00@15.50 for Gray Forge. Old material generally remains dull, and without much promise of early improvement. It is said that consumers are getting rails direct at less cost than they can be obtained here, and of other stock only small and unimportant invoices are wanted. We quote at about $23.00@23.50 for old rails; $20.00 @20.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $15.00@16.00 for cast scrap, and $18.00@18.50 for car wheels. Steel rails have found some demand, mostly for small lots, and the result indicates a pretty firm feeling with $27.00 per ton, probably the inside rate for standard section at the mills. Most manufacturers are now fairly busy on contracts, and in this connection we append a recently published list showing the sales of 10,000 ton lots and over to February 23d for 1889 delivery: Pennsylvania Railroad Co., 51,148 tons; Union Pacific, 17,000; Erie, 20,000; Pacific Improvement Co., 10,000; Alabama Terminal, 14,123; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, 1,125; Lackawanna, 10,000; Fort Worth & Rio Grande, 10,000; M. Kennedy, 13,558; S. Kneeland, 12,335; Lake Shore, 12,000; Lehigh Valley, 10,502; Lynchburg & Dunham, 10,000; Missouri, Kansas & Texas, 12,990, and Missouri Pacific, 15,000 tons. For manufactured iron about an average demand prevails from the ordinary outlets against which the supply is sufficient, and the market shows no really new features worthy of note. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.00@2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.20@2.50c.; Rods, round and square, 2.30@2.40c.; Bands, 2.40@2.50c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. Lead—Domestic Pig has undergone some fluctuation with, at times, evidence of a desire to urge the sale of surplus stock. There, however, appeared to be an absorbing sufficient to prevent any serious break and gradually bring back a steadier tone. We quote at 3.70@3.80c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 5c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe, 45c., on same terms. Tin—Pig has not been particularly active but found some attention, and with reasonably cheerful accounts from abroad ruled pretty steady. We quote at about 21⅜@21½c. for round lots and 21½@ 21¾c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plates do not appear to secure much attention from large buyers, and the business is confined mainly to the jobbing movement. Occasional irregularities develop in value, but nothing of a radical character. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.25@5.30, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $4.75 @4.80, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.60@6.65; M. F. grade, 20x 28, $13.25@13.30; Worcester, 14x20, $4.60@4.62½; Worcester, 20x28, $9.20@9.25; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.20@ 4.25; Dean grade, 20x28, $8.40@8.50; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.05@4.07½; Allaway grade, 20x28, $8.10@8.20; I. C. Coke, B. V. grade, $4.20@4.22½; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.30@4.35; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.65 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $4.70. Spelter finds simply an ordinary average demand and the general market is without features of an important character or worthy of special comment. We quote at 4.90@5¼c., according to quality.

NAILS.—The home demand for cut nails has increased somewhat and there is also a call on foreign account of fair proportions. The outlet, however, does not exceed the amount of available stock, and with holders generally willing to negotiate, operations proceed fairly at about former figures. We quote at $1.85@1.90 per keg for car lots, and $1.95@2.00 per keg for small invoices from store.

PAINTS AND OILS.—A reasonably good trade is doing with all seasonable outlets, and most reports retain the former cheerful measure. Buyers are not investing with liberality in any case, and natural wants form the basis of all orders, but these on both interior and local account are good and must, with the progress of the season, increase. The line of cost seems to be very well sustained, and sellers express confidence in ability to retain advantages. Linseed Oil secures natural proportionate attention and prices rule steadily at 56@57c. for Western and 58@59c. for City. Spirits Turpentine is not active, but with small and well held supplies the market rules strong at rather uppish inclined rates. We quote at 48½@49½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—The movement is slow and the deal confined mainly to ordinary trade wants, with the market ruling about steady. Fair supplies seem to be available. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Referring to a lien filed in your last issue against my property, northeast corner Lexington avenue and 104th street, by Joseph W. Binney, I beg to say that I have paid Ufheil & Muller in full for their contract, and the lien is unjust. Probably my absence in Europe might have induced the party to act so.

VOL. XLIII. MARCH 9, 1889. No. 1,095

The stock market is not a very cheerful place nowadays. The public seems indisposed either to speculate or invest in bonds, and good dividend-paying stocks bring prices which do not yield 5 per cent. The coal stocks are no longer attractive in view of the stoppage of work in the mines and the diminished demand for coal; the grangers and the Southwestern roads continue to be a drag in the market. Although rates are maintained much of the new mileage is through uninhabited regions; the population of the West will have to grow up to the present railroad facilities, and that will take some years. General business is not good. It seems as if Europe was still buying our securities, for though the balance of trade is steadily against us there is no outflow of gold. As a business boomer the new Republican administration is not a success; there is, however, one hopeful sign—to wit: the renewal of building activity in the large cities, especially in New York and Brooklyn.

Merchants and all connected with the shipping and naval interests of the country ought to unite to give a dinner to the Hon. Wm. C. Whitney. He has the distinction of leaving office with more honor than any of his Cabinet associates; he has given the country, if not a navy, at least the nucleus of one; he has not been afraid to spend money, if by doing so a service was rendered the country, while ex-President Cleveland and the rest of his Cabinet, nearly every Democrat in the Senate and House and nearly all Democratic papers, were a unit against expenditures—they preferred to give away the funds to the rich individuals and corporations who held evidences of the national debt. The credit won by Secretary Whitney ought to furnish an example to President Harrison, to the members of his Cabinet and to the leaders of the administrative party. By all means let Secretary Whitney be honored by the maritime interests of the country. An expression of opinion might on that occasion be made which might or should reverse the "do-nothing policy" of the government. We are rich and can afford to spend a good deal of money for public improvements, sea-coast defenses, and for rehabilitating our merchant marine. We are sure of four prosperous years if this policy is pursued by the administration.

The Manhattan Company is not in favor with the public. Not because it has not been a benefit to the city, but on account of the questionable management by Gould, Sage and Field. But the movement it is making against a certain class of legal practitioners will be viewed with approbation by the bulk of the business community. The blackmailing of corporations by politicians, lawyers and even bankers is one of the crying evils of the time, the magnitude of which is not generally recognized. The fact is it has become impossible to name any public improvement or remedy without at the same time calling into light groups of individuals' intent upon making money out of it. The list of shyster lawyers who watch the records of the police and other courts and follow up trivial accidents and mishaps for the purpose of inciting litigation or being "bought off" by the pestered individual, has become dangerously long. Builders have always been serious sufferers from this class of legal harpies, who strike at them through statutes framed for the just protection of working people. Cases are "worked up" against them by these lawyers merely on consideration of "contingent fees." Our readers may recall the stand taken by a prominent builder some time ago, the facts of which were given in these columns. It has come to such a pass now that if a person falls and bruises his shin in going by a house a lawyer will at once be on hand to suggest a suit against the landlord on whose property the accident took place. As we said at the outset, it is a pity the action commenced against this class of lawyers by the Manhattan Company was not undertaken by a company which could enter the courts with more of the sympathy of the community. Of course, the Manhattan Company has seriously damaged some very valuable property and will be forced to make good any real losses, but advantage was taken of this state of things by speculative lawyers to induce hundreds of property-holders to bring suits for damages whose property was really benefited by the running of the elevated trains. Doctors who should run around and tell people they were sick on account of the elevated road would soon be fired out of the profession, and lawyers who make it a business to induce people to bring action against the "L" people do so against the best traditions of the Bar.

The interlocutors in "Our Prophetic Department," last week, were lucky in their guesses as to the principal features of President Harrison's policy, which was to be outlined in his inaugural address. He favors legislation that will protect the blacks of the South in their political rights; he avows himself a strong protectionist and an opponent of the spoils system; he talks moderately, but takes high ground on the Panama Canal question; he favors reform in our emigration law, and where the States are delinquent in the matter of education he would have the general government interfere to diminish illiteracy; he favors additions to our navy, and inferentially coast defenses for our principal sea-girt cities. His most questionable recommendation is that in favor of additional pensions to men who served in the Federal army, but did not get hurt. The last annual appropriation for pensions was eighty-four million; in 1880 it was fifty-six million. It is safe to say that fifteen million per annum would be an extravagant appropriation for our surviving soldiers; yet, before the close of President Harrison's term of office, it may reach a hundred million per annum. Our newspapers know what a gigantic swindle this pension business is, but they are too cowardly to stigmatize it as it deserves.

But President Harrison's attitude on one or two important matters radically differs from that of ex-President Cleveland and the Democratic party. He specifically recommends that encouragement be given to shipbuilders to construct vessels that will carry our flag to distant ports; he favors coaling stations and harbors of refuge in distant seas, evidently having in view the creation of a great merchant marine. All this is very cheering. The party which has just stepped out of power regarded "Uncle Sam" as a wretched old bankrupt who must save every cent of money and not spend anything, even for the most essential objects. But President Harrison says in effect: "We are a prosperous nation; we should spend money to make money." He believes in a full Treasury so that we will not have to impose new taxes or borrow in emergency. Hereafter the United States government may be regarded as an active factor in stimulating the business of the country. If there is more money in the Treasury than suffices for our immediate needs he would buy bonds. This ought to be a bull argument in Wall street; nevertheless we do not approve of the policy of giving the money of the community as a bonus to the bondholders.

The composition of President Harrison's Cabinet, and the strong but cautious tone of his inaugural address, warrants the expectation that we are entering upon an era during which the country's affairs will be well administered. Mr. Blaine has excited a good deal of personal and political animosity, but he is confessedly one of the most brilliant men of the country. Mr. Windom has been trained in public affairs. As Senator he favored internal improvements, and when Secretary of Treasury under a former administration he performed the notable feat of converting 6 per cent. government bonds into 3 and 3½ per cent. bonds. Mr. Wanamaker ought to prove a very capable Postmaster-General, as he has built up and personally conducted one of the largest stores in the world. He must be a man of great organizing ability, and possessed of the general intelligence as well as the power to co-ordinate a vast mass of details. Messrs. Miller and Noble are personal friends of the President, and his judgment of their merits will have to be tested by their subsequent careers. The country knows nothing of the capabilities of the Secretary of War or of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Still, there is something in the Cabinet we do not like. There are too many lawyers to begin with. In a country filled with first-class business men, these last ought to have a larger representation in the executive part of the government. General Tracy, for Secretary of the Navy, is objectionable in every possible way. True, he is a clever lawyer and a good speaker; but we doubt if he could tell the larboard from the starboard side of a vessel, though he might discriminate between an anchor and a smoke-stack. It is a pity that the practice of our government did not permit the continuance in office of ex-Secretary Whitney, who has done so much to give us an efficient navy. It will take General Tracy two years to acquire the right kind of knowledge to carry on Mr. Whitney's work. Indeed, one is prone to suspect that he was appointed more in view of the patronage of the Brooklyn Navy Yard than because of any ability he may be likely to show in reconstructing our navy.

The exasperating part of this business is that President Harrison had excellent business material to choose from. Cornelius N. Bliss, John F. Plummer, Warner Miller, Thomas C. Platt, all of whom have been spoken of for this important office, would have made admirable Secretaries of the Navy. Warner Miller, it will be recalled, is a successful manufacturer, while Thos. C. Platt is the most energetic and prosperous express president in the country. The organizing ability, tact and knowledge of men which makes a successful political boss, would prove of immense service in any of the executive departments of the government. Gen. Arthur was only a local political boss, and accidentally was made President, but he filled that high office with credit to himself and his country. General Tracy's appointment was a mistake.

Because of the absence on Tuesday of its chief advocate before the Legislative Committee of the Real Estate Exchange, the resolution favoring the Ives' bill for leasing the new parks remained "tabled." The proceedings, however, clearly showed that there is not the slightest chance that the resolution will be adopted. The character of the bill is now thoroughly understood, and it has scarcely a friend on the committee, nor indeed in the press or among the public. It is a long time since any measure from Albany has been so unanimously condemned. The best thing for all concerned is to drop the bill. The proposition that the Legislative Committee should appoint a commission to inquire into the motives of the framers and advocates of the measure can serve no useful purpose, for the question of "motives," if there is such a question, is only a side issue and does not affect the main issue upon which the opposition really centers. It may be granted that in purpose the bill is immaculate, but that does not make it desirable. It is too loosely drawn to be wisely accepted; it reopens well-settled questions, awakens old animosities, and is directly hostile to public sentiment. If there was any force of public opinion behind the measure the case might be different, but it has absolutely no friends beyond the family group who fathered and fostered it.

So strong is the feeling against the slightest curtailment of the park area of the city that the merits of the ostensible object of the bill—viz.: to "rectify" the boundaries of the parks—has scarcely been discussed. At this point, however, the bill is as objectionable as elsewhere. The idea that the boundaries of the new parks should be straight is not one that most people will accept. Indeed, the "making of crooked ways straight" is better suited to legislation than to park lines, as every one will recognize who has followed the monotonously straight boundary of Central Park. New York with its street system is sufficiently a city of right angles and parallelograms to tolerate a little irregularity in its new parks for the sake of picturesqueness.

The recent meeting between the Mayor and members of the Board of Electrical Control made up for what it lacked in dignity by a gratifying directness, which, unfortunately, is usually missing in municipal meetings. President Lynch, of the United States Company, gave Commissioner Gibbens the lie, and in return received from the Mayor positive intelligence that if the wires of his company were not under ground in forty-five days they would be removed by the city authorities. The decided position taken by Mayor Grant as to these overhead nuisances and dangers is, we trust, indication that we may yet reach some action on other matters of importance to the city which have been dragging along through several administrations.

Few people realize how much attention the subject of taxation is receiving throughout the country just at present. In Ohio it is almost one of the topics of the hour. Pennsylvania is agitated over the re-imposition of the special tax on manufacturing corporations. In this State there is, or has been lately, the Larmon bill, and in Dakota the Walsh tax bill is under discussion. From one cause or another taxation is the subject of an unusually wide range of discussion, and under it all is the feeling that the present system fails in a vital particular—to equally distribute the burdens of government. That this is so there is no doubt; but while the remedy is plain it is doubtful whether people are yet prepared to accept it. The fairest tax that can be devised is an income tax; it works well abroad, and, as we showed in an article in these columns last week, had the most satisfactory results when it was in operation in this State in 1865–66; but the prejudice against it is so strong that without the aid of the growing dissatisfaction with the present methods of taxation there would be little hope of its adoption within the present generation. This, however, makes the "opportunity" for reform, and gives the advocate of an income tax the hearing which would otherwise be denied. A change will have to be made; and the choice will lie between heavier burdens than ever on real estate and an income tax. As to which is the more desirable there can be no doubt.

There is a good deal of humbug in the cry that is being raised about the opening of the Metropolitan Museum of Art on Sundays. It is plain that behind it there is a much greater desire to score an anti-Sabbatarian "point" against the trustees and the "Puritans" than to benefit the workingman for whom there is such solicitude. If his interests are really the object of consideration, would it not be best to open the Museum, first of all, in the evening? The studious and the curious would certainly derive much more benefit from the institution if it were opened then, until say eight or nine o'clock, than all day on Sunday. Let us act wisely. The anti-Sabbatarian point will keep. It can be scored after the trustees have tried evening "sessions."

Freight Classification.

The importance of a uniform classification of freight has forced itself upon our Interstate Commerce Commissioners, but it cannot be expected that the importance of an equitable classification will be equally appreciated by them, because it has not been presented to them with the same force and frequency. Yet, it is the only bulwark of the people against a species of discrimination as onerous, unjust and arbitrary as the other forms of discrimination which caused the creation of the Board of Commissioners. In Germany classifications are decided upon after consulting the principal commercial interests affected. In England the classifications are made up by the railways, but are subject to the approval of the Board of Trade and of Parliament, and for eight weeks before approval by the Board of Trade the schedules are open to the public for examination and objection.

In this country they are made up by a secret conclave of freight agents, and have in the past gone into operation without hearings or revision by any public authority.

The present classification of the trunk lines is honeycombed with discriminations against small shippers, especially the westbound classification, where hundreds of articles which, prior to the enactment of the Interstate Commerce law, were classified the same, regardless of quantity, are now discriminated against in less than carload lots to an extent which practically prohibits the small shipper from choosing in what market he will do business.

Several hundred retail merchants and a number of wholesale houses have united in submitting a case to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which, it is hoped, will result in removing this form of discrimination, which is not only an infraction of the desirable rule of uniformity, but is an unjust and an unnecessary discrimination against small shippers.

The railroads seek to excuse it upon the ground of economic necessities, but the fact remains that these necessities did not make themselves apparent until after the Interstate Commerce law was passed, and the insincerity of this excuse is obvious.

The roads further emphasized their evident intent to discriminate against small shippers by raising the limit of a carload from twenty thousand to twenty-four thousand pounds.

All will admit that uniformity of classification is desirable, but it should be just, as well as uniform, and a proper distinction should be made between east and westbound traffic; the former, being composed of articles which naturally take a carload as a unit of shipment, while the latter is chiefly composed of manufactured products of condensed value, the natural unit of which is a commercial package.

While it is natural and proper that the railways should suggest a classification, it is but just that the public who are the other party interested, should be heard upon such an important question; and that the railway commissioners should revise the classifications in the interest both of the railway and shipping public,

Whatever may be the practice in other countries, in this country the small shipper had as much to do with chartering these modern highways as the largest shipper did; and in a country where the welfare of the many is supposed to be paramount, it ought not to be sacrificed either to the convenience of freight agents or the desire of the few large shippers to obtain preferential rates through the device of "classification," which they were denied under the guise of special rates or rebates.

The solicitude which just now is finding an expression in the newspapers and magazines as to the control of a yet unfinished canal through a not over-populated isthmus only seven degrees north of the equator is not without its incongruities. The idea held is that the nations of the world should unite to guarantee the neutrality of the canal when finished. Very good. But how about the Monroe doctrine? This would surely be an offence to the spirit of it, for the "guarantee" obtained from any power would give it a locus standi, as the lawyers say, or a recognized place, warranting it meddling in "American affairs." The way "neutrality" works is exemplified in the recent difficulties in Samoa, and history is not without many other instructive examples. Moreover, it might not be out of place to ask, what is any "guarantee" worth that may be given. It is one of those human arrangements, of which there are so many, which work best when they are not needed. In time of war a powerful nation does not hesitate long between its interests and its "guarantees." The way England looks after the "neutrality" of the Suez Canal is by keeping twenty-three of her most powerful war-ships in the Mediterranean and the Red Sea. A similar "neutrality" is really the best guarantee we can have for our interests in the Panama Canal or elsewhere. It is the only kind that can be relied upon to be effective at the right moment.

The Site for the Federal Buildings.

The selection of a site for a new Appraiser's Stores and a new Custom House now devolves on Secretary Windom, as Mr. Fairchild finally concluded to leave the matter to his successor in office. The act appropriates two millions of dollars for the purchase or condemnation of land for the purpose stated, and six hundred and fifty thousand dollars additional for the erection of an Appraiser's building, but makes no present appropriation for a Custom's building. The Secretary of the Treasury is empowered and directed to select one site for both buildings, or separate sites in the vicinity of each other.

The advocates of the Bowling Green site—the three small blocks lying immediately south of the Bowling Green, and containing all the land with cross streets between Whitehall and State streets—urged Mr. Fairchild, the late Secretary of the Treasury, to decide in favor of that location as the best one for a new Custom House and Appraiser's Stores; they asked him to institute condemnation proceedings and acquire so much of the southerly portion as the two million dollars would cover, and then that he send a communication to Congress recommending an additional appropriation sufficient in amount to acquire the remaining or northerly portion. The estimated value of the whole is said to be about three million dollars, so that the two million would secure more than two-thirds, the upper portion fronting on Bowling Green being the most valuable; anyway, the two millions would secure more than sufficient land for the Appraiser's Stores and a Custom House. The future needs of the government will probably require the whole of the three blocks, and if eventually it becomes desirable to build a new Subtreasury and Assay buildings, the government will have the land upon which to erect them, the Subtreasury building to face up Broadway. It certainly would not be advisable to leave the upper portion in the hands of private owners, for great office buildings would surely be erected thereon and thus make it impossible for the government to acquire the land thereafter at any reasonable sum.

The dry-goods men have delayed a selection for the past six months by their persistent efforts to secure a selection of some location near their own business district, or still further uptown, and actually succeeded in getting Mr. Fairchild to seriously entertain a proposition to locate the Appraiser's Stores on West street, near the foot of West 13th street, North River. If the Appraiser's Stores had to go down town or the Custom House up town the dry-goods men were in favor of the latter building going up town. By far the greater number of importers are below Chambers street, and desire the Bowling Green location. Some three hundred and more members of the Chamber of Commerce—an overwhelming majority of such members as could be reached to obtain their signatures—signed in favor of the down-town location, but the dry-goods men captured one or two meetings of the Chamber, when the total attendance was only from thirty-five to fifty members, and made it appear that the Chamber was in favor of an up-town location. The new Trust Company, of which Mr. Fairchild is now the president, is largely composed of drygoods and up-town men, and the friends of the Bowling Green site at one time feared that the Secretary might be disposed to accede to their wishes, but Mr. Fairchild's sense of official responsibility prevented any such action.

This matter is too important to be juggled with in the interests of any particular trade or set of men. The new buildings are for the accommodation of the Port of New York, which includes Brooklyn, Jersey City, Staten Island, etc., and a central and convenient location it requisite, while as an adornment and advantage to this city every citizen is interested in having the very best possible location selected for the new Federal buildings.

One city journal, the Sun, pronounces in favor of Andrew H. Green's proposition, to consolidate "New York, Kings, Richmond, part of Queens and a portion of Vestchester County" into one great municipality, having an area of 320 square miles, and a population of 2,500,000. As our readers are aware, THE RECORD AND GUIDE has always favored the union of New York and Brooklyn. But we would make the area somewhat larger than does Mr. Green; he would draw the line south of Yonkers and north of Mt. Vernon, but it would be better to take in Yonkers and New Rochelle, as well as the better part of Queens County, which would give the new city an area of about 400 square miles, and a population that in a few years would be fully 3,000,000.

All this will be accomplished some day or another, but it will meet with much opposition and will take time. The Albany politicians will oppose it, for the birth of an imperial city at this end of the State would put a stop to the plundering by the lobbies of New York and Brooklyn, which for years past has been so profitable to our city politicians. Then the minor officials of Brooklyn would naturally antagonize the project. What is more, Staten Island will object to being swallowed up by New York. However, the tendency all over the world is in the direction of concentration and consolidation. After the census of 1890 there will be a new State apportionment, which will add heavily to the list of voters in this end of the State.

The year 1900 will, we think, see Mr. Andrew H. Green's dream fulfilled. New York will probably then contain 4,000,000 people; and a wonderful city it will be too. There will probably be four bridges across the East River, and two if not three across the Hudson River. There will be tunnels under both the East and North rivers, as well as under the Harlem. The Arcade Road under Broadway will have been constructed. The 23d and 24th Wards will be built up and occupied by a dense population, and every portion of the annexed district will be within half hour communication with any part of Manhattan Island. As for the lower part of the city it will be given over to great warehouses and stores. Millions will do business in the city, but will live and sleep in the regions surrounding it. The Harlem River improvement, of course, will have been completed, and will give us ten miles more of dockage. Many of the foreign steamship lines will use the Sound instead of the Narrows to bring their cargoes to New York.

Our "One Conspicuous Failure."

The common opinion of the citizens of this country generally accords with the following sentence, to be found in Professor Bryce's recent work: "There is no denying that the government of cities is the one conspicuous failure of the United States." Even the following extract, quoted by Professor Bryce, from the New York Commissioners' report, presented twelve years ago, is still "live reading," and the statements in it would probably be indorsed today by a great many persons at first sight:

"The magnitude and rapid increase of this (New York City's) debt are not less remarkable than the poverty of the results exhibited as the return of so prodigious an expenditure. It was abundantly sufficient for the construction of all the public works of a great metropolis for a century to come, and to have adorned it besides with the splendors of architecture and art. Instead of this, the wharves and piers are, for the most part, temporary and perishable structures; the streets are poorly paved; the sewers, in great measure, imperfect, insufficient and in bad order; the public buildings shabby and inedequate, and there is little which the citizens can regard with satisfaction save the aqueduct and its appurtenances and the public park."

Condemnation implies a standard, and the standard usually, or perhaps invariably, adopted by the critics of our municipal governments is that of European cities. Of course such was the standard in Professor Bryce's mind when he wrote the foregoing. It may be frankly conceded at the outset that the cities of the Old World are very much better paved and immeasurably better kept than those on this side of the water. But, apart from what may be called the "street system," it is doubtful whether the utmost candor can concede any great superiority in other particulars. A comparison between the police, fire and water and lighting departments of New York, and any of the capitals abroad is, to say the least, not greatly, if at all, to the disadvantage of our city, and these cover so large a part of the field of municipal action, that if we do not fail therein, where are we to look for our "one conspicuous failure?" Our public buildings certainly are most inferior to those abroad; but the inferiority is very largely in artistic matters, and we claim a little allowance on that score, even though it may not be sufficient to quite absolve our officials from fault.

To quote again from Professor Bryce. He says: "Two tests of practical efficiency may be applied to the government of a city: what does it provide for the people, and what does it cost the people?" Good. Of the two, the latter test is the one most commonly applied in this country. Indeed, of late years it has seen a remarkable amount of service, though sometimes judgment is based upon the two combined, as in the case of the individual who said: "Our cities collect more for nothing than anywhere else on earth."

We have already seen that, save in the "street system" and public buildings, it cannot be shown that municipalities on this side of the water are so far behind those on the other side as criticism would seem to imply; let us now glance at the cost of city government here and abroad. In 1887 the total payments made by the City of New York amounted to $67,900,425, of this $34,571,036 were for "ordinary" expenses; or, estimating the population at 1,400,000, $24.69 per capita. Beside this let us place the expenses of some of the European capitals. In Paris the ordinary budget in 1887 was 257,000,000 francs, or about $21 per capita. The total expenditure of the City of Berlin for all purposes was for the year ending March, 1888, 60,860,418 marks or, the population being about the same as New York, 1,400,000, a little over $10 a head. In Rome, in 1885, the municipal administration expended 27,565,638 lire which is about $15.20 for each inhabitant, the population being nearly 350,000. The inhabitants of Amsterdam number about 375,000, and the expenditure of that city is 6,356,000 florins, which is about $6.80 per capita. The expenditure of London, excluding that derived from loans, was, in 1884, $45,000,000, or a little over $11 per capita.

In order to extend the field of comparison we will add to these a few of the other cities of this country, some of which might be better paired with Rome and Amsterdam than with the larger cities. In Cleveland, where the population is 250,000, the revenue per capita is $15.51; Cincinnati, with 330,000 inhabitants, $15.75; St. Louis, with 450,000, $11.04; Baltimore, with 416,000, $14.70; Chicago, with 850,000, $15.38; Boston, with 410,000, $25.68; and Philadelphia, with 1,100,000, $13.19. Going abroad again we see that Bordeaux, a city of nearly a quarter of a million, spends about $13 for each inhabitant. The expenditure of Leeds is about $10 per capita, the population being perhaps 350,000. In Liverpool, excluding poor rates, the taxes amount to about $9 for each person. In Sheffield, in 1887, the expenses of the town council were $1,154,665, which, estimating the population at 300,000, is less than $4 per capita.

It will be seen from this that so far as the cities mentioned go municipal expenses in Europe range from about $10 to $15 per capita, and in this country from $15 to $20. There are exceptions in both cases to these extremes, but as a generalization the statement will stand. Now, do these figures, the second test spoken of by Professor Bryce, prove the "conspicuous failure" of cities in the United States? It can hardly be said that they do when we take into consideration what is often forgotten—the much greater cost of both labor and material in this country than in Europe.

It is almost impossible to make any valid comparison between the expenses of any single department of the New York City government and a similar department abroad. The duties performed differ in amount, and usually part of the work done by one department here is done by another elsewhere. One comparison, however, that will pass may be made and it may perhaps serve as indication of other things. The population of Berlin is very nearly that of New York. Its area is 6,310 square hectares, or about 15,750 square acres. The area of New York is 41 square miles, or 26,240 square acres. It costs Berlin $463,680 to clean its streets, while New York spends $1,065,535. True, the City of Berlin is kept in excellent condition, which is very far from being the case in New York; but then New York has more streets, and labor is much more expensive here than in Germany. This, however, is the worst case for New York that can be chosen, for at the outset we admitted without reserve the inferiority of our "street system."

Thus we see, applying the two tests of what it costs and what it provides, city government in this country is not quite such a bad thing as Professor Bryce and common opinion would make out. True, like so much else in this world, it might be vastly better, and the duty of each citizen is to urge and hasten improvement, especially in the condition of our streets. But, after all, it is something to know that municipal government is not the quagmire of unspeakable corruption, extravagance and inefficiency that it is sometimes made out to be. There is hope in the knowledge, and an assurance that an effort may bring about better things.

We are so prone to see evil that it is even valuable at times to recognize "pleasant" facts by the way. If municipal reform in certain matters has been delayed, clearly it has not been because the necessity for it has not been recognized. As a matter of fact, during the past ten or fifteen years the attempts at municipal reform throughout the country have been more numerous than is sometimes remembered, as the cases of Philadelphia, Chicago, Brooklyn and our own city, not to extend the list, show. That the results have fallen short of the anticipations there is no doubt, but no very exhaustive examination is necessary to discover the cause of failure. It lies principally in the fact that the reform has always taken the shape of a change of the "machinery" instead of a change in the character of the "material" of government. It will yet be found, we believe, that this is the quick of the matter.

Two Months of Brooklyn Real Estate.

There has been an extraordinary increase of activity in real estate and building circles on the other side of the Brooklyn Bridge. The figures which we publish below of the real estate transferred during the months of January and February in 1888 and 1889, show that this year Brooklyn is far ahead of last in the volume of transactions recorded, while the number of buildings projected is considerably larger and their cost 77 per cent. greater. Rapid transit has certainly done great things for our sister city, and has enabled her to draw a number of inhabitants away from the metropolis, on account of the cheaper rents prevailing in Brooklyn. In the first two months this year the number of properties transferred was 3,131 against 2,142 in the corresponding period last year, and their total value $12,724,168 as against $8,660,226. The figures of mortgages show that more money is being loaned in that city at lower rates than formerly, as is the case in New York, the sums recorded at 5 per cent. and less being $6,201,365 as against $3,447,197 for the same period last year. The projected buildings numbered 680 as compared with 448, and their estimated cost aggregates $3,506,010 as against $1,974,404 last year. The following are the tables:

Our Prophetic Department.

CITIZEN—One of the most pressing problems now seeking solution in this country is: How shall we secure good government in the large cities? The most perfect local government the world ever saw were the town meetings in New England before the growth of population and the development of manufactories built up large cities. For the past sixty years we have been going from bad to worse, until it now seems to be impossible to elect a board of aldermen or supervisors the members of which are honest. I notice, however, that in Europe they seem to have solved this problem of honest local government. Why cannot we do the same?

SIR ORACLE—We will do so, I think, in time; but we must study the methods of European cities and take advantage of their experience.

CITIZEN—Is not a part of the difference due to the greater extension of suffrage on this side of the Atlantic?

SIR O.—That is a factor in the case, certainly. The body of voters in Europe is not so large, and tramps and the houseless and homeless are not allowed to vote. But, I judge, the prime reason of better local government abroad is that it is the tenants and not the landlords who are the tax or, as they call them there, the ratepayers. The landlord of the Old World gets his rent, which is lower, but he is not called on for repairs, taxes or any sort of assessment. The tenant is bound to keep the house in good order and to assume all the responsibilities of taxes, water rents and the like. Our tenants cannot be made to understand this, and it makes no difference who is elected or how honest the local government may be, as the landlord has to meet all charges against his property, including taxes.

CITIZEN—Would it be possible to introduce that system in the United States?

SIR ORACLE—It lies with the landlords. They might rent their houses under conditions exactly the same as the landlords of Great Britain rent theirs; but I don't see how we could educate the tenement house population to pay taxes, for, indeed, we have no machinery for effecting such a reform. Then, of course, if such a thing were attempted it would lead to a wild, popular clamor, as it would be alleged that the landlords were trying to evade taxation and shoulder on the poor tenants the whole burden.

CITIZEN—But there are other factors which help good local government abroad. There is what we may call home rule; and the greatest power and the gravest responsibility is lodged in the hands of the voters. So depraved have been our local legislators that we have been cutting down their authority and lodging it in Mayor's and executive officers. Hence there is growing up a race of municipal autocrats or satraps who have almost unchecked power, which some day they will abuse. In England and on the Continent the authority is lodged, not in the executives, but in a numerous body of councilmen, which body elects the Mayors, heads of departments, and even the Aldermen. Then, abroad, they have what has been termed municipal socialism. The city owns the horse-car tracks, the ferries, gas and water works. It does the electric lighting, and furnishes free hospitals and dispensaries for the poor, laundries, bathing houses and lodgings out of the city funds.

SIR O.—These would be perilous powers to lodge in the hands of our heterogeneous voting population. Still, we have some municipal socialism on this side of the water—as witness our public parks, our common schools, and the provision made for spending a million dollars a year in providing small parks in all the more crowded parts of the city; then we have summer bathing houses along our river fronts, and there is talk of supplying winter bathing houses. All this shows we are approximating to Europe in being more paternally governed.

CITIZEN—I suppose that is the inevitable tendency of our civilization after all. The most stupendous memorials of the past are those left us in the form of public works by the nations of antiquity —as witness the Pyramids, the religious temples, the palaces of kings, the Roman roads and aqueducts. The Roman baths, which last were free to the citizens, and as the remains of them show were in the highest order of architecture. So you see that State socialism or paternalism was not unknown to antiquity.

The Outlook for Spring Rents.

A canvass of the agents' offices in all parts of the city shows that, as a general rule, rents will be about the same as they were last year. The season seems to have been somewhat backward so far. It has been customary for most tenants, according to the terms of their lease, to give notice to the agent or owner three months before the term expires, stating whether they purpose renewing their lease. This year notices of intention to move have come in later than usual, besides which there are not as many people inquiring for new houses as there were at the same time last year. Store and office properties hold their own. The canvass showed that we are only on the threshold of the renting season, and while it is possible it is hardly probable that the market will turn out different than indicated by the agents, as below:

SOUTH OF FOURTEENTH STREET.

E. A. Cruikshank & Co.: "The market for office rents is strong and healthy, and tenants have renewed promptly at expiring figures. On leases of three or five years owners have demanded increased rents. Stores are in considerable demand, but we have none vacant."

Geo. R. Read said: "Office rents are holding their own well as compared with last year. All the leases which we have renewed up to this moment have been at the previous rents, without any concessions being demanded by the tenants. Some concessions were asked for last spring, and the fact that tenants displayed a willingness to renew their leases on last year's terms seems to show that times are better with them. I have found more new people inquiring for offices this year. We find there is a decided objection to the buildings without elevators. We have very few vacant offices at present and it is difficult to suit inquirers."

"What do you consider the difference in value between a room on the third floor of a building with, and one without, an elevator, given that the two buildings adjoined one another?"

"I should say about 25 per cent.," said Mr. Read, "and as to the higher floors the ratio would increase."

Two fiduciary institutions were called upon to ascertain how their new buildings are renting. Neither is yet completed, but they will both be ready for occupancy by May 1. They have been leased on the strength of the floor plans.

Cashier Pratt, of the Bank of America, said: "We have eight floors in our new building, excluding the ground floor. The first will be occupied by the bank; the second, sixth, seventh, eighth and ground floors have already been leased, as well as part of the fourth and fifth. So that we have only part of the two latter floors and the third floor still to rent, and the building will then be full. The ground floor has been leased by a corporation, the second by a banking house, parts of the fourth and fifth to stock brokers, the sixth to a prominent firm of lawyers, and the seventh and eighth to corporations." The new building of the Bank of America is on the northwest corner of Wall and William streets.

Secretary Thornell, of the United States Trust Company, said: "I do not care to state which floors in our new building are rented, but you can say that they are fully half rented, both in floors and half floors." This new building is at Nos. 45 and 47 Wall street.

A well-known agent, who declined to have his name used, said: "Rents are about the same this year for offices as they were last. Leases have been renewed, and owners and tenants have agreed on the same basis. The demand so far has been, if anything, a little better than last year. There are, of course, always some changes in rents, due to expiring leases of several years' duration, and to other conditions. This sometimes results in an advance, and at other times in a concession, but on the whole this year's basis is about the same as last year's.

Daniel Birdsall & Co. said: "People are looking round for new offices in our locality, which principally takes in the dry-goods district. Of course our loft renting is practically nil after February 1st, though there are always a few changes from time to time. We do not see any indications, so far, that many people are going to move on May 1st. People who rent offices do not move much; they become a fixture for years. Those who are looking round are in search of quarters in more modern buildings. We have a number of vacant lofts; there are always some left over. We find people sub-letting more than previously. This is due to the change in the manner of doing business. In former years the large commission houses used to keep a hundred cases of samples on hand in their Broadway floors, whereas now they do the business with piece samples of dry-goods alone. So that a small room in these days meets their necessities as well as a whole loft ten years ago. We find that those who rent entire floors lease out part to others, and the latter in their turn rent out desk or sample room to smaller men. In renting buildings with elevators we find that the top floors always rent best, and there is not such a large difference between the rents of the upper and lower floors as might be supposed. Beyond the second floor they decrease in rental from 5 to 10 per cent. per floor. In buildings without elevators the top floors can hardly be rented at all.".

BETWEEN FOURTEENTH AND FIFTY-NINTH STREETS.

The Gilsey estate have not made any advance or concession in the rents of their Broadway stores. Most of their property on this line is on the west side of Broadway, between 27th and 29th streets, and their stores have been taken readily at last year's figures. Most of their leases have already been renewed on this basis.

Inquiry at the offices of the Astor estates elicits the fact that nearly all the leases of their business and dwelling properties, both on the east and west sides, have been renewed at last year's figures.

J. Romaine Brown & Co. said: "We have quite a good demand for all classes of houses and first-class flats. The lower-priced flats, those ranging from $30 to $50 per month, do not seem to go off as well as they once did, but those renting from $800 to $2,500 are in good demand. We have rented the eight floors of the new "Belgravia," on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 49th street, at from $3,500 to $6,500 a year per floor, and that, too, on three year leases. This shows us that there are people in New York who will pay higher prices for elegant suites of apartments on a fine corner and in a first-class location than they are willing to pay for a private residence. We have a great many inquiries for small houses which we cannot supply as there are so few to be obtained in this locality."

Thomas & Eckerson: "Very little renting has been done so far. The supply of houses, stores and flats does not seem to be as large this year as last. This seems to point out that most people are going to remain where they are. There is probably no section of the city where there is such a scarcity of all kinds of property to rent as between 14th and 34th streets. Rents are solid and stationary this year, except in the case of expiring term leases. There will be little or no change from last year's figures. Rents of Broadway stores are the same. Houses from $1,200 to $2,000 can be rented quickly; those from $2,000 to $2,400 fairly well, and above that not quite as well, though the demand for a higher class of house is better than it has been. Flats are doing well all the way through. We have only one apartment vacant in all our flats, a suite at $1,000 rent, out of a list ranging from $40 to $125 per month. Of course there are agents who will tell you that they have empty flats, but if that is so it must be on account of some drawback, such as a want of repairs and general fixing up. We find that we can always rent flats up this way if they are in good condition."

Morris B. Baer & Co.: "Landlords are asking the same rents as last year. There will be very little change from the figures of last spring. The season has been a little backward. A number of inquiries have been made, but little renting has been done thus far. We find quite a number of people who are in the market to buy homes, instead of renting them."

J. Edgar Leaycraft: "We anticipate quite a successful spring market. We have renewed a number of leases at last year's figures, and have rented a number of houses at the old prices. Many leases will be made later than usual this spring. Our stores are doing a little better on the east side than on the west side. Flats are going off nicely; there seem to be fewer changes. We are not losing ground: if anything, we are gaining."

W. J. Roome: "On the whole we find our renewals are at last year's figures. This is so in store, dwelling and other properties."

THE WEST SIDE.

Chas. E. Schuyler: "There are less houses to rent on the west side than there were last spring. A year ago there was not such a good demand for the purchase of houses, but this year they are selling quite well, and builders are consequently making a greater effort to sell than to rent. We have not a half a dozen desirable houses to rent under $2,000. We have already rented a number ranging at from $1,700 to $2,400 per annum. The $1,700 houses are on 64th, 70th and 94th streets, between 9th and 10th avenues, and the $2,400 house on 73d street, near West End avenue, a house worth about $34,000. There are few flats to rent of a desirable character. We have had many calls for eight and nine room suites renting for about $1,000 and we have only one to offer. Notices of renewal and removal are both coming in slowly. Owners are a little stiff on the rents of two years ago and are asking a little higher; the houses are worth more, too. Still, most of the renewals will be at last year's figures."

Another broker said: "We have plenty of three and four-story houses to offer, but there are few customers. We have them from $1,200 to $3,500. The call is largely for houses from $1,200 to $1,500. Inquirers want a $30,000 house for $1,500 rent, which owners could hardly afford. We have a good supply of flats from $55 to $125 per month, but the demand is mostly at from $30 to $40 rent."

Walter Lawrence: "The demand round our way is for houses from $1,000 to $1,200. We have only two of the former, while we have some three and four-story dwellings that we can rent at $1,200. We have a good demand for a better grade of flats, say from $60 to $90 per month, which we cannot supply. All our flats are well rented. Of course the new buildings are not included in this statement, but even these are being rented directly they are finished. There are a number of vacant apartments further south around 100th street. We have a large call for $25 apartments. Of these we have not enough to go around. Rents are about stationary this spring."

THE UPPER EAST SIDE.

T. J. Kilpatrick: "Private houses on the line of Madison avenue, between 59th and 80th streets, are likely to rent at about the same figures as last year. There may possibly be a little shading in high-priced residences. On the whole rents are being renewed on last year's basis."

F. Zittel: "There is a large demand for private houses between $1,000 to $1,200, but there are very few in the market, and even these are not all in eligible locations. There is quite a little 'shopping' by dissatisfied tenants desiring to change, but as there is so little to offer, scores of people will be forced to remain where they are. Such leases as we have renewed have been at the old figures, and the indications are that new leases will be made out at expiring figures. Last year concessions were made, and this year rents, if anything, are a little stiff at last spring's prices. Our flats are all well rented; that is, those that are well located. They have been doing better lately than in former years. Of tenements there are too many and they don't do so well."

Tichborne & Melrose: "Houses, stores, flats and tenements will show little or no change from last year's rents."

John J. Cody: "Private houses and flats, anywhere between 70th and 94th streets, are in good demand. There is no falling off from last year's figures. If anything owners are a little stiff on rents. All our desirably located property is well rented."

HARLEM.

Porter & Co.: "As a general thing renewals of leases have been made at last year's rents. There is a very large demand for houses ranging between $800 and $1,000, but there are very few in the market. We have had three parties after a small house this week, and they have almost quarrelled to get it. Houses on our books range in rents from $800 to $2,000. We have renewed leases as high as $1,800, and there has been no falling off, either in old or new tenancies, from the rents of last year. If anything owners are a little stiff on prices, and while efforts to obtain concessions last spring were in many cases favorably met by owners, this year there is no disposition to give way. There is a good demand for flats renting from $30 to $40 a month, but there are very few vacancies. The market is clearly in a better condition than it was twelve months ago."

Another Harlem agent said: "There are ten applications for houses renting between $800 and $900 to every house that can be supplied. Owners are going to do better with their property this year than they have for several seasons past."

The members of the West Side Real Estate Exchange who own a number of flats and tenements say that they are renting as well as they could expect so early in the season. Their properties are on the west side of Harlem.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

The weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday, Wm. Reynolds Brown in the chair. There was not as full an attendance as at the previous meeting, and the question of settling the resolution of Mr. Crimmins was postponed until next Tuesday.

The following letter was read from the Mayor's Secretary, in reply to the committee's resolution as to bonding contractors who use explosives in excavating rock. It reads as follows:

I have the honor to acknowledge, by direction of the Mayor, the receipt of your letter of March 1st, inclosing a resolution passed by the Committee on Legislation of the Real Estate Exchange at its meeting on February 26th, with reference to the use of explosives in this city, and to state that, prior to the receipt of your letter, the Mayor had addressed a communication to the Fire Department upon that subject, recommending the adoption of various rules and regulations, and suggesting the advisability of the passage by the Board of Aldermen of appropriate ordinances, and asking the Commissioners of the Fire Department to make such suggestions as to them might seem advisable in the premises. The Mayor has received a letter acknowledging the receipt of his communication, and stating that it would be placed before the Board of Fire Commissioners, and that they would communicate with him on the subject. He has not as yet heard from them. I inclose you a copy of his letter to the Fire Commissioners. The Mayor believes that the Board of Aldermen and the Fire Department, concurrently or separately, have adequate power to regulate the use of explosives in this city. Should legislation on the subject be necessary, the suggestions contained in the resolution would doubtless meet with general approval.

The inclosure to Commissioner Purroy is of sufficient importance to builders and contractors to be published in full. It reads as follows:

HON. HENRY D. PURROY, President of the Board of Fire Commissioners:

SIR—In view of the numerous injuries to persons and property resulting from the unrestricted and careless use of explosives, the Mayor desires me to suggest to your department the advisability of adopting and enforcing stringent regulations in connection with their use and storage.

The frequency of explosions imperilling the public safety is the subject of just and general alarm. Serious accidents have quite recently occurred at 181st street and Kingsbridge road, at 78th street and the Boulevard, at 71st street and the Boulevard, and at other places. They result not merely in the destruction of property, but in loss of life, and are apparently caused by the careless use of explosives by persons ignorant of their action and effects.

The regulations which suggest themselves to the Mayor are that all persons desiring to use any compound into which nitro-glycerine enters should be compelled to obtain a license for the purpose, and that this license should be given only to such persons as, after a sufficient examination, show that they possess the knowledge requisite to the safe use of the article; that is to say, the man should know the degree of temperature at which the compound will explode, at what point it freezes, and the mode to deal with it in attempting to render it serviceable after it is frozen.

It is apparent that a person using any explosive compound who is not familiar with the use of the thermometer may get the temperature too high, and thus cause an accident, or he may use it in a manner while it is in a frozen state that will produce an explosion.

In addition to the possession of the requisite knowledge ascertained by proper examination, the person using the explosive, or the contractor, or person in whose employ such person is, should, in the opinion of the Mayor, be required to furnish a bond in the penal sum of at least $5,000, with sufficient sureties conditioned for the payment of any loss occurring to person or property by reason of the use of such explosive; and that the giving of such security and the passage of such examination be prerequisite to the granting of the license mentioned.

It would, further, seem desirable that no explosive should be permitted to be stored within a stated number of feet of any dwelling, and that the quantity to be stored in any place should be limited and regulated; that it should be stored in iron boxes or chests, and that these boxes or chests should be plainly marked with words indicating the dangerous character of the contents.

Some of these regulations are within the power of your department. Some might require an ordinance of the Common Council. This letter is designed mainly to call your attention to the urgent necessity of some action in the premises, and to suggest, in a general way, the character of such action. The Mayor has reason to believe that by reason of your greater familiarity with the subject you will be able to indicate the action, if any, that should be taken by the Board of Aldermen; and he would suggest that, after giving the matter consideration, you address him upon the subject. Respectfully yours, THOS. C. T. CRAIN, Secretary.

On the question of taking up the adjourned discussion on Mr. Crimmins' resolution on the Ives bill, the following letter was read from Mr. Crimmins:

We must recognize the fact, from the discussion brought forward by the press in connection with what is known as the Ives bill in relation to the new park land, that this question demands and should have very careful consideration, study and inquiry as to the occasion of the proposed legislation and its effects.

The citizens of this city should be advised whether the local authorities who have had to do with the framing of these acts had any other than the purest motives and for the best interests of the large majority of our citizens.

Second, to determine whether such legislation as they propose is not in the interests of economy in the future administration of the Park Commissioners, as well as to enable them to reach a more speedy decision o' a plan for the future improvements of the newly acquired lands.

I respectfully suggest that a special committee of not less than seven should be selected by yourself or the President of the Real Estate Exchange, with the request that they take up this question and investigate the merits and purposes of the legislation proposed.

The Corporation Counsel could explain the acts. His Honor the Mayor, I have no doubt, would state his purpose in initiating legislation. The Commissioners of Parks would explain from their standpoint the reason such legislation is desirable.

I may add that two of the Commissioners of Parks expressed to me their approval of such legislation, and a third has also expressed himself in favor of the same. The topographical engineer of the Department of Parks could explain to the committee the incongruity of the lines as established by the engineer, who, with the Commissioners, determined the boundaries of the new land.

The gentlemen invited to take up this question, whether members of the Real Estate Exchange or any of our distinguished citizens, should be of high standing, well known to the citizens of the city, and whose judgment would carry weight. They should not have any interest affected by the location of the parks.

I am sure you will agree with me that passion, not reason, has entered largely into the discussion by a part of the press on this very important subject, and so great has been the passion that they have trampled over the good name of our Chief Magistrate as well as those who have felt disposed to support his position.

I trust your committee will concur in these suggestions and that the resolution which I offered will still remain on the table pending the report of the committee so selected.

You will excuse my non-attendance to-day, as it is occasioned by matters of a personal character.

Mr. Lespinasse rose to move that the committee request the president to appoint such a committee as suggested by Mr. Crimmins.

Mr. Warren objected, and advised that the committee should act at once.

Mr. Carr supported this view.

On the request of the chairman Mr. Orr took the chair, and Mr. Brown rose to advise a postponement of the matter, as requested by Mr. Crimmins. He wished to say, however, that he was totally at variance with Mr. Crimmins. He explained that the Legislature had adjourned till the 11th inst., and that there was no fear of any action being taken at Albany before the committee's next meeting.

Mr. Warren hereupon yielded, and both the resolutions of Mr. Crimmins and Mr. Lespinasse were laid over till next week, when a vote will no doubt be taken.

The bill is looked upon as killed.

Mr. Robinson reported progress, on behalf of the Committee on Building and Mechanic's Lien laws, on the question of fastening responsibility for defective plumbing, etc., on tenants as well as owners. The report reads as follows:

It is the opinion of your committee that the sanitary condition of this city can best be promoted by amending the existing laws on the subject in a manner that will make the tenants of tenement houses co-operate with the owners in keeping the same in good sanitary condition. We would therefore recommend that the existing laws shall be so amended and applied, that the Board of Health shall proceed against tenants or occupants of premises or parts of premises, for all violations of the sanitary laws, other than repairs, found within those parts of premises which such tenant or occupant may occupy for his use, to the exclusion of any one else; or, in other words, proceed against tenants for violations committed by tenants. Exclusive control and occupation, and the presence of a violation, is to be evidence sufficient for the Board of Health to proceed against such tenant or occupant.

It was resolved to have a conference between the members of Mr. Robinson's committee and President Bayles and Chief Inspector Collins, of the Health Department, when a definite report would be drawn up and presented to the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Carr called attention to the new bill introduced by Senator Ives, practically creating a new Park department in the 23d and 24th Wards. The bill was referred to the Committee on City Improvements, to be reported on next week.

The meeting then adjourned.

Those Central Park Trees.

Chairman Sterns, of the Torrey Botanic Garden Committee, alleges that the Park Department is destroying trees in the Central Park in a wholesale and altogether uncalled for manner. The Citizens' West End Association have had their attention called to the matter, but up till Thursday no specific effort, it seems, had been made to ascertain from the authorities the character of the arborical destruction effected.

A reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE called upon the park official responsible for the cutting down and uprooting of the trees—Park Superintendent Parsons.

"Complaints of this character," he said, "are made by a few persons every year. I regret that the gentlemen who make these statements to the newspapers do not come to me to learn the character and extent of the tree cutting. I shall be pleased at any time to drive them over the park and show them why trees are removed. In the first place, if a tree is dead it must at once come down, or it becomes a nuisance. In the second place, if five trees stand where there is only room for one or two, one or two of the five have to be taken down, so as to thin them out and leave room for the others to spread out. The park, when laid out, had trees planted 5 or 6 feet apart that require a space of at least 30 feet each at maturity. This is the case not in one spot, but almost all over. There are literally hundreds of thousands of trees in the park, and in such a vast number, just as in a large population, many must necessarily die. Many trees have got to be removed through overcrowding. If a number of trees are pressed into a small space, they become intertwined and stunted and lose their handsome proportions; besides, they will die. To preserve their beauty we are forced to remove some from time to time, and where we so remove them, we plant other trees elsewhere, so that their places are, to a large extent, supplied by new trees where there is room for them to grow. It is in the oldest parts of the park where they have principally been cut down. Numbers have died from overcrowding. Many of the trees are fifty years old, having been in existence when the property was taken for park purposes. The life of some of our trees is twenty-five years; I speak of the Norway spruces. These are short-lived in this climate, and experts are planting very few of them now for that reason. Maples and elms predominate in the park. They live to be fifty to sixty years old, but when they are 5 to 6 feet apart, as they are in hundreds of cases, they have no chance to develop and show their beauty. Birches and beeches are the next numerous, and there are also oaks. Of the last there are very few, and we have only taken them down where they were jammed."

"Do you consider that the park is in better condition than formerly. How about the drainage?" asked the reporter.

"The park is certainly better in every way. The trees are healthier, the grass is healthier, and the roads for riding and driving were never better. The drainage has vastly improved. There are certain local spots which still require draining from time to time, but we are always watching these points, and at once apply the remedy."

"Is the feeling about excessive tree cutting in any way well founded?" asked the reporter.

"Not at all," said Mr. Par ons. "It is curious that while on the one hand I am criticised for taking down too many trees, on the other hand I am condemned for not cutting down enough. Some of the ablest arboriculturists in the country have written to me recommending more thinning out of the trees, asserting that their beauty and growth in many cases is deplorably depreciated by the overcrowding. One or two enthusiasts have even come to me here and taken me to particular spots in the park to point this out Letters have appeared to the same effect in horticultural papers. I can only say this, that my grandfather, my father and I have been arboriculturists, and I have studied trees and their habits all my life. The longer I live the more conservative I become about cutting them down. I will sometimes look at a tree for weeks and think about it over and over again, before I decide to take it down, and even then I often let it stand a year or two longer. I never take a tree out unless I am forced to it, and my instinct and my desire is to save it every time. Every one who knows and enjoys the value of a tree cares more for it than a person who does not realize its beauties. Let the gentlemen who complain come to me, and I am confident that before they leave me I will have convinced them, from personal observation, that not only are too many trees not cut down, but that many others could be removed without disadvantage to the park. The public can rest assured that every tree taken down is removed intelligently and from necessity, and not in a wanton spirit."

Notes and Items.

A ballot will be taken at the exchange room of the Building Material Exchange on Tuesday, March 12th, at half-past two, on the question of a consolidation of that organization with the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange of this city.

The recent sale for the estate of Henrietta Lenox of the premises No. 57 5th avenue recalls to mind facts in the history of this well-known family. In 1832 Robert Lenox had been commissioned to invest for a widow some $13,000 on a mortgage. He placed it on the Wagstaff farm, running from 68th to 74th street and from 5th to 4th avenue. Much dissatisfaction was expressed at the investment, and Mr. Lenox agreed to take it himself. This he did in 1832, when foreclosure proceedings became necessary. It was bequeathed to his son James Lenox, and the value of a single lot on any part of the farm is worth as much now as the whole was fifty seven years ago.

The application of the Long Island Bridge Company for the appointment of commissioners to appraise lands on Blackwell's Island and elsewhere, which are required for piers of the proposed bridge, was denied on Thursday, March 7th, by presiding Justice Van Brunt of the Supreme Court.

The following pieces of property have been offered the Armory Board for Armory sites by the Metropolitan Real Estate Company: One on the block bounded by 27th and 28th streets, 10th and 11th avenues, for $90,000, and one between 60th and 61st streets, 9th and 10th avenues, for $140,000.

James A. Deering has offered for the same purpose the block bounded by St. Nicholas and Convent avenues, 126th and 127th streets, for $210,000; also the block bounded by St. Nicholas and Convent avenues, 127th and 128th streets, for $100,000.

There is some historical interest connected with the former of those blocks. It is the place where was fought the "Battle of Harlem Heights." It belongs at present to the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, whose convent in Manhattanville was destroyed by fire last August.

At the same meeting B. W. Anderson offered for an Armory site the block bounded by 113th and 114th streets, Lenox and 5th avenues, for $275,000.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement will hold an Executive Session on Monday, March 11th. At this meeting both the College place and the Elm street improvements will come up for consideration. The Commissioner of Public Works gave to the Board during the past week a report in favor of extending 6th avenue south to Beach street. The proposition will be discussed in some future meeting.

Mayor Grant is of the opinion that the streets and parks in the annexed district are being laid out without reference to any comprehensive plan. The only aim seems to have been the immediate advantage of the adjoining property-owners.

During the past week, at a meeting of the Armory Board, a letter was read from Col. William Seward, Jr., commanding the Ninth Regiment calling the attention of the Board to the plot of ground bounded by 112th and 113th streets and St. Nicholas and 7th avenues, as one which would be acceptable to the officers and men of his regiment.

Auctioneers and brokers interested will note that choice of the new signs on the Exchange will be auctioned off on Monday at 3 P. M.

Notice to Property-Holders.

Comptroller's Office, March 6, 1889.

STREET OPENING

119th st, bet 10th and Morningside avs.

—which was confirmed by the Supreme Court February 15, 1889, and entered on the 1st day of March, 1889, in the Record of Titles of Assessments, kept in the "Bureau for the Collection of Assessments and Arrears of Taxes and Assessments and of Water Rents," that unless the amount assessed for benefit on any person or property shall be paid on or before May 6, 1889, interest will be collected thereon at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, from March 1st. Payments to be made to the Collector of Assessments and Clerk of Arrears, between 9 A. M. and 2 P. M.

New Members.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange, held on Tuesday, the following stock members were elected: Jas. W. Raynor, Alfred E. Marling, Sinclair Oliver, Harry J. Douglas and Cyrille Carreau. The following were elected annual members: W. O. Sumner and Rufus Delafield.

PROPOSED.

R. N. Goodrich, 8th avenue and 12th street. Proposed by Morris Littman; reference, S. F. Jayne, and Thomas Monaghan, 339 East 41st street, proposed by T. C. Higgins.

Back Numbers Wanted.

Fifteen cents apiece will be paid at the office of The Record and Guide, 191 Broadway, for copies of Nos. 877, 879, 883, 887, 913 and 1035 of this paper.

Exceptional talent is often, if not always, hereditary. At a recent meeting of the "Unitarian Woman's Society," a daughter of G. W. Curtis was one of the speakers. She is a young lady of commanding presence, with a sweet, melodious, penetrating voice, great command of language and most persuasive manner. She is, indeed, a female edition in appearance and address of her silver-tongued sire.

Real Estate Department.

The auction business of the week at the Exchange has been only fair, and the parcels sold have not been very costly or of an important character. On more than one occasion the bidding was so spiritless that the impression was current that no sale was really made, but that the property had been secured by interested persons. During the next few weeks the offerings will be extremely numerous and important, and although many parcels of improved property will come under the hammer, vacant lots will be more numerous. These lots are located on both the east and west sides, with the latter in a majority. Next week twenty-eight along Madison and Park avenues will be offered, the week after forty-seven belonging to the Academy of the Sacred Heart, and over thirty forming part of the Crane estate, and still later about one hundred lots belonging to the Bloomingdale Assylum. The part of the latter to be sold embraces a block and a-half from 112th street northerly. A. H. Muller & Son will be the auctioneers. In addition to the foregoing something like thirty lots belonging to different persons will be offered next week. The reason for such a large amount of vacant property being thrown on the market may be the recent numerous purchases by builders for improvement which are shown in our "Gossip" and "Conveyances."

Business for the week opened in a quiet manner on Monday, when only two parcels were bulletined for sale. Both were foreclosures. One parcel was adjourned, and the second, embracing three five-story tenements on 9th avenue, Nos. 1743 to 1747, was sold for $70,500 to Adler & Herrman.

There was more activity on Tuesday, when about half a dozen parcels were offered under the hammer. The Salesroom was fairly attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather, and the competition for a few pieces was quite sharp. None of the parcels disposed of brought as much as $20,000.

Wednesday was an extremely busy day on 'Change. The sales were both numerous and important, and the attendance was large. The premises Nos. 165 Hudson and 48½ Laight street were not offered, having been previously disposed of at private sale for $31,000. For the factory Nos. 380 and 882 Water street $28,200 was bid by Thos. F. Magner, and for Nos. 313 to 317 Cherry and 558 to 562 Water street $50,000 was bid by J. V. Scully. Both the Water and the Cherry street properties were offered to close the copartnership of McLaughlin & Loyd. The dwelling No. 44 West 71st street was sold to Dr. Frank W. Olds for $29,250. This is less than the house was held at private sale. Only $45,000 was bid for the five-story flat on the northwest corner of 9th avenue and 99th street, size 25x96x100. The first mortgage held by the City Chamberlain was nearly $50,000, and he became the purchaser.

There was a large attendance at the Exchange on Thursday when numerous sales were held. The bidding was slow and generally spiritless, consequently several parcels were withdrawn and bid in. Among the more costly parcels offered were the following: No. 70 St. Mark's place, a three-and-a-half-story brick dwelling, size 25x97.6, which was sold to Peter Mundorff at $21,800; No. 208 West 59th street, a four-story brown stone dwelling, size 25x65, with extension, lot 100.5, which was bid in at $48,500, and two four-story dwellings on West 73d street, Nos. 259 and 261. The latter houses were built by Wm. J. Merritt, were offered under foreclosure, and they were sold to the second mortgagee for less than the amount due on the first and second mortgages.

There were no sales yesterday.

On Monday, March 11th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell five lots on the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 93d street; ten lots on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 93d street; two lots on 101st street, near 5th avenue, and eleven lots on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 94th street. This will be a peremptory sale, and the lots are all valuable for building purposes.

On Monday, March 11th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, under Supreme Court foreclosure, the three-story dwelling and plot at Nos. 82 and 84 Columbia street, near Rivington street. Also, on the same day, lots on the southeast corner of Riverside Drive, 96th and 97th streets, and a lot on the southwest corner of 8th avenue and 113th street, near Morningside Park and the elevator building at 116th street.

On Tuesday, March 12th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell ten valuable building lots, eight of which are on the southwest corner of 10th avenue and 157th street, and two, extra deep, on the southeast corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 162d street. On the same day they will sell, by order of the executors of the late Frances E. Colgate, the four-story, high-stoop, stone front house No. 36 East 36th street, and a similar house, with lease of lot, No. 11 West 50th street, both in fine residence locations.

On Tuesday, March 12th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the wide four-story dwelling at No. 140 East 15th street, title guaranteed; the five-story tenement at No. 416 West 41st street; the four-story residence at No. 68 East 83d street, title guaranteed; two farms at Kinderhook, Columbia County, N. Y., and 8⅛ lots at Flushing, L. I., by order of the executors of the late Aaron J. Vanderpoel; and the following properties, by order of the estate of Oliver Charlick: Nos. 1106 and 1108 Park avenue, New York; a corner of Herbert and North Henry streets, Brooklyn; and properties at Flushing, Newtown, Waverly Station and Medford Station, L. I., including a farm of 137 acres at Flushing.

On Wednesday, March 13th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. wil sell, by order of District No. 1 of the I. O. B. B., the four-story store and tenement and two-story building with extension at No. 101 Manhattan street and 106 Lawrence street, near the Tenth Avenue Cable road; the four-story dwelling No. 146 Waverley place, and the five-story front and rear tenements at No. 11 Cornelia street, near West 4th street.

On Thursday, March 14th, E. H. Ludlow & Co. will sell, by order of the heirs of the late Samuel F. Mott, the following valuable properties: No. 596 6th avenue, on the northeast corner of 35th street; No. 174 5th avenue, between 22d and 23d streets; No. 386 Grand street, No. 66 Chrystie street, No. 145 Clinton street, No. 233 Madison street and No. 34 Rose street, as well as the bulkhead and undivided interest in Pier 42, East River.

On Thursday, March 14th, Richard V. Harnettt & Co. will sell two tenements at Nos. 328 and 330 East 71st street; and by order of the executors the store and dwelling at No. 126 Essex street, and the private house at No. 239 West 14th street. Also, by order of the executors, the frame dwelling at No. 69 Clinton avenue, Brooklyn.

On Tuesday, March 19th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell, by order of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, forty-seven lots on 10th and Convent avenues, 130th, 131st, 132d and 133d streets. This will be a notable sale, as it will place upon the market property hitherto unapproachable for building purposes. It will be an absolute sale.

On Wednesday, March 20th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will conduct an important sale of first-class business and residence properties belonging o the estate of the late John Meeks. It is a Supreme Court partition sale, and includes the following parcels: Nos. 10 and 12 Barclay street, near Church street; Nos. 18 and 26 Vesey street, near Broadway; No. 13 Beach street, near St. John's lane; No. 19 Charles street, near Waverley place; No. 136 Madison avenue, on the northwest corner of 31st street; No. 116 East 23d street, near 4th avenue; No. 251 Church street, near Leonard street, and No. 69 Leonard street, near Church street. These are all valuable properties, and their sale will no doubt be largely attended by investors.

On Thursday, March 21st, Thomas C. Smith will sell the premises Nos. 156, 158 and 160 Hester street, with the four-story brick building thereon known as "Armory Hall," and the two three-story brick buildings Nos 108, 108½ and 110 Mott street, adjoining the Hester street parcel. At the same time Mr. Smith will also sell the two four-story brown stone tenements Nos. 321 and 323 East 80th street, each 25x60x102.2 feet. The owner of the above parcels is the famous Billy McGlory.

On Thursday, March 21st, Thomas A. Kerrigan will sell, at the auction rooms, No. 37 Willoughby street, Brooklyn, a number of improved and unimproved properties in that city, situate on Montague, Jay, Hicks, Union, Sackett, Court, Adelphi, 13th, Butler and Pacific streets; Myrtle, Vanderbilt, Tompkins, New York, Nostrand, Pacific, Bedford and Atlantic avenues, and Park place. This will be an important sale of Brooklyn realty and includes many good properties.

On Thursday, March 21st, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the following desirable properties belonging to the estate of the Brainerd Quarry Company: Nos. 124, 130 and 132 East 76th street; the southwest corner of Park avenue and 86th street; the southeast corner of Park avenue and 187th street—"The Park Hill," "The Oriental" and "The Occidental;" and No. 432 East 92d street, New York; also a number of Brooklyn properties on Decatur, Hancock, Carroll, Monroe, President, 5th, 6th and 10th streets, and Franklin and St. Mark's avenues.

On Thursday, March 21st, Thomas C. Smith will offer at auction the four-story brick building with plot, at Nos. 156 to 160 Hester street; the two three-story buildings at Nos. 108, 108½ and 110 Mott street; and the four-story brown stone front tenements at Nos. 321 and 323 East 80th street.

Audley J. Mooney, of No. 52 Broadway, offers to lease, on a short or long term, a plot of seven lots on West 27th and West 28th streets, 100 feet east of 11th avenue, with office, foundry and stable building. This is the property lately owned by the Colwell Iron Works. Fuller particulars can be had of Mr. Mooney.

Out Among the Builders.

An enormous office building, seventeen stories in height and covering nearly an acre of ground, is proposed for the lower end of Broadway. Negotiations have been pending for a long time past for the purchase of Nos. 5, 7, 9 and 11 Broadway, and Nos. 5, 7, 9 and 11 Greenwich street, and during the coming week they are likely to be consummated. About six months ago plans were prepared by a well-known architect in order to show what might be done with the property. These plans called for a mammoth building seventeen stories high and containing 950 sets of offices. Every known improvement and convenience was to be made use of, and the cost of its erection would be not far from $2,250,000. The new building would have a frontage on Broadway of 162 feet 10 inches, and a depth, running through to Greenwich street, of about 200 feet. The intending purchasers are said to be a syndicate composed of foreign and western capitalists, and we learn on good authority that $1,225,000 has been offered and refused for this property within a fortnight, but that a price is likely to be agreed upon within a few days and the sale effected.

A handsome fire-proof theatre, to be called the West End, is to be built by Mr. A. H. Wood on the seven lots purchased by him from "Maggie Mitchell," the well-known actress. The property has a frontage of 100.11 feet on 7th avenue and 175 feet on the street. The building will cover the entire property, and the auditorium will seat about 1,700 people. The fronts will be attractive, and the material used will be of brick, stone and iron. There will be a tower on the corner, which will be lighted by electricity. Parlors, reception, reading, smoking and retiring rooms will be provided, with other conveniences. The cost is estimated at $250,000. Architect Geo. H. Griebel is preparing the plans. Excavations are now in progress, and the theatre is to be opened in October. This improvement was referred to in our last.

De Lemos & Cordes have plans for a six-story semi-fire-proof office building, 52x32, which Frank Raub will erect on the southeast corner of Fulton and Nassau streets. The first story will be of granite, and above brick and terra cotta will be used. Mr. Raub has leased the property from Mrs. Dorothea Wolff for a term of forty-two years. The first floor will be occupied by a first-class café and bar. The cost will be about $75,000.

Charles A. Fuller is having plans prepared for two elegant apartment houses to be erected on the westerly side of 9th avenue, between 81st and 82d streets. They will each cover about five lots, and, it is said, be of the same character as the well-known "Dakota." E. L. Angell is the architect.

Chas. T. Mott has plans for five four-story brick and stone dwellings, which Dr. F. E. Robinson will erect on the northwest corner of 72d street and West End avenue. These houses are to be first-class in every respect and will be finished in hard woods. They will vary in size and will have a total frontage of 100 feet. Two others will be built adjoining, for which plans were filed a year ago. The cost has not yet been estimated.

The Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. have bought the northeast corner of William and Beaver streets, 47.9x78.9x37.10x80.4. The supposition is that they intend to build there, but the officers of the company say that nothing has as yet been decided upon.

David T. Kennedy intends to build five four-story, high stoop, brick and stone front houses on the north side of 74th street, commencing 180 feet west of 8th avenue. They will have frontages of 22, 20 and 19.6 feet, with a uniform depth of 56 feet, exclusive of 20-foot two-story and basement extensions. They will have hardwood trim, electrical work and other modern improvements, and will cost $100,000. D. Burgess is preparing the plans.

The J. M. Horton Ice Cream Company will build two office and business structures, one of six stories and one of five, on the lot recently purchased by them on the south side of 125th street and the north side of 124th street, running through, commencing 224 feet east of 7th avenue. The building on the 125th street front will be five stories high and 26x115 in size, and that on 124th street six stories high and 26x67 in size. The former will be 115 feet high. Passenger elevator, steam heat and other improvements will be provided, and the fronts will be of brick, stone and iron. Cleverdon & Putzel are the architects. The cost has not yet been estimated.

F. Aldhous intends to build six first-class four-story high stoop residences on a plot of 119 feet on the south side of 75th street, 281 feet west of 9th avenue, similar to these now being built by him in the rear on 74th street. They will be commenced in three or four weeks, and will cost about $120,000. The architect will be J. C. Burne.

Ralph S. Townsend is preparing sketches for a new club house to be erected by the Riverside Club on the Boulevard, not far from 104th street. The building will be four stories high and 50x60 and 96 in size. It will have a handsome front and will have all the necessary accommodations to make it a first-class modern club house. The members met a few evenings ago, and $15,000 was subscribed on the spot toward the project. The club is at present quartered in the Lawrence Homestead on 104th street, east of 9th avenue. The members include Messrs. H. B. Fisher, Richard Lamb, Geo. H. Mead, W. C. Rogers, Geo. H. Schultz, R. S. Townsend, Albert Flake, Byron S. Cotes, Walter Lawrence and R. E. Darling. The Homestead is leased till May, 1890.

De Lemos & Cordes are preparing plans for a six-story warehouse, 23.6x82.11, with cellar and sub-cellar, which Wm. Zinsser & Co. will build at No. 195 William street. The front will be of brick and cut stone. The cost has not been estimated.

Francis J. Schnugg will shortly commence the erection of eight three-story high stoop houses on the north side of 95th street, commencing 27 feet west of Lexington avenue. Six will be 17x52 each, one 17.6x52 and one 18x52. They will have electrical work, hard wood trim, etc., and will cost about $84,000. The fronts will be of buff brick and stone. Plans are being prepared by Frank Wennemer. The latter also has plans for a five-story brick and stone front flat, 27x96.8½, to be built by Mr. Schnugg on the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and 95th street, at a cost of $25,000. It will have two families per floor and will contain improvements.

James A. Frame is about to build eight five-story brick and stone flats on the easterly side of 9th avenue, extending from 100th to 101st street.

James Higgins will erect five five-story flats on the northwest corner of Second avenue and 87th street on a plot 100.8x125. They will be of brick and stone and contain stores.

R. R. Davis has the plans for five five-story brick and stone flats to be erected on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 116th street. Four will face on the avenue and one on the street. The corner house will contain a store. Owner and builder, John H. Wellwood.

Robert B. Baird intends to build two handsome 25-foot residences on the south side of 103d street, commencing 150 feet east of Riverside Drive.

Rose & Stone have prepared plans for a first-class six-story apartment house, 100x127.6, which Joseph E. Vandewater will build on the northeast corner of 75th street and 10th avenue at a cost of about $300,000. The front will be of stone in the first two stories, with brick and stone trimmings above, and will be in the Italian Renaissance style. The halls are to be fire-proof and will have tiled floors and marble wainscoting. The finish throughout is to be in cabinet style. Each floor will have six suites of eight and nine rooms each, with private bath. A large café will be fitted up upon the corner of the first floor. Three elevators will be used, with steam heat, electric lights and every improvement.

Dr. Alfred Loomis, President of the Academy of Medicine, is negotiating on behalf of the society for the purchase of Nos. 17, 19, 21 and 23 West 43d street, the property now occupied by the stables of the Fifth Avenue Stage Line. It is proposed to erect a handsome building, which will contain a fire-proof library room.

J. C. Burne has the plans on the boards for two five-story brick, brown stone and terra cotta front flats, to be built by Diederich Tragman on the north side of 124th street, 242.10 feet east of the present line of 6th avenue. They will each be 27.4x60 in size, exclusive of a 27x21 extension, and will have steam heat and other improvements. Total cost, $40,000.

J. W. Cole has plans for a five-story tenement and store, 25x95.7, to be built on the northeast corner of 11th avenue and 26th street by Henry Meinken.

Michael Reilly will improve three lots on the east side of 8th avenue, 24.7 feet south of 112th street.

Howard D. Hamm will probably improve Nos. 159 and 161 East 126th street.

F. A. Thurston will probably improve twelve lots on the south side of 133d street, commencing 100 feet west of 7th avenue.

The work of demolition has been commenced at 22d street and 6th avenue preparatory to the erection of a mammoth store by Ehrich Brothers. Mention of this improvement was made in previous issues.

Dr. Wm. E. Diller is about to improve four lots on the southeast corner of 7th avenue and 119th street, probably by the erection of first-class flats.

John McIntyre is drawing plans for a five-story tenement, 25x85, to be built for Wm. and Delia Quinn at No. 205 East 43d street.

Geo. M. Walgrove has plans for four five-story tenements, 25x63.6, with 18.10x11.6 extensions, to be built on the north side of 134th street, 21 feet east of St. Nicholas avenue, for W. Ramsey.

W. Graul has plans for two five-story tenements, 25x89 each, to be built by Chr. Lochmann at Nos. 140 and 142 Madison street, and for a similar building, 26x89, to be built by Isaac Simon at No. 217 Madison street.

Thom & Wilson are drawing plans for a five-story tenement and store, 25.2x87.9, to be built at No. 691 8th avenue by Chas. Kuster.

Schneider & Herter have plans for two five-story brick, stone and terra cotta apartment houses, 32.7x106 and 32.7x101, to be built by Samuel Aronson at Nos. 362, 364 and 366 Broome street. Four families will be provided for on each floor. Each house will cost about $29,000. Also for a seven-story, brick and stone factory, 38x42.4, which Samuel Raphael will build on the southeast corner of Henry and Birmingham streets. A store will be upon the first floor and lofts above. Cost, $17,000. Also for a six-story brick factory, 20x40, which Reuben Cohn will build in the rear of No. 180 Stanton street. Some alterations are to be made in the house in front and stores to be fitted up in the first floor and basement. Cost, $7,000.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—The congregation of the St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church on 8th street is going to build a four-story and basement brick and brown stone rectory, in connection with the church, at a cost of $30,000. The size will be about 50x60, and the architects are G. W. La Baw & Son.

NEWARK, N. J.—The activity exhibited by the builders during the month of January this year has been continued into February. In the twenty-eight days of that month there have been the plans of eighty-nine structures filed in the office of the Building Department, against sixty-seven during the same month in 1888 and fifty in 1887. Most of them are two and three-story frame residences, built, not for speculation, but with the evident purpose of occupation by the owner. In only a few cases has there been more than one house projected by the same man, showing clearly the healthy character of the movement. Acco ding to Mr. Townsend, the Building Inspector, the peculiarity of the present fashion in houses is bay windows. Two or three years ago nothing was so popular as mansard roofs, whereas at present such an addition to a house is a positive hindrance to its sale.

The following is a list of the plans filed in the Building Inspector's office since the first of the month: Joseph Goetz, No. 48 Orange st, one 2-sty brick stable, 32x48.6, with extension; Gustave Luchenauer, South 11th st, one 2½-sty frame dwell'g, 22x38; Mayor and Common Council of Newark, Springfield av and Hunderton st, one 2-sty brick engine house and stable, 34x37, with extension; Peter O'Neill, No. 76 Stone st, one 3-sty frame dwell'g, 22x32; John Mellen, cor Central av and 1st st, one 2-sty frame store and dwell'g, 26x48; H. H. Thompson & Co., No. 305 Orange st, one 1-sty frame stable, 13x16; Denis Cavanagh, No. 321 Elm st, one 3½-sty frame dwell'g, 21x38, with extension; P. G. Van Dyke, n w cor 1st av and 4th st, three 2-sty frame dwell'gs, 16.8x32; M. J. Blair, Ellwood, cor Woodside av, one 2½-sty frame dwell'g, 24.6x7; George Lang, No. 62 South Orange st, one 2-sty brick dwell'g, 24.6x26; Wm. B. Waddington, No. 35 Ann st, one 2-sty frame dwell'g, 21x36; S. de Jonge, No. 172 William st, one 3-sty frame dwell'g, 20x23; T. J. Lyons, Nos. 24, 26 and 28 Hecker st, three 2-sty frame dwell'gs, 21x40; Alex. Jardin, No. 262 8th av, one 2-sty frame dwell'g, 21x38; Gustave Schouswülf, No. 82 Richmond av, one 3-sty frame dwell'g and store, 32x50; John Walter, No. 36 6th av, one 2-sty frame dwell'g, 21x30, with extension.

NORTHPORT, L. I.—The E. D. Thompson Publishing Co. will build a two-story and basement publishing house, with a fire-proof annex for manuscripts and electro plates. It will be 40x80 in size, and will cost $20,000. F. T. Camp is drawing the plans.

PATERSON, N. J.—J. P. Hardenbergh, Jr., of New York, has plans for some extensive alterations which are to be made to the Free Library building at this place.

ORANGE, N. J.—Bulkeley & Bannister, of New York, are drawing plans for a two-story and attic frame cottage, 20x42, to be built for James Stewart. Cost, $3,500.

RAMSAY, BERGEN COUNTY, N. J.—G. W. La Baw & Son have plans for the erection of a two-story and attic frame residence for John Smith, size 36x60, to cost $8,000.

ROSELLE, N. J.—The Mansion House, which was burned not long ago, is to be rebuilt this season by P. Sanford Ross, of Jersey City.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, PA.—A new pavilion is to be built to St. Luke's Hospital, from plans by D. & J. Jardine. It will be 30x160 in size.

TOLEDO, O.—F. Carles Merry, of New York, will prepare plans for an artistic brick stable and carriage house, 43.6x54, with circular tower containing apartments for groom. The building will be erected by S. R. Backus. Cost, $4,000.

WESTCHESTER, N. Y.—J. C. Cooley is soon to make extensive additions to his frame residence. F. Carles Merry will draw the plans.

YONKERS, N. Y.—Hays & Greenhalgh, the coal dealers, have purchased from Messrs. Maclay & Davies, of New York, their dock at the foot of Main street. It covers 130x225 feet, and the price paid was $30,000. The new owners will convert it into a coal dock.

A New West Side Station.

The committee appointed by a number of west side property-owners to call on the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company to urge the erection of stations at 66th street and 9th avenue, were received by Vice-President Gallaway at the offices of the company, on Wednesday afternoon. The gentlemen present were Messrs. Francis Crawford, M. Giblin, Wm. Russel, F. R. Houghton, John C. Shaw and Charles E. Schuyler.

Mr. Gallaway, in replying, said: "Stations will be placed at 66th street and 9th avenue, but how soon I cannot say, as it is a question of the expense, which will be about $25,000. The suits for damages by property-owners will prevent us from doing it at once. The matter will be referred to the expense committee of the board, which meets on Tuesday next."

The stations, when built, will benefit property between 63d and 68th streets, and accelerate building between those boundaries.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Hall of the Board of Education until 4 o'clock on Tuesday, March 19th, by the School Trustees of the 12th Ward, for erecting a temporary building for the use of Grammar School No. 46, on 155th street, west of 10th avenue. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the Superintendent of School Buildings.

Bids will be received by the Department of Public Parks until 11 o'clock A. M. on Wednesday, March 20th, for each of the following mentioned works: For constructing sewers and appurtenances in St. Ann's avenue, between 135th and 136th streets, between 144th and 146th streets, and between 149th street and Port Morris Branch Railroad; for furnishing and delivering, where required, broken trap-rock stone, trap-rock screenings and screened gravel, of quality known as "Roa Hook gravel," along certain roads, avenues and streets in the 23d and 24th Wards in the City of New York; for furnishing and delivering, where required, broken North River granite and granite screenings along certain roads, avenues and streets in the 23d and 24th Wards in the City of New York; for furnishing and delivering sod, where required, on the Central and city parks.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Quite a change has come to the market since our last, the resumption of navigation on the Hudson and the prompt appearance of additional supplies introducing a feature of no inconsiderable importance No one had calculated upon arrivals from Haverstraw at so early a date, and it is evident that receivers are not over well pleased with the development. The chances for ultimate consumption cannot be said to have abated in any way, and in many localities digging out and other preparations are already in progress, as previously noted; but as now explained, so many jobs have been pushed forward toward completion during the open winter, that there is now very much less spring work to exhaust supplies than usual, and there is a temporary lull in the force of necessity for handling stock. Quick to discover and utilize this, buyers are standing off and negotiating in an indifferent manner that creates a disagreeable and, on the whole, rather tame market. Briefly, while the chances for consumption are thought to be just about as good as ever to those who wait long enough, the clerk of the weather has been a little too previous with his "ethereal mildness, gentle spring," and opened the way for supplies before the market was ready to promptly take care of them. At the present writing the line of value is somewhat uncertain all around. For the Haverstraws $8.50 has been asked, but it looks as though sales would be difficult at better than $8.00@8.25 per M, with stock from other localities about in proportion, though it is best to accept all quotations as nominal, awaiting a more clearly defined basis. Pales are about as usual, not very plenty, and pretty steady if any demand happens to prevail, but easing off in tone the moment buyers disappear, even though the offering be limited.

LATH.—With the exception of showing $2.50 per M as a rate established by actual sales, there has been little or nothing really new on the market since our last. Arrivals up to present writing have been fair, and seemed to find a demand without much difficulty, buyers making no special objection to cost, and a feeling prevailing that they would pay it again to some extent. The general tendency of demand, however, is toward coatious methods, and should supplies happen to run a little larger than expected it might be difficult to support the position.

LIME.—Up to the present writing the arrivals, as they come to hand, have been disposed of without much difficulty, and the tone of the market maintained in fair, general shape, while a reasonably good demand may still be found. It looks, however, as though some buyers were getting pretty well stocked up, and this, with an idea that manufacturers have been turning out and shipping considerable stock, raises a slight doubt as to the future. Rumors are current of quite a large amount afloat from St. John.

HARDWARE.—General demand is very fair and increasing, with reports upon the condition of the market as a rule cheerful. Anticipations in regard to a good proportion of the business running to builders' hardware have in a measure already been realized and the prospects good for a continuation. Prices are as a rule firm, and while few changes occur on general lists there has of late been an advance of from 10 to 25 per cent in Screws, with discounts at 50 per cent. on Flat Head Iron, 40 per cent. on Round Head do., 45 per cent. Flat Head Brass, 35 per cent. Round Head do., 45 per cent. Flat Head Bronze Metal, and 35 per cent. on Round Head do.

LUMBER.—Without taking into account simple, momentary seasonable influences calculated to disappoint over-sanguine operators, and looking at the market from a general and broad standpoint, the conditions continue cheerful and promising Consumption has exhausted quite a liberal quantity of stock since the commencement of the year, and that, in conjunction with the free shipments, as our figures have shown, creates a void in the accumulation that dealers are seeking to make good. As a rule, there is not much inclination among the local line of buyers to accept the idea of a shortage in supplies during the coming season at any great boom in values, but a great many know that they must get possession of some stock at the earliest possible moment in order to keep in line with competitors, and they are gradually placing orders for nearly all leading descriptions of stock where they can do so without paying too much money for attention to their wants. Sellers seem a little uncertain how to meet the present conditions. They, of course, have a degree of advantage as matters stand, but there is also evidence that longing eyes are upon this market from many sections, especially interior, and the fear is that should prices appear very attractive there might be too much competition, and the favorable elements in many cases not only neutralized but turned somewhat in buyers' favor.

Eastern Spruce has a market of apparently good, general form, yet not entirely free from elements of uncertainty. It is no uncommon occurrence to hear claims of an entire absence of stock afloat, and within a very short period to discover that cargoes have come to hand "unexpectedly," which, of course, has more or less influence upon the faith of buyers; but receivers still claim that if demand is allowed to develop to full extent of natural wants now existing there will be no trouble in placing all the supply likely to come forward before the new season commences, and in some cases it is believed that enforced demand will prove fully equal to the offering. The entertainment of such views, of course, leads to much firmness in the matter of valuation on all grades.

Hemlock remains in a generally firm condition, and it is reported that further season contracts have been made upon a full basis of valuation. Present indications seem to show that the situation is under very good control, and that producers generally are quite determined in their intention to stand out for all existing advantages, and probably insist upon still further gains should circumstances seem to warrant it. For prompt sale at extreme rates, boards seem to be the best stock that can be sent forward at the moment.

White Pine is retaining a pretty good market, so far as present conditions are concerned. A dealer with a well assorted or more than fairly full accumulation on hand is an exception, while many are running pretty low, and hence there is a chance for sellers to do quite a little canvassing, with reasonable prospect of placing supplies to some extent. Already, however, the signs are that the scent of improving trade has been taken up by a larger number of sellers, and while a pretty steady tone is thus far maintained and even a slightly advancing tendency indicated, it is desirable that the market should be kept free from urgent competition on all grades. White Pine is unquestionably a good standard wood, but by no means in the independent position it was five or six years ago.

Yellow Pine is finding good general attention, and between the influence of the natural demand and the control exercised over the supply and its distribution, there does not seem to be much to complain of, especially as the line of valuation is ranging so much better than last season. A great many mills, both on the Atlantic and Gulf, are said to be well supplied with export orders, and that of itself is a strengthening factor irrespective of the favor shown this class of wood by a wide circle of home consumers.

Carolina Pine continues in very good favor, and in addition to a fair run of regular orders it is not uncommon to hear of some pretty good-sized special contracts making. Full former rates are in all cases claimed, but no advance, and the indications are the market is to be handled in a somewhat conservative manner this season. There will probably be too many sellers in the field to warrant attempts at buoyancy.

Hardwoods undergo but little change. There is a fair general demand, the season of the year considered, and the prospects favor an increase in the movement for leading descriptions, with a steady tone on values, but apparently no advance of importance is expected unless it be upon poplar and cherry, the one owing to control exercised by manufacturers and the other as a result of actual scarcity. For walnut there is no better promise than heretofore, and about the main hope for it is on the export outlet, either in the log or cut as it is salable on the "other side." in both forms provided proper care is taken to adjust shipments to the wants of the foreign market. Mahogany also promises well on all natural outlets.

Shingles continue about steady, as there is nothing to seriously disturb the market at this season of the year. Supplies are fair in quantity and assortment, and the demand now and then brings to the surface a few export orders that serve to keep business in motion.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

We take the following from Northwestern Lumberman:

A Pacific Coast paper makes the following representations regarding the timber growing in the Astoria, Ore., region. About one-third is fir, or "Oregon pine," yielding about 50,000 feet to the acre, and resembling closely in grain and strength the sap pine of North Carolina. Spruce is the next most common timber, making up nearly one-third. It is mainly in demand for ship lining and box making, somewhat resembling white pine. The trees grow about 200 feet high. About one-fifth of the timber is hemlock, which affords superior bark, and is now being sawed to some extent, being also used for cordwood and charcoal making. Cedar, vine-maple and alder are found in considerable quantities. There is a pulp mill on Young's River.

In the Lumberman of this week are concluded the figures which tell the tale of the output of lumber of the white pine mills for 1888. It is the banner year, the figures standing at 8,388,716,460 feet. The record has not been broken before since 1884, when the production was 7,935,033,054 feet. It will thus be seen that the excess over any previous year is 453,683,406 feet. The result of the sawing season of 1888 will no doubt be a surprise to many. It ought certainly to mildly surprise the wise-acres, who have asserted time and time again in past years that the white pine cut had reached its maximum size. This opinion was reached for the reason, it was stated, that the Northwest was fast becoming denuded of its white pine timber. The outcome of such reasoning is a good example of how fallacy can be conceived and perpetuated. As yet there is no "rapid decline" discernible in the white pine manufacturing industry.

The railroad and interior mills of Michigan, forming one of the great divisions, as mapped out by the Lumberman, show a falling off as compared with 1886 and 1887, and it is hardly possible that the cut along these roads will ever again reach that of 1882, when it was nearly a billion feet. Many of the operators along these lines have cut off their timber and sold or removed their mills. As much as has been said about the decline of manufacture in the Saginaw valley, the output is larger than it has been since 1884, and the total production of the Saginaw district, which includes the Saginaw valley and the Lake Huron shore, is the largest on record. It is generally acknowledged, however, that the industry in the valley has reached its height. Some of the Michigan manufacturers have gone South; others have followed Editor Greeley's advice and gone West, a portion of them stopping in Wisconsin and Minnesota, others seeking investments on the Pacific coast.

Whether 1888 will remain the banner year will depend entirely on the demand for white pine lumber. Should the demand warrant it, there is plenty of timber and mill capacity, and 1888 may be forced to step down from the head of the class. A reasonable view, however, to take of it is that, owing to the competition that will come from the South and West, the figures representing the cut of 1888 will remain the largest in the history of the white pine industry of the Northwest.

And reporting the Chicago yard trade the Lumberman says:

The question of prices, always a matter of special interest, is particularly so just now. Competition with the North in this State is disturbing the basis somewhat. Traveling salesmen feel obliged to meet prices made by the Wisconsin men, and that causes prices at interior points to be relatively weaker than in this market. In transactions between yards, dealers are trying to maintain prices that were insisted on all winter, namely $12 for piece stuff, $14 for common boards and $15 for fencing. The association list is 50 cents higher than the prices named, but selling prices seldom go beyond them. In a general way it can be said that a fair degree of firmness prevails in the yards here, while there is some cutting on the road. How far this cutting will go will depend on the shape affairs will take when the spring trade shall be fairly developed.

There are continued repetitions of the statement that short piece stuff is in meagre supply. Reduced to fact, such reports mean that 2x4 and 2x12 is in demand, while the supply is not large, and owners of such stock are holding for firm prices. Some lumber of the size named is selling for $12.50 when it is called for as a separate sort, but it goes into inclusive bills at $12.

Common 12-inch 12-foot boards are relatively in short supply, and sell at top figures as quoted in the list. No. 2, 12-inch short boards are also in request. The box factories are gnawing away at all-width No. 2 boards, and they are gradually diminishing in supply. There is a good demand for fencing, and such lumber is all right.

The local requirement is taking care of large amounts of long joists, 22-foot being in especial request, with no great resource to draw upon. Sidewalks are calling for large quantities of thick stuff, and a few yards are cutting up coarse joists to meet the demand.

The call for good lumber is reported fair, with prices obtainable that yield a better profit than last year. Stocks are not considered as large as last winter. There is a fair movement of siding Eastward, while the strips to make it of are in short supply here and at Northern points.

The Timberman of Chicago says:

Everything tends to make the loggers jubilant and confident that the cut of the present year will equal that of ordinary logging years. Since the good weather began, it has continued uninterruptedly, and for the last week or two has been even better than the few weeks previous. The ground has frozen to a good depth, and there is no danger of an early breaking up at the present time. It will require very warm rains to bring the frost out in three weeks. The prospects are still good for another month of winter yet. The reports from the woods are very encouraging, but not many have been sent in. The men are too busy to think of anything outside of the camps.

There has been much talk about the chance of there not being enough logs harvested this season to meet the demands of the trade. The experience of the Timberman in obtaining the views of competent individuals stirred up a lot of diverse opinions. Dealers who must buy confidently predict a full supply. Dealers who must sell as confidently insist upon a short crop and higher prices. It was ever thus, and there is no attempt to falsify either, but "the wish is father to the thought."

At Tonawanda, dealers are preparing to receive a vast amount of pine, more than came during 1888, and as most of the dealers there are interested in or own entire the Western business from which the stock is supplied, it is reasonable to suppose that they are pretty well informed as to what they may expect. At other points in the East about the same condition of affairs obtains.

Stocks of lumber are melting rapidly away, even in such weather as has prevailed during the past week. At points where stock seemed piled higher than was ever known before, when the season closed, the greatest complaint is being made. Although an uncommon amount of common lumber was manufactured at the river markets during 1888, the bottoms of piles are being reached. In fact, all the Western markets are thrashing round among each other looking for what they need for immediate shipment. There is at the same time more lumber on hand, perhaps, than is usual for the time of year, but dealers have reason to believe that the spring trade will be very heavy, so they are buying all the staple stock that is for sale; but with the exception of the shortage spoken of in common lumber, this trading is largely speculative.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

The prospect for an early break-up of logging operations have not for the last two weeks been very alarming. If the first two weeks of March will but continue the conditions of the last two of February the crop of logs for this season will not only not be short, but will in many places be large. The rapid movement of logs to the streams which has been witnessed in these latter days has provoked very general comment from those not unaccustomed to large things. Those who were logging on contract knew that their bread and butter depended upon it. They have accordingly made the very most of the propitious weather and circumstances in which they have found themselves since February 1st. Should there not be another log hauled, however, there would be no great hardship felt in the lumber market. In fact, the sentiment expressed in January that a short crop would be desirable is still entertained, and not a few manufacturers, some from selfish and some from conscientious motives, would not be sorry to see the logging season close with the beginning of March.

CANADA.

The Toronto Monetary Times says:

There can be very little doubt that the export duty on saw logs was imposed under a misapprehension of the facts. It is now made plain that Canada imports far more logs than she exports, and the lumberers are besieging the government to secure repeal. Some of the lumberers who, a short time since, asked an increase of the duty now join in demanding its removal. So far the Americans have not retaliated, but they are apparently on the point of doing so, and should that happen our lumbermen will get their imported logs under difficulties which they have not yet had to encounter. The Lumbermen's Association is an unit in asking for a removal of the duties, though there are other people who take the opposite view, and seem to fancy that logs may be made plentiful by a duty which will put a difficulty in the way of their exportation. The facts are against them; in the face of the duty, we export a much less quantity of logs than we import. What the government will do in the premises has not been indicated, though they will be very apt to find justice on the side of the most powerful legions.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

The pitch pine trade has been rather quiet lately, owing to the high freights, which have greatly checked business. The only vessels we can hear of now on their way to this market are the Alsylva with sawn timber and deals for Messrs. Bryant, Powis & Bryant, which left Pensacola on the 18th of January, and the Caris, with a cargo of deals, which has been at sea since the 4th of last month. These, we believe, are the only two pitch pine cargoes now afloat bound to London.

There is a very good market just now for Southern deals, the stocks on this side being pretty well cleared, and the few deals in the docks now left in first hands are mostly stowage lots. Prices have ruled firm at £13 to £13 10s. per standard, though some lines have been placed at £14. Sawn timber of good average is fetching 77s. 6d. per load, but there is not very much in the price, considering at present the cargo price for 35 ft. timber is quoted at 65s. and 66s. c. i. f., which would stand in about 70s. rafted.

American Black Walnut.—In this there is a fairly good trade doing at fully maintained rates. By private contract we hear of sales having been made but at what seems to have been full prices.

American Whitewood.—The inquiries for this is increasing and future prospects are considered encouraging, as neither dealers nor consumers hold much stock.

American Oak.—Logs are not much inquired for, but in board stuff a rather large trade is being done. The turnover is getting more extensive with a prospect of better prices.

NAILS.—Generally the movement is fair with an apparent tendency to increase and reports are in accord. Operators, however, with a great deal of solid experience during the past two years to draw upon, are not inclined to be over-sanguine over chances for coming improvement but prefer to utilize present elements to the best advantage. We quote at $1.80@1.90 for car lots and $1.90@2.00 per keg for lots from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The market as a whole remains in very good form with operators generally speaking quite confidently over the situation. The outlet varies somewhat occasionally both in size and location, but there is a reasonably full aggregate already shown on the weekly booking of orders, with indications of an increase to follow in the natural course of affairs. Offerings are fair in quality and will permit of any ordinary selection, though as a rule not until buyers have consented to pay full rates. Linseed Oil in very good average demand and steady at 56@57c. for Western and 58@59c. for City. Spirits Turpentine on an increasing demand, and light stocks has further advanced in value and closes strong at 52@53c. according to quantity, delivery, etc.

PLASTER PARIS.—The strong indications on the market for Calcined, noted at the commencement of the year, are being realized, and there is a gradual stiffening of the tone. Demand has been good from all quarters, the stock of rock is running down rapidly, with an excellent call for fertilizing purposes to help, and sellers have all the advantage. Still, it is considered rather poor policy to force matters, as further additions to value might have the effect to divert trade and the restoration process would probably be difficult. The chances are that new supplies of lump will be late, as beside the scarcity of vessels there is the necessity for pumping out the mines which have become a feature in place of the old method of quarrying.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business has no unusual animation and rarely extends beyond the limits of ordinary trade wants, but supply is under control and steadily held. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it is given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The lien against us by Jos. Walker is unjust. He delayed us for six weeks, then left the work for us to complete, refusing to allow us for it.

KELLY & ROBERTS.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The mechanic's lien filed on the 27th of February and mentioned in your edition of the 2d instant, by one Thos. R. Sheffield agt Edward Early and Frederick Robinson for $2,100 is now being vacated by the filing of a bond, notice having been given that the sureties will justify. The facts relating to this lien are as follows: The claimant made a contract with the builder, Fred'k Robinson, to furnish and do all the iron work in the buildings corner of 10th avenue and 13th street, according to the plans and specifications, for $3,500. One-half of the material and labor has not yet been furnished and the claimant has already been paid over $1,700 in cash, and the builder has personally furnished over $250 worth of material and labor. There will be only $1,550 due the claimant when the work is completed, and there is over $2,000 worth of material and labor yet to be furnished.

VOL. XLIII. MARCH 16, 1889. No. 1,096

President Harrison ought to call an extra session of Congress, to convene not later than May 15th next. The business of the country will get into a tangle unless Congress acts judiciously in dealing with the surplus and finances. Of course a tariff discussion would be inevitable, and would occasion more or less disturbance. But if Congress met in May it ought to appropriate the surplus money in the Treasury for needed improvements—that is to say, the money now unused in the Treasury should be devoted to river and harbor improvements, sea-coast defenses, and the rehabilitation of our merchant marine, as set forth in the President's inaugural. All this could be done before midsummer. A recess could then be taken until October 1st, when the tariff might be taken up and that important matter settled before the holidays. This programme would dispose of the surplus in a way that would stimulate the business of the country. The tariff debate would not then be so much a cause of disturbance. The appointment of office-seekers is something there need be no hurry about.

We learn that among the last official acts of ex-Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild was to close the purchase of a plot of ground on the west side of the city, on West street, a short distance above 11th street. The exact location, price, and the name of the broker conducting the negotiation, are all within our knowledge, but we withhold them for the present, as we are further informed that Secretary Windom has directed that no further steps be taken in the matter for the present.

The stock market has been dull and depressed during the week; indeed, there seems to be a cloud hanging over Wall street. There is fear that the great copper syndicate may yet cause disaster; that some catastrophe may occur in New England, or that unexpected weakness may be developed among the Grangers. Then, the administration has not as yet given any indication as to its financial policy. Still, there is some favorable features in the situation—money is easy, we are shipping a great deal of corn and provisions, and have a great deal of wheat to send abroad, for which we will get from ten to fifteen cents a bushel more that we received last year. We are not shipping any gold as yet, which is surprising in view of the heavy balance of trade against us. This shows that European capitalists are still investing their money in the United States. The real estate market shows more signs of life and strength than do any of the other great marts of trade.

The atmosphere of St. Louis tends to loosen the tongues and force an expression of the rea opinion from railroad magnates. It was in that region that the late Wm. H. Vanderbilt expressed a rather contemptuous opinion of the people in a phrase which has passed into a proverb. Something over a year ago Chauncey M. Depew unbosomed himself to a St. Louis reporter in a way that created a small panic in Wall street. He foretold the rate wars and the railroad depression which was to come from the paralleling and overbuilding of the Western roads. His remarks had such a serious effect on stock values that he tried to explain away his forecasts; but the latter were short of the truth, and a republication of that interview would show that Mr. Depew would make an admirable contributor to our "Prophetic Department." And now Jay Gould has been talking in a most astonishingly candid way. It is a notable fact that for the last fifteen years Mr. Gould has always talked bullish. He has had securities to sell, and he was careful not to injure the market by any gruesome utterances. But in his last interview he admits that the railroad situation in the West has not been in as bad a condition for thirty years. There has been unseasonable and unreasonable overbuilding. Then Texas is one of the worst States in the Union in which to run railroads, as it has to depend on cotton and cattle, and has very few manufactures. This is suprisingly frank. Can it be that the tide has turned, and that Mr. Gould thinks the time has come to buy back Missouri-Pacific? He certainly contemplates an alliance with Richmond Terminal, which will give him splendid trans-continental roads.

The new park bill drawn by Corporation Counsel Beekman is not the extremely objectionable measure that the Ives bill was, for which it is a substitute. Its provisions are not of the sweeping unlimited "do-as-you-please" character which made the former bill both unwise and dangerous. The Park Commissioners, according to the new measure, are to have maps made showing exactly what changes they deem advisable in the park boundaries, and these having received the approval of the Sinking Fund Commissioners are to be publicly exhibited, and, after criticisms have been considered, submitted to the Legislature for final approval. If any action of the kind were really needed, a bill like this one might be acceptable; but what most people cannot see is that there is to-day any urgency to "rectify" boundaries or touch the new parks at all. It is, of course, a good thing for the city to have a quick eye for "irregularities," but when they exist only in park boundaries the necessity for hasty action is not apparent. The people yet have not seen the new parks and next year or the year after, or at a future day even more distant, we can all approach the subject of boundaries so much more intelligently than at present. The city will then have grown a little larger than it is to-day, and perhaps the exact place which these new public playgrounds are to take in the life of the city will be more clearly discernible. As we have seen lately the sentiment of the community is overwhelmingly in favor of leaving the parks for the present just as they are. Why should this sentiment not be respected? It will be found that nothing is to be gained by anybody by contesting it.

So the splendid Broadway Arcade scheme is killed by the decision of the Court of Appeals. This puts back rapid transit on solid earth from three to five years. Mr. Melville C. Smith has hard luck in this matter. He is a man of wonderful address and resources, and has spent over thirty of the best years of his life in trying to carry out this most magnificent scheme. It was indorsed by the State Legislature; but the late Governor Hoffman defeated it in deference to the demands of the Tammany Ring. What a difference it would have made in New York had the Arcade plan been adopted then!

In the meantime, other schemes which have been held in the background because of the Arcade road are awaiting action on the bill which Corporation Counsel Beekman has drawn up as the contribution of the city officials to the solution of the rapid transit problem. It was introduced into the Legislature yesterday, and takes the shape of an additional amendment to the Rapid Transit act of 1875. Briefly stated, it provides for the appointment of a commission of five persons by the Mayor, which commission is to have power to fix routes and determine the character of the roads. They are to decide as to the need of such roads within thirty days of organization, and the route or routes within sixty days. When a decision has been reached the plans are to be submitted for approval to the Sinking Fund Commissioners, who have the power to modify them. The commission is charged with fixing the annual contribution of the sanctioned railroad to the City Treasury, and procuring the necessary consent either of property owners or of the commissioner appointed in lieu thereof by the Supreme Court. Furthermore, the bill makes it the duty of the Sinking Fund Commissioners to obtain from the Board of Aldermen permission to use the streets and sell the franchise to the highest bidder at public auction.

The bill, though framed to have the appearance of a general measure, is palpably special legislation affecting New York City only, and the question whether it is constitutional or not is pretty certain to be raised. Moreover, it should have contained some provision whereby any road or roads built would lapse in time into the possession of the city. The measure, however, is of real value, as it removes the source of legislative sanction from Albany to this city. This would be a great gain in the matter of directness, and would obviate a host of delays incidental to legislation in the State Capitol. Upon all schemes yet heard from, however, the commission could report almost off-hand. What is really needed by the city is not discussion but prompt action, and there is no reason for expecting that any scheme adopted by the commission will not be beset by the antagonisms, objections and legal delays which have met every plan proposed for giving the city rapid transit.

The first thing the commission should do is to grant permission to the elevated roads to add another track to their lines. This is the speediest remedy for the rapid transit difficulty that exists; and while it would not permanently settle it, it would make things vastly better for a time, while some really adequate system of transportation is building. Almost anything is better than the present inactivity which is injuring immensely the material interests of the city. The population which should be settling in the 23d and 24th Wards and other sections in the upper part of the island are moving east, west and south of us, to build up and people Brooklyn, Long Island City, New Jersey and Staten Island towns. The avenues for the outward movement of this part of our population are being constantly improved. Brooklyn is rapidly developing her elevated road system; Jersey City, as we describe in our columns elsewhere is about to have a cheap system of interchangable elevated road transportation; all the Jersey railroads are lowering their rates and improving their facilities for suburban travel; and the Staten Island Ferry Company are putting on faster boats in connection with the present excellent railroad facilities of the island. As a further assistance to the emptying of the city the Broadway line is to run cars down to the Whitehall ferries. In the midst of this activity New York must sit down with what resignation and patience it can summon under the knowledge that the present inconvenience which attends rapid transit must be endured, and that the extreme of the possible will not give us an adequate system of transportation for several years at least.

The action of the Manhattan Railroad Company against a number of lawyers for champerty failed principally because it was too indiscriminate and sweeping in character. Judge Gildersleeve's charge to the Grand Jury, though slightly affected with the popular rabies against the Manhattan corporation which robbed it of the judicial tone one expects to find in utterances from the bench, clearly showed the weak spot in the indictment. For a lawyer to take up a case upon "contingent fees" apparently is not in itself a misdemeanor. The practice is not uncommon with members of the highest standing in the profession in a certain class of cases. To constitute an offense within the statute a valuable consideration stimulating litigation must be offered; in other words, the lawyer must hold forth inducements which incite the plaintiff to action. The proof of this in any case is naturally difficult, and, as Judge Gildersleeve remarked, the New York Bar does not know exactly where it stands in the matter. The test case will probably settle the question, and whatever the motives of the Manhattan Company may have been it will have done the public a service in drawing general attention to an offense which, though little understood, is entirely too common. Perhaps, moreover, the company will have attained the object it probably had in view of warning shyster lawyers against a too marked activity counter to its interests. As we pointed out last week, the statute against champerty needs reviving, especially for the protection of builders and real estate owners, and if the present action accomplishes this it will have done an immense good.

The story that the Germans sank the Nipsic at Samoa proved to be a canard; but the question, "What could we have done had it been true?" is not a pleasant one to answer. The "little cherub," of which Admiral Porter speaks, which sits aloft looking out for drunken sailors and the United States navy may some day forget the latter in an affair like this one in Samoa, and unless we are in a somewhat different state for offense than at present we shall have to take what is given to us in the spirit of humiliation appropriate to our condition. The fact that we have squandered something like $16,000,000 a year and got nothing for it—at least nothing until the last administration—will be of no service to us. The management of the Naval Department for the last twenty years has been simply outrageous—quite sufficient in itself to condemn every administration and party that tolerated it. In Europe any party that was so negligent of the public interests, in spite of the earnest protests of naval men, commercial bodies and the entire press, would be dismissed with ignominy within a fortnight. With us, however, the public have the power of correction only once in four years, and then, as a rule, evils of this kind are forgotten, or only incidentally remembered, amid a partisan contest made up largely of personalities and prejudices. It is to be hoped that General Tracy will continue to improve upon the work of his predecessor in office. There is more important work to be done in the Navy Department to-day than perhaps in any other department of the national government. The construction of a navy adequate even to defend our interests at home and abroad will be the work of years. The following, from the Inter-Ocean, and all other writing of the kind, may pass as the enthusiasm of journalistic patriotism; but in case of trouble we should find what Chauvinistic vaporing it really is: "If the Nipsic has been destroyed by the Olga it is yet probable that the German government will repudiate the rash act of its naval officer and tender apology and reparation. If not, why then America again will have to show herself mistress of the seas."

The overwhelming defeat of the Prohibition amendment in New Hampshire is a good deal of a surprise, and points a moral not to be overlooked. Heretofore New England and adjoining States were supposed to be the homes of temperance people and reformatory cranks of all kinds; but it now seems pretty clear that no State east of New Jersey, except perhaps Maine, would give a popular vote in favor of prohibition. It is quite certain that Massachusetts and Rhode Island would pronounce against prohibition; but how different the state of feeling throughout the South and West. Three-fourths of the Negroes of the Southern States favor, if not prohibition, the local option law, which practically amounts to the same thing. It is also certain that a majority of the Whites west of the Alleghanies and south of the Potomac also favor prohibition or local option. In the past we have regarded the Southern and Western people as being tobacco chewers and whisky drinkers; but in view of the attitude of the Southern and Western States as compared with the Eastern States, it is the latter which keep up the drinking traditions of the past.

The Single Tax Agitation.

The single tax agitators have been successful during the last few weeks in securing a hearing for their doctrines before the Pennsylvania and Minnesota Legislatures, and in Columbus, Ohio, and Providence, R. I., before select committees of the respective Legislatures of these States. Besides, in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, and other Northwestern States, the proposition for a single tax on land has been receiving a great deal of attention and is meeting with much favor. In the Missouri Legislature a resolution has just been introduced petitioning that body to submit to the voters of the State at the general election to be held November, 1890, an amendment to the Constitution concerning revenue and taxation, to the effect that thereafter taxes for State, county and local purposes be levied upon the value of lands, exclusive of improvements thereon. A petition has been prepared, and is now being circulated by the single tax advocates, asking Congress to abolish all indirect taxes, and to substitute for them direct taxes on land values. This petition has already received over thirty thousand signatures.

The interest thus manifested in the single tax is encouraging, as showing an evident desire on the part of the legislators of these States to obtain a thorough knowledge of taxation, which can come only through an acquaintance with all systems. But back of this is shown the increasing dissatisfaction with which the systems of taxation in vogue in our different States and cities is being regarded, and Henry George and his followers have made too close a study of taxation as it exists throughout the country not to know when and where to strike.

The immediate remedy proposed by Henry George and his colleagues is the abolition of the tax at present levied on improvements and personal property and the appropriation of a larger proportion of land values. This, as they admit, is only the first step towards the realization of their theoretical proposition to confiscate all pure economic rent. What is meant by pure economic rent is rent on land itself and not on its improvements.

The evils which Mr. George recognizes in the present system of State and local taxation are not overdrawn, but it by no means follows that the only way in which these evils can be remedied is by the confiscation of the rent of all lands.

For instance, it is urged in the first place that the confiscation of rent would destroy the speculative value of land. Now it would be a piece of foolishness on the part of a State or local government to abolish all taxes except those on land values in order to destroy speculative values, especially when lands thus held for prospective gain can be brought into use in a less disastrous and much simpler way. A tax on the full selling value of land would bring at least the greater part of idle lands into productive use, for it would cause the owner to pay in the present on what he expects in the future, and in this way make it sufficiently difficult for him to hold land for speculative purposes. Besides, it is doubtful whether or not it would be advisable to destroy all the speculative values of lands. It is well understood that land throughout our different States is nominally taxed on its full selling value, but it is also well understood that the laws relating to the tax upon land values is seldom fully enforced, and that a smaller proportion of the values of unimproved land is taxed than of land which is improved. In certain parts of Baltimore land is taxed to its full selling value, and it is said that this is also the case in Boston; but in most of our towns and cities the laws are not enforced, and land is assessed on only a certain per cent. of its market value, as, for instance, in Philadelphia and Cincinnati only about 75 per cent. of the market value of land is assessed, and in New York and St. Louis only about 60 per cent. Rural land is assessed also for only a proportion of its value, and what is worse, for a very varying proportion. In some places, as in Maryland, agricultural lands is assessed for relatively less than urban, in order to make the cities bear a heavier proportion of the State tax. What is wanted is an agitation in favor of an equitable adjustment of taxes and an enforcement of the existing laws relating to taxation.

An exemption of all improvements from taxation for all time, as Mr. George would have it, could not be brought about at the present time were it advisable; but an immunity from taxation of improvement on all property, such as new buildings, etc., for a period of two or three years is worthy of recommendation, and is not without precedent. In France and Prussia new buildings and improvements are free from taxation for two years after they become available for use. Partial and temporary exemptions of new structures from taxation for a period of twelve years for State purposes obtains in Austria. The plan exists in the Netherlands of exempting from taxation improvements of any kind on formerly vacant town or city lots for a period of eight years. The immediate end aimed at in these countries where this system of exemption exists is the encouragement of improvement, and, in the Netherlands especially, the bringing of town and city lots which are lying idle into productive use. The exemption of improvements from taxation, however, enlarges ultimately the taxable basis, because of the encouragement which it gives to building, and increases the revenues of the State or local government.

The liberty which we enjoy in these modern times is largely the outgrowth of taxation. The sovereigns of Europe were absolute so long as they had other sources of revenue besides taxes upon which to draw, but when their ancient sources of revenues began to fail them they gradually became dependent upon the people. The necessity which the executive power is under of appealing to representatives of the people for means with which to carry on the operations of government is a perpetual check on it, and tends to repress at once absolutistic inclinations. Taxation is to-day the bulwark of popular liberties in Europe, and even in America were it not necessary to tax the people they would become careless and indifferent, and politicians might easily establish a despotism over us. We conclude then that, politically, moderate and well distributed taxation is a good thing. Nor can we admit that even industrially taxation is altogether a bad thing. The Scotch political economist, McCulloch, said long ago that increased taxation stimulated a man to repair the breaches made in his fortune, and that his greater energy and zeal adds to the wealth of the community. Of course this doctrine must not be abused.

The proposal of Mr. George to take the so-called "unearned increment" of land is suggestive of a plan whereby a city—especially a new city—might greatly increase its revenues. The plan is this: that the city buy the land in the outlying districts, and, after laying it out in lots, lease them for a limited number of years with the power of revision at the expiration of the period, or to put the lots up at auction, the purchaser to acquire improvements at an appraised valuation, as ferry privileges to-day in New York are acquired. In this way the city would save the increment of value due to the growth and prosperity of the community. This plan of acquiring the land of a proposed new part of a city has long been in practice in Savannah, Ga., though the city has not reserved the right of revising the rent at the expiration of a given period. Toronto, Canada, derived an income of $56,000 from lands which it had improved and has leased out to private persons. The nationalization of land is one thing and the municipalization of land another, and the latter is favored by many who reject the former—Arnold Toynbre for example, the brilliant young English economist who died a few years since, though well-known as an antagonist of the nationalization of land, spoke with some favor of land municipalization. Professor Ely, in his "Taxation in American States and Cities," has made suggestions for a cautious move in the direction of the municipalization of land without, however, any confiscation. His suggestions, which are in some respects novel, deserve consideration.

Matthew Marshall, of the Sun, has done a public service in pointing out how the national banks deliberately tried to wreck the business of the country at the time when Secretary Windom was trying to change the 5 and 6 per cent. government bonds into 3 and 3½ per cent. bonds. As the banks were the main holders of the 5 and 6 per cents., they fought bitterly against the law enacted by Congress reducing the interest to 3 and 3½ per cent. This the government was justified in doing, as 4 per cent. bonds were still at 112 in the open market. The national banks carried their point and deliberately created a panic in Wall street, and to placate them President Hayes vetoed the Congressional enactment. Bank officers are often public-spirited and worthy citizens, but the associated banks are very apt to be selfish in dealing with the public. Secretary Windom finally succeeded where Congress failed, and the credit is due to him and not to the banks, which, in looking after their own interest, were willing to sacrifice the public. It is to the great discredit of our daily press that they unanimously backed up the banks in the fight of the latter against public interests.

The organization of the Treasury Department does not favor the silver men. Secretary Windom agrees with Wall street rather than with the West or South on the question of the metallic standard of value. He favors gold every time, and is not even theoretically a bimetallist. All the gentlemen mentioned for Assistant Secretaries of the Treasury are on record as giving the preference to gold over silver. Vice-President Levi P. Morton, who will have a good deal to say during this administration, is a Wall street "gold bug" of pronounced type. Then the pro-silver feeling is stronger among the Democrats in the West and South than among the Republicans. On the other hand, there is the declaration of a silver policy in the Republican National platform, and there is reason to believe that President Harrison inclines to the silver point of view. Over two-thirds of our voters are bimetallists, as is shown by the actions of their representatives in Congress for the past ten years yet the believers in an exclusive gold currency have had possession of the White House and the Treasury Department ever since the silver coinage law was enacted.

The Market and Fulton National Bank.

A peculiar and interesting edifice, of which the purpose is proclaimed by the above inscription over its entrance, has for some time been in course of erection at the northwest corner of Fulton and Gold streets. It is of red brick, with a base and wrought work of brown stone, and with a sparing use of red terra cotta. It is of some 50 feet frontage on Fulton street, by about 110 on Gold, and eight stories in height, divided into a substructure of two stories, the basement and principal floor carrying a central building of five stories, or four and a-half, since the uppermost is a mezzanine floor, and a cornice story, with a parapet above. An additional half story at the corner signalizes a rudimentary and roofless tower. This tower is defined by large toruses in brick, applied against the walls on each side of it, and stopped on corbels at the top of the brown stone basement, and a like roll defines the outer extremity of each wall and the angle of the two.

At the centre of the narrow front is a very massive Romanesque entrance that recalls, as so many entrances recall, the work of Mr. Richardson. This is a round arch, with deep but not exaggerated voussoirs, projected from the face of the building, and thus forming a porch. The spandrils are filled with a simple mosaic of projecting and recessed squares, and flanked by rolls slightly prolonged above the porch, and ending in blunt finials covered with carving. The short and massive piers on which the arch rests are reeded, the reeding stopping distinctly short of developed shafts, and surmounted by a continuous capital. Above the abacus is a range of little panels that might better have been omitted.

The basement is perhaps the most successful part of the building, especially on the long side. A series of flat arches, of which the voussoirs are dressed smooth, have an ample and effective abutment in the rough-faced wall of the same material. The jambs of the openings are left quite plain, while the lower side of the arch is vigorously and effectively modelled. There is nothing better of its kind in New York than this basement, and its effectiveness is enhanced by the admirable treatment of the elevator entrance, an opening wider than the others, flat arched like them, and signalized by a judicious use of ornament.

The entrance archway, already described, occupies the centre of the principal story on the narrow front. On each side of it is a double lintelled opening with mullions and transoms of stone, that in the tower being considerably the richer in treatment. The mullions and transoms are moulded and the intersections are masked by carved leafage. The tower is about twice as wide on the side as on the front, and in this story gives opportunity for a five-light opening, following that just described in treatment and forming by its magnitude an effective feature. Beyond the tower on this long front the principal story is an arcade of deep, round arches in brick with light labels in stone. The impost is marked by a broad band of stone, of a curious profile for this position, being a curve of the kind known in the books as cyma reversa, upside down—that is to say, projecting at the bottom. This is a form logically as well as traditionally appropriated to base mouldings and irrelevant to the crowning of a pier which expands to take a superincumbent mass larger than itself. It is adorned here with a crisp bit of carving at the angle, but that cannot prevent it from looking and being out of place. An even more unreasonable ornament is the iron anchor in each pier, which is several feet below the floor line that would be its level if it were an actual anchor. Nevertheless, the effect of the arcade is very good, though distinctly less good than that of the basement.

The middle division does not call for much remark. The piers of the openings, running through four stories, are connected by round arches forming a fifth, the floor lines being marked by the insertion of commonplace terra cotta panels. The spring line of these arches is also emphasized by a broad band of stone, which is here of a proper and reasonable form. On the long side the carving is confined, as before, to the jambs; but on the narrow front, where there are but two arches, the third bay being given to the tower, the springing course is developed into a complete carved capital. The tower is on both sides distinguished in treatment from the adjoining walls, and is pierced with plain square-headed openings.

Above the seventh story, the corbelling of the cornice begins at once, and is continued through the whole of the eighth story, the roll mouldings of the tower and of the angles expanding with it. The windows of this story are mere square holes, of the kind familiar in cornices on a much smaller scale. Above this story is a panelled brick parapet. The tower is not corbelled except at its angles. Its eighth story is a series of narrow apertures. The additional half story that makes it a tower is pierced by a group of narrow round-arched openings, three on the narrow and eight on the long front.

The carving throughout is in the Byzantine manner, now so prevalent, and is unfailingly good in execution and in design also, unless we except the corbels of the big brick walls. As has been seen, the building contains some excellent features, and almost everywhere shows thought and feeling. Nevertheless, it cannot be called successful as a whole, mainly for the reason that it is not a whole. The tower is the most ambitious feature, and it is also the great mistake in the composition. If it had been treated as a nearly solid shaft and steeply roofed it might have improved the outline of the building and added dignity to it. But since commercial considerations compelled the architect to fill it full of windows he would have done much better to omit it altogether. It gives the narrow front, which was none too wide in any case, a painfully squeezed and huddled aspect, and adds nothing to the effect of the longer front. The rolls are another mistake in this place. A round buttress may effectively fortify the angle of a building, though it oftener weakens it. But a roll too large and protrusive to be a modelling of the wall itself, which is applied to it to strengthen it and is evidently carried by the wall which it pretends to reinforce, is an irrational and even absurd object. The exaggeration of the cornice is another mistake, which defeats its own purpose. That purpose must be to make it look very massive, and this is effected when a considerable projection takes place in a moderate height, and may be much enhanced by the insertion of narrow slits of aperture. When full-sized windows are interpolated, as here, the continuity and the massiveness of the cornice are destroyed, and it becomes a series of lumps, by no means impressive. It is a great pity that the effective features and the clever detail of this design should be in part wasted upon an unfortunate composition.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker is bringing his experience as the head of a great store to add to the efficiency of the government departments over which he now presides. It seems that in his store he employs fifty clerks to forward packages by mail to all parts of the country. The charge for this fourth-class matter, as it is called, is 16 cents per lb. This he will ask Congress to reduce to 8 cents per lb. so as thus to benefit the retail dealers and their customers. The present high charge is, of course, favored by the express companies, who naturally want to monopolize the small package business of the country. Europeans have now an immense advantage over this country in the cheapness of their "Parcels Post," which practically takes the place of our express companies; but, of course, the cost is trifling as compared to the charges of the express monopolies of this country. A great government like that of Germany, France or England can make much better terms with the railroad corporations than can the American express companies with those at home, but the competition of the latter often bids up the price against themselves.

The newspapers will probably oppose Postmaster-General Wanamaker's proposed cheapening of mail matter. They will say it was suggested in order to help his own store. The newspaper publishers now enjoy an exceedingly fat piece of public plunder in connection with the Post-office Department. While fourth-class matter costs 16 cents per lb. and letters 2 cents per oz., newspapers and periodicals and even dime novels, are charged only 2 cents per lb. In other words, the government makes a present of something over $12,000,000 annually to newspaper and magazine and cheap novel publishers; but we ought to have a "Parcels Post," based upon the experience and practice of Europe and Great Britain. It will make an immense addition to the retail trade of the country. It would, of course, help to build up vast establishments in the leading cities, from which retail goods could be distributed; but it is one of the tendencies of the times which cannot be altered. By all means let us have a cheap parcels service.

The capitalization and profits of the Bell Telephone are simply monstrous. Literally hundreds of thousands of persons have been made rich by becoming interested in what is nothing more or less, stripped of all scientific mystery and jargon, than an improved speaking tube. The telephone ought not to cost the community the one-hundredth part of what it does. It was the government of the United States which supplied the money to prove the practicability of the electric telegraph. The experimental line from Washington to Baltimore was a success. Had our government, like those of other nations, taken the telegraph department in its hands it would have been a constant source of revenue, while telegraphic charges would have averaged probably one-fourth what they have done under the control of private corporations. But when the telegraph was proved to be all right our government was dominated by Jeffersonian ideas, which forbade the nation doing anything useful, and hence electrical communication was turned over to stock gamblers and finally became monopolized by Jay Gould. The possession of the telegraph by the government would naturally have been followed by the buying up of the telephone, when its value became known so as to make it an adjunct to the telegraph service of the country.

The State Senate bill permitting a husband to sell his real estate without his wife's consent ought, by all means, to become a law. Women can sell their property without their husband's permission; and what is sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the gander. A woman's right of dower ought to be based on all the property of the husband, provided, of course, her means are much less than his; but this demand for the wife's consent in selling of the husband's realty often works cruel injustice, for it ties up estates and throws a cloud upon titles, thus making real trouble to the community. But we suppose the sentimental view will obtain, and that the well-meant bill will be killed.

Street Improvements.

One of the most serious problems to be solved by our city authorities is that of street improvements in the lower part of the city, where with an enormous increase in traffic over that of fifty years ago the street accommodations have undergone little or no change. The question has been under discussion for a number of years; but, owing to the fact that property-owners wish to get everything and sacrifice nothing, insurmountable obstacles have been placed in the way of every proposed improvement. The Dock Department has been able probably to accomplish more than any other set of officials. It has the power and the will to widen the exterior streets, and for this much we may be thankful; but the projectors of every other plan have met only with disappointment and delay.

In another column we give a letter from William P. Van Zant, who has been prominent in his opposition to the Elm street and College place improvements, and who in his opposition has represented many property-holders on the line of the former proposed alteration. Mr. Van Zant takes the ground that, in all its work hitherto, the city has been petty and mean in what it has set out to do, and that in the future there should be no more piecemeal work. Nothing but a comprehensive plan, calculated to meet not only all present but many future necessities, would be of any value. Mr. Van Zant outlines what he considers to be such a plan, without, however, specifying the most essential point connected with his avenue—viz: its situation.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE has always favored the prompt execution of any improvement which seemed to deserve the name. It has realized that the city should not be timid or parsimonious in making changes which the increased traffic of the city required. Hence we can admit a certain degree of truth in Mr. Van Zant's contentions. A half-way policy is sometimes worse than no policy at all; for such a policy often not only does not meet adequately the immediate requirements, but it prevents the carrying out of a wiser scheme in the future. Business conditions in American cities change with surprising rapidity. What is a problem to-day has ceased to be one to-morrow. How can we tell that when we have underground connection with the Jersey shore, when more bridges span the East River, when the Harlem River is further improved, and when the annexed and further outlying districts have increased in population and business importance, the centres of trade and traffic may not have shifted. It is unwise to improve too much, because we cannot tell with sufficient surety exactly what to expect. The Capitol in Washington was built with the face towards the East, under the impression that the population would settle in that direction; as a matter of fact the city has grown towards the West, so that the Capitol stands with its back to the city and faces a district that is scarcely built up at all. It is useless to meet what may be temporary necessities with permanent improvements.

The editorial columns of a daily newspaper are hardly the places to look for consistency—a fact that is remarkably well exemplified by their treatment of the subject of trusts. We find them on the one hand rejoicing at the prospective failure of the copper syndicate and on the other hand approving the formation of the Interstate Railway Association. Yet the position of the copper mines previous to the formation of the syndicate was in many ways analagous to the position of the railways previous to the formation of the association. There were some differences, it is true, but in the main both the railways and the mines were being ruined by over-competition. According to the papers the restoration of rates in one case was merely the restoration to the stockholders of their rights; the restoration of a reasonable price in the other case was robbery and conspiracy. Or, again, certainly one of the worst monopolies in the country is that of the coal producers. Six or seven big corporations virtually control the price of anthracite—a monopoly that is rendered almost impregnable by the fact that these corporations are the carriers as well as the producers. Yet in the case of the coal the burden of high prices falls very heavily on the poor, to whom it is a necessity. Only a little over 2 per cent. of the annual product of Pennsylvania is exported. Copper, on the contrary, whenever it becomes too high for consumption can easily be displaced by some other metal; and for the last five years we have exported fully 35 per cent. of the total product—a percentage that has been slightly increased since the syndicate was formed.

The fact is, that, compared to the price which the metal had formerly brought, the syndicate did not put copper up to an unreasonably high figure, while the values fixed by the coal companies were certainly much more burdensome to the community than they were before the combination was formed. In 1865 the price of copper varied between 50½ cents a pound and 28½ cents a pound. In December, 1878, it was selling 15⅞; in December, 1879, at 21 cents; in December, 1881, at 19¼; in December, 1883, it had fallen to 14⅞. Then came the hard times. After opening at about 15 cents in 1884, it dropped to 10 cents by June, rallied to 14 cents in July, and sunk again to 11 cents by December. It was in May, 1887, it reached its lowest point, 9.95 cents per pound. Then came the formation of the syndicate and the restoration of the price. It will be seen by this exhibit that the syndicate figure was by no means abnormal. Certain mines, such as the Anaconda and the Calumet and Hecla, make large gains at 16 cents a pound, but their ore is so surprisingly rich that this would happen under any circumstances. Whether or not the syndicate will maintain its position it is impossible to assert. It is said that there may be a revival of the Indian demand for the metal, to the failure of which the prevailing low price, previous to the formation of the syndicate, were at least partially due. Then it is believed in some circles that the danger of its position has been over-estimated. However this may be, we should like to see a little justice doled out by our daily newspapers in respect to these combinations.

Our Prophetic Department.

COSMOPOLITAN—There are a number of topics of interest, foreign and domestic, which might be touched on in our conversation to-day. The varied themes will give our talk a discursive character but it may be interesting for all that. Now, what is your impression of the situation in France?

SIR ORACLE—The whole European situation is exceedingly interesting just now; but of course the possibility of some picturesque or dramatic outbreak or revolution is more likely to occur in France than anywhere else. It is evident that the people of that country are heartily sick of parliamentary government, or at least of the rule called into existence by the present constitution of France. There can be no stability in the councils of a nation whose ruling Cabinets do not last, on an average, three months. France demands a head—whether it be Emperor, King, Consul, Dictator, or whatever you may deign to call it. Boulanger represents the popular discontent on this point, and hence his apparent popularity. The Republican majority so far have shown no genius in fighting him; they should take the ground away from under his feet.

COS.—What do you mean? What could the Republicans do but stand by the constitution under which they are organized?

SIR O.—That instrument in its present form is as objectionable to the Republican masses as to their imperial and monarchial opponents. The Republicans ought to meet in a convention, composed of members of the present Chambers, and agree to give President Carnot real power—the authority, for instance, of at least an American President. Then let him have a Cabinet responsible to him and not to the legislative body. This would give the nation a head and the government a stable policy; this would be cutting the ground from under Boulanger's feet.

COS.—But would not this be revolution? The change that you suggest implies violence, the use of the army—a tearing up, as it were, of the present constitution of France.

SIR O.—It is a choice of evils. If the Republic shrinks from taking bold measures we may be sure that Boulanger will not hesitate when his time comes. Still, as this is the centenary of the French Revolution, and all Frenchmen wish the exhibition to be a prosperous one, it is not unlikely that a tacit agreement will be reached to keep the peace until next fall.

COS.—How do you account for the peaceful character of William II.'s reign so far. He appeared to be full of military ardor when first called to the imperial throne.

SIR O.—I judge the Emperor has made some bargain with Bismarck. The latter is getting to be an old man, who would naturally dislike to leave this world in the midst of a mighty conflict. He has probably secured a pledge from the Emperor not to provoke a great war until he has passed away. The death of the King of Holland would be the only event likely to create an immediate disturbance. Then Germany would be forced to insist upon her rights and thus gain access to the German Ocean.

COS.—You do not see war, then, in any direction in the immediate future?

SIR O.—Central Asia may be the scene of a serious conflict very soon. The Russians are preparing already for another advance movement, but I think it will be eastward and not southerly and will involve the subjugation of Chinese Tartary. Russia is doing a civilizing work in that part of the world and she will earn the approbation of mankind.

COS.—Still, there is Great Britain; will the discomfiture of the government and the London Times matter and the Parnell business lead to a change of administration from Tory to Liberal?

SIR O.—Eventually this disaster will defeat the party in power; but I doubt if the Tories expect to leave office right away. Coalitions against them can easily be formed, and they are liable to go down under combinations formed by Jos. Chamberlain or Lord Randolph Churchill. As we said at the beginning, the situation all over Europe is mightily interesting.

COS.—Well, we have not much time for domestic topics. What do you say as to the business outlook?

SIR O.—It is not as good as I should like it to be. It seems as if we were booked for a period of depression in trade, unless, indeed, President Harrison should call an extra sesssion of Congress; that would at once disturb and stimulate business. A new tariff would mean encouragement to go into new industrial enterprises. This would call for capital. So would the building of ships give us a merchant marine. But nothing can be done by the administration without the sanction of Senate and House. As yet nothing has been said to warrant a belief that Congress will meet before next December. In the interim the Treasury must keep on buying bonds. This will be a good thing for Wall street, but bad for the business of the country.

COS.—But are there not some business indications of a favorable character.

SIR O.—Yes; our heavy export of corn and provisions is an excellent sign. The fact that we are only just beginning to ship gold is a very promising one. Clearly Europe is still buying our bonds and stocks—more than enough, indeed, to cover the adverse balance of trade. With good crops this summer we may yet have a very good year's business. But when the regular policy of the administration is once fixed upon I look for a decline in the value of railroad securities, for the money of the country will be used in trade and not in Wall street.

Men and Things.

Dramatic and musical artists can always be depended upon to give their professional services in aid of such of their brethren as are in distress. The benefits given throughout the year return a very large sum for those who need help, and all this is in addition to the contents of the private purses of the members of the profession, which are always open, as well as the funds of organized societies, which maintain many worthy but disabled professionals. But there is no such provision made for incapacitated authors and journalists. True, the Press Clubs do something for their members who die poor, but the scribes who visit the Press Club's rooms in Nassau street are not endowed with much of this world's goods, but what is given, is given generously. There are many cases of very severe hardships which never come to light. A well-known poet is now dying under most distressing circumstances. Many years ago he was stricken with rheumatism and lost his right arm, but he taught himself to write with his left hand. Some time back he became blind, through formation of cataracts over his eyes. These have been removed. but without restoring his sight; but to keep the wolf from his door he dictates his articles, although suffering agony all the time. Yet this brave gentleman's name ranks high among American poets. He has written verses which will live. It would not do to take up a public subscription, for he never would accept the money; but there ought to be some means of relieving the necessities of such men as he is without wounding their self-respect. Our government bears hard on authors. It will not protect them, and it allows English publishers to ruin the profession.

The somewhat sensational success of the English Gaiety Company in this country brings into strong prominence the difference between the poorest kind of American and the poorest kind of English wit. What Hoyt's farces are to us the Gaiety Company of London is to the English. The distinguishing characteristic of the former is boisterous, coarse tomfoolery, mixed with a sort of variety show. "Gags" are used to provoke laughter rather more often than puns, and a performer hardly opens his mouth without ripping out a piece of slang. There is practically no story at all; a string of events is simply used on which are strung songs, cheap satire, imitations, and once in a while a fairly clever character sketch. The English burlesque, on the other hand, is silly in its fun rather than boisterous. Heaven forbid that we should accuse them of not being coarse or of using "gags," but the emphasis is laid rather more upon puns and rhymes. Then, of course, the fact of the performance being a burlesque rather than a farce is responsible for many differences. The author consequently depends a good deal upon the humorous effect produced by the degrading and levelling of strong emotions and situations. A great weakness in both the American farce and the English burlesque is the fact that the authors and actors both constantly endeavor to be funny, whereas they only succeed in being silly. There can be no humor that does not arise from contrast. An hour of constant straining after wit becomes by the time the second hour is reached very tiresome. Some people defend these performances on the ground that the listeners, being busy people, need relaxation. But cannot relaxation be had without inanimity?

The almost universal prosperity of theatres and theatrical combinations during the past two years is beginning to bear its legitimate fruit. A number of projects are under way for the erection of new places of amusement, not only in New York, but in Brooklyn and in Boston. Harrigan, emboldened by his good houses, but dissatisfied with his present gallery facilities, is going to put up a snug little place further down town. Then the upper part of the city is going to have, on 125th street, a theatre which will provide better accommodations for combinations and road companies than are at present afforded by the little Theatre Comique. Moreover, being situated on the west side, it will be better placed to attract the well to-do population in that neighborhood. In Boston, Mr. Abbey and his partners are going to build a large place of amusement in a central site on Tremont street; while in Brooklyn, Colonel Sinn, assisted by others, is contemplating an enterprise of the same kind.

We shall be glad to see these two new theatres erected in New York. It is a pity, though, they are not to be larger in size. New York needs attractions of every kind, which will tend not only to render the lives of her citizens pleasanter, but to draw in people living in other cities by giving them greater opportunities for enjoyment. Only, if the city should wish to gain the reputation of being an enjoyable place, at least in so far as theatres are concerned, it can do so only by erecting distinctive structures that would be a credit architecturally. We should not be benefited a jot by twenty such places as Mr. Harrigan will probably build. Just as Baltimore is the city of monuments, and Brooklyn the city of churches, New York ought to be the city of theatres. This, however, can never take place until certain manifest inadequacies in the present state of theatrical things are remedied. We ought to have a national theatre, supported by endowment or contribution, and run on artistic, not on business principles. And we should have a small vaudeville theatre, similar to Mitchell's Olympic, where short one or two act comedies could be produced.

It appears that the real reason for the critical disfavor with which the St. Louis newspapers looked upon the histrionic efforts of Mary Anderson some weeks back was the fact that the censors of the papers were not presented with seats which were near enough to suit their eyes and social standing. In other words, these impartial men were too far away to see well, so they damned the performance in round terms and caused (according to the newspaper reports, Miss Anderson to shed copious tears. This silly exhibition of temper points to a real defect in American newspaper dramatic criticism. The critics should not be dependent on the managers for their seats. Any circumstance that at all tends to bias their impartiality should not exist. The public has a right to demand that the comments it reads upon theatrical performances should be expressions of the critics' best judgment as to the matters in hand. At best men, no matter what webs of rhetoric they may weave, are full of prejudices and opinions. Why, then, allow an additional chance for bias by rendering them dependent upon the managers for their seats. In England, we believe, newspapers pay for their own stalls by having the price of the latter subtracted from the advertising bill. A similar custom ought to prevail here.

The Street Traffic of the City of New York.

It is patent to any close observer interested in the progress of our city that a false system has hitherto prevailed in regard to the alteration and improvement of such streets as are used specially for the transportation of merchandise; or, more correctly, that there has been no system whatever in providing adequate facilities for the increase in traffic consequent upon the increase in population and business. One of the most serious hindrances to this rapid development has been the narrow thoroughfares down town, with pavements of the most primitive kind, surface rails which would not be tolerated in any third-rate city of Europe, and police regulations utterly inadequate to prevent frequent jams and delays. Private interests have been allowed to stand in the way of public necessity, and the means taken to overcome the obstacles in the way of uninterrupted transportation to and from the shipping centres instead of being projected on a large scale commensurate with the vital importance of the work have been petty and meagre.

The city authorities, whenever the subject has been forced on their attention, have treated it in the spirit and with the methods of country town councillors—not in the wise and liberal manner befitting the governors of the most populous city in the country. As far back as 1818, when the project for the erection of the present City Hall was under consideration, the same weak policy prevailed. It was gravely asserted that the vast size of the structure, far beyond the needs of the city, and its enormous cost were serious objections to the plan proposed. Finally the wiser counsels of the majority of the Board of Aldermen prevailed, although with the concession of the timid minority, that a certain number of thousands of dollars could be saved by the use of brown stone instead of marble on the rear of the building. It is from this cause that our municipal palace has been the laughing-stock of succeeding generations. An ancestor of the writer was a member of the Board of Aldermen at that time, and it was at a period when the office of City Father was bestowed only on men of intelligence and the highest honor.

This ancestor was eloquent in his denunciation of the narrow and parsimonious policy urged for adoption. At one time he pointed toward the severe waste of swamp and lines beyond Chambers street, and said: "Gentlemen, you are blind to the future greatness of this city. I predict now, that before fifty years have passed we shall see it extended to the canal (now Canal street), with a population of 123,000." His colleagues laughed in derision.

When the Croton Aqueduct was first proposed in 1833, the same objections were urged against its unnecessary size and extravagant cost. Yet, in less than thirty years it was found to be totally inadequate to the demands of the people—our population had increased from 245,000 to 850,000; and to-day we are called upon to expend twenty millions of dollars for a new conduit which, no doubt, will find us in 1920 with a population of nearly three millions, and again suffering for an adequate supply of water.

These instances of a narrow policy in a different direction are cited to prove the necessity of a large-minded appreciation of the question of wide avenues leading to and from the centres of business and the various shipping points.

There is another instance of petty piece-meal work proposed in our city in the scheme to widen and extend Elm street, with the fact staring them in the face that Centre street already existed 80 feet wide, approaching at many points within 120 feet of the so-called improvement.

When they urged upon the Board the immense traffic which would pour down the new avenue, the constant reply of ex-Mayor Hewitt was: "But, gentlemen, the difficulty appears to be at Fulton street—the relief is needed there. Your plan is like a funnel, and you propose only to widen the larger end." To conclude, it is assumed as a fact, (1) that a broad avenue is needed from the Battery to 14th street; (2) that one or more lateral avenues, not less than 100 feet wide, must be opened leading from Broadway to both the East and North Rivers; (3) that these avenues must be kept absolutely free from all obstructions of railway tracks, and carts when not in motion; (4) that on these avenues all packing and loading shall be done within the premises of owners, and not in the streets—in the same way the work is now being done successfully in the Swamps, where the great leather traffic is carried on without hindrance or obstruction to the street; (5) these avenues must be paved in the most perfect way known to modern engineers, and no expense spared—no matter how great—to meet the demand of that traffic of the city when the needs of a population to number three millions in the year 1920 are to be provided for.

It is urged that we boldly meet the imperative necessity of our situation, and that we abandon all small and inadequate methods. The men who pay—the real estate owners of this great city—are not niggardly or parsimonious when they are assured that their money will be wisely and honestly expended.

Correspondence.

I have read the article on freight classification in your issue of the 9th inst. with considerable interest. I have had a copy sent to the Interstate Commerce Commissioners, and hope that it may stimulate them to early action on the subject which is now before them. The tendency of the present system is to limit the growth of New York to a resident and financial metropolis, when we ought always to be the great entrepot for merchandise. I want to see it both.

It may be pleasant to you to know how The Record and Guide impresses one who has no special interest in the real estate or building business. I have read it as regularly as I could for several years on account of the generally interesting matter that I find there, in addition to its technical features. I believe some of the best journalistic talent of the country is now engaged on the technical and trade journals, and their influence is very large; for, on the principle that "a verse may reach him who a sermon flies," an occasional short, well-considered editorial on a public topic I believe receives more attention when read in a technical journal than in the great dailies, whose long and frequent sermons we become so accustomed to that they do not impress us. Again thanking you, I remain, very truly yours,

F. B. Thurber.

A LINE FROM SENATOR PLUMB.

The recent articles published in The Record and Guide on our colored and Italian populations have received widespread attention. Senator Plumb, of Kansas, in a letter to The Record and Guide, says:

"I have read with interest the article in your paper, entitled 'Something About our Colored Population.' What is therein stated about the colored population of New York City is very creditable, but not at all surprising to me. My experience with the colored population of Kansas has been such that I can freely say of them that they are industrious, economical and progressive. They have made good use of their advantages there, as I have no doubt they will elsewhere."

Real Estate in Jersey City.

The activity and strength of the real estate market in Jersey City was clearly shown in the large attendance and spirited bidding at the auction sales which have recently been held there. At the sale of the McLaughlin estate, where thirty-two pieces of property in various parts of the city were offered, the prices realized were largely in excess of previous valuations, and showed that the boom, which was recognized by The Record and Guide nearly a year ago, shows no sign of abatement. All of the real estate offices are doing a good business, and one of the most prominent brokers said:

"There has been more inquiry for property here during the past few months than I have ever seen before. Small improved properties, ranging from $3,000 to $8,000 in value, seem to be in the greatest demand, and are being rapidly taken up by parties who intend moving over from New York."

Though the increase of values is general throughout the city, it is most marked in the districts along the lines of the proposed elevated roads—as on the Heights and in Lafayette and Bergen—where properties have recently been sold at from two to three times the price they brought three years ago.

There is now little, if any, doubt that the Central Elevated Transit Company will, within six weeks, commence building its line direct from the Central Railroad Ferry, through Johnston avenue and Lafayette, to Bergen avenue and Jersey City Heights. This road will be built at a cost of $300,000 a mile, and the capital has been supplied by some of the heaviest stockholders in the New York elevated systems. It will be an elevated cable road, two miles long. Tickets will be sold, with transfer checks good over any intersecting line of horse cars, for fifteen cents for the round trip—to the foot of Liberty street, New York, and back—and for eight cents for the single trip, including ferriage. The time from Jersey City Heights to the New York side will be eighteen minutes, instead of the thirty-six minutes now required. Though the New Jersey Central Railway is not a stockholder in the new road, it will afford it every terminal facility, for, upon its completion—which will be within a year after the passage of an ordinance by the Board of Aldermen—the ferry will at once receive an increase of daily patronage of from 6,000 to 10,000 persons.

The consent of a majority of the property-owners has been obtained and all legal difficulties have been removed; and now no opposition is expected from the City Council, to which application is shortly to be made for permission to commence work.

Under its present charter the Central Elevated Transit Company will not build north and south along the Heights; but as soon as certain difficulties can be removed, which are now pending before the Court of Appeals, the North Hudson County R. R. Co. proposes to extend its line south a mile, from its present terminus at Palisade avenue and Ferry street, down Central avenue to Pavonia avenue. The property-owners have made a strong opposition, and have carried their case to the higher courts: for though they all want the road, they want it to run down somebody else's street.

Within a few years, the North Hudson road intend to extend their line north for four or five miles, thus affording the several towns along the route rapid transit to the foot of Barclay street in less than half the time now required. Tickets will be sold to the ferry for 5 cents, and will include a system of transfer checks good over any of the intersecting surface roads which are owned by the elevated company.

News from New Rochelle.

So little attention is paid by New Yorkers to the improvements made outside of their own city that they hardly realize the progress that is taking place in real estate in the towns and villages adjacent to the metropolis.

New Rochelle seems to have become quite an attractive residence place for many New Yorkers. Merchants, storekeepers, manufacturers, doctors, artists, clerks, journalists and musicians have gone out there to live, to whom one would have supposed New York would be the most desirable city in the country to reside in. New Rochelle seems to have attracted a larger quota of New Yorkers than most of our suburban towns, due, no doubt, to its frontage on the Sound and its nearness to the metropolis besides, a number of wealthy owners of local estates have made numerous improvements tending to make the town attractive, and this has in no small measure assisted in the influx of New Yorkers during the past two or three years. These residents, it should be understood, in most cases come to settle down for the whole year, and buy ground and build their own cottages. The Iselin family have probably done more than any other owners for New Rochelle. Residence Park in itself is quite an undertaking. It now contains over seventy handsome and tastily-planned cottages, costing from $3 500 to $7,000, and the estate has water, sewage and other improvements, some of which are lacking in the town generally. Again, the gymnasium, built by Adrian Iselin, Sr., has been a perfect boon to the young people. It was not sufficiently appreciated at first, and Mr. Iselin, in disgust, closed it up. But he subsequently leased it for $1,000 per annum, which is just about enough to cover the taxes, insurance, and other expenses on the sum of $100,000, which it is said to have cost him. The gymnasium is by far the most attractive building on Main street. It has all the latest gymnastic appliances, with a lawn-tennis court attached, and there are now 120 members of both sexes. Later on, it is said, the public is to be admitted on certain evenings to the galleries to watch the exercises, and the gymnasium will then become very popular.

Visitors to New Rochelle, who have been surprised that the town is without the advantage of a system of sewerage, will be interested to know that plans are being completed for the laying of sewers along thirty miles of streets, avenues and roads, the cost of which is estimated at $275,000. Horace Crosby, C. E., Engineer for the Sewerage Commissioners, will superintend the work, and bids, he says, will be advertised for on April 1st for the first section of two and a-half miles, which is to be commenced in May and finished with all possible dispatch. One end of the sewer will run to the Sound and one to Burling Brook, which empties into Echo Bay.

ADVANCE IN REAL ESTATE VALUES.

The advance in the value of property during the past five or six years has been equal to that in the twenty years previous. The following is an instance of the profits made: In December, 1882, Messrs. Lambden & Young purchased eight acres, with a frame building thereon, for $6,500. The property borders on the Sound, and is about a quarter of a mile north of Glen Island, on the mainland, fronting on Pelham road on the one side and New Rochelle Harbor on the other. Adrian Iselin, Jr., bought one acre of the property a few years ago for $3,000, and the other seven acres have just been purchased by Dr. Henry D. Noyes, the eye specialist, of New York, for $22,700, showing a gross profit of $19,200 in a little over six years.

"The highest price paid for business property," said Joseph Lambden & Son, "was paid for a parcel sold by us a few weeks ago for Geo. J. Penfield to Roderick Sheffield, on the southeast side of Main street, between Banks street and Centre avenue. It is a lot 30x125 in size, and the price paid was $6,000. There is a small lot, 18x85 in size, with an old frame building, on Main street, near Banks, for which $5,000 is being asked, and for which an offer has been made near that figure. A lot, 19.6x80, with a two-story frame building on it, was bought by Nicholas Koener for $4,500. It is on Main street, near Banks."

"What do you consider the general run of prices for good business and residence properties?" asked the writer.

"Good business property, we would take to mean Main street," was the reply, "lots on which bring from $150 to $200 per front foot. Good residence property is scattered in different directions, and brings from $600 to $1,000 per lot of 50x100. A lot recently sold on Woodland avenue, near Elm street, Residence Park, for $2,000. It was 80x180 in size."

THE LATEST SALES.

Dr. Chandler has purchased from J. W. Lugar a plot on the east side of Franklin avenue, near Hudson Park, 300x200 in size, with a two-and-a-half-story brick house thereon, 25x30 in dimension.

Oliver Iselin, who owned Hunter's Island before it was taken for the new Pelham Park, has purchased from the Premium Point Company the southern portion of Premium Point, commonly known as "Black Hills," for $34,000. This property was bought in conjunction with the island rented to the New Rochelle Yacht Club, for which Mr. Iselin paid $8,000. He has made application for the water grants to these properties, which are quite considerable, as there is a good fall of tide at these points.

The estate of Mary Downing last Saturday sold, through Broker John F. Kene, the homestead and barn, with about half an acre of ground, on the southeast corner of 3d street and Washington avenue, for $4,000 to M. I. Dowling, who intends later on to make a number of improvements to the property. On Monday the same broker sold for Daniel Halsey the two-and a-half-story frame dwelling, with lot 40x120, on Franklin avenue, near Cedar road, to Charles R. Schofield for $1,850.

Other sales are being negotiated and an active spring market is anticipated.

THE TAX RATE.

Town Clerk Cortlandt I. Davids said: "Over one hundred new buildings were put up in New Rochelle last year. Our population is on the increase all the time. Our tax rate is $3.50 per cent. This is very much higher than in New York City, but it must be remembered that our assessed valuations are only about one-third of the actual value of property, whereas in New York it is two-thirds. This would make our tax rate $1.75 as compared with the metropolis. On the other hand, many of our assessed valuations are on the basis of one-fourth of the value." The Town Clerk might have added that the Board of Equalization has found, in comparing some sales, that some of the assessments were only one-fifth and one-sixth of the prices paid for the property. This has caused them to complain, and the New Rochelle people have had to fight for their position in this matter. It is felt, however, by many property-owners that it would be a judicious policy to have a reassessment on the basis of New York City. This would have a two-fold effect: first, it would make those who are assessed at too low a figure "toe the mark," and so effect a more equitable distribution of taxation; second, it would reduce the tax rate to a figure much lower than New York and other surrounding cities, and so attract numbers of people.

NEW BUILDINGS IN PROSPECT.

A prominent real estate owner anticipates that at least two hundred new buildings will be put up this year.

Amongst the most important forthcoming improvements is that of the new place of worship to be erected for the New Rochelle Methodist Church on the property recently purchased by them on the northwest side of Main street, opposite Locust avenue. This plot, for which $10,000 was paid, is 100x250 in size. The present church and parsonage on Bank street is being offered for sale and the proceeds will be devoted toward the erection of the new church and parsonage. No plans have as yet been prepared, nor has any architect been selected. It is stated that quite a handsome structure of brick and stone will be erected.

G. R. Sheffield, the dry-goods merchant, formerly of Ware & Sheffield, intends to build a store covering a frontage of 50 feet on Main street with a probable depth of about 80 feet. He will use it for his business and will at present only build one story, adding other stories to it later on.

On Tuesday work was commenced by Adam Kitsinger to build a 25x38 addition to his building on Main street, near Mechanic street. It will be used as a ball-room for a German lodge and for other purposes.

Architect Alfred Chamberlain has the plans on the boards for a three-story brick, stone and iron front building, 35x75, to be built by A. B. Hudson on the southwest corner of Main street and Franklin avenue. The first story will have a store 32x70 in size, and the floors above will be laid out in flats of seven rooms each, with hot and cold water, electrical apparatus and other improvements. The building will cost $15,000, and is the second of its kind in the town to be modeled in the style of a New York flat.

John H. Dowling, the New York upholsterer, is about to build two two-and-a-half-story frame cottages, 22x38 each, on the south side of Union avenue, near Charles street, West New Rochelle, at a cost of $5,000, from plans by the same architect.

RESIDENCE PARK.

This choice residence quarter will receive an addition of numerous houses this year. Contracts have been entered into to build cottages on lots purchased by a large number of people. Geo. H. De Veau will build a Queen Anne cottage to cost about $5,000. The Messrs. Lawrence, of Mount Vernon, are going to remove from that place, and build two cottages in the Park to cost about $10,000, and two other residents of Mount Vernon, Messrs. Wilson M. and John J. Reynolds, have also been attracted to New Rochelle, and will build two Queen Anne cottages costing $10,000 to $11,000 Nelson M. Newton, a local grocer, will spend $4,000 or more in a new house and F. W. and R. Lincoln, of New York, will build two more cottages costing about $12,000.

J. F. Sheahan, agent for Adrian Iselin, owner of Residence Park, said: "We have already thirty-seven new houses contracted for to be commenced in the spring. They will range in cost from 4,000 to 6,000. There will, no doubt, be others built for which negotiations are pending." This means not far from $200,000 to be spent in improvements in this locality alone.

"What are your lots selling for?" asked the writer.

"They run from about $800 to $3,000," was the reply. "We have lots 75x146 in size on Willow avenue which we are offering for $987 each. This is equal to 10,950 square feet, over four New York city lots. Our largest and best lots are on Woodlawn avenue, and for these we ask $3,000. They are 100x300 in size, equal to twelve New York lots in area. The Park has sewers, water and gas."

PROMINENT BUILDINGS UNDER WAY.

The foundations have been completed for the cottage being built by Dr. Buck, which is to cost about $6,000. It is being put up adjoining the three-story frame villa, which is being built by A. L. Embury, on an acre on Pelham avenue, and having a frontage on the Sound. The size of this house will be 40x38, and it will cost about $7,000.

John F. Lambden's new house, on the site of the Lambden homestead on Locust avenue, is up to the roof, and will cost $4,000 when finished. C. V. R. Howland's villa on Woodland avenue, near Elm street, which is inclosed, will cost altogether about $6,000. Both houses will have the modern improvements. The foundations have been started for the house to be built for Mrs. Pulschen, of David's Island, on Webster avenue, near Main street, as well as for Mr. Fonda's house on Guion place. The latter is cashier at Glen Island for Mr. Starin.

The excavation has commenced for a two-and-a-half-story frame dwelling, 24x33, to be built by Wm. Weiskopf, on the southwest corner of Main and Centre streets, to cost about $3,500.

Cortlandt I. Davids' new villa on Franklin avenue, near Cedar road, is about inclosed. It will be 30x40 in size, and will cost about $4,500 complete. The popular and good-looking young Town Clerk expects to occupy it with his family about the beginning of May.

Geo. J. Renfield's store and flat on Main street, near Centre avenue, is up to the second story, and will be ready by May 1st. It will have two stores on the first floor and dwelling apartments above, with four families per floor. It will have various improvements, and will be three stories high. The size will be 50x80, and the cost about $25,000.

HUGUENOT PARK.

Since the sale of last June by the Huguenot Park Association property in this direction is considered worth somewhat more than it was a couple of years ago. At that sale seventy-eight acres were disposed of at an average of about $1,000 an acre, corner acres bringing more. A prominent agent said: "I consider the reason for the backwardness of Huguenot Park the mismanagement displayed by the gentlemen who ran the association. With good management the property would have been improved and would be worth double its present price. I consider an acre worth about $1,400 or $1,500 now, as the property is in numerous hands since the sale, and a few improvements are being made by parties who purchased. I suppose corner acres would bring as high as $2,000; if sold in smaller plots the property would of course bring more. Now that the horse-cars have made the high ground around Huguenot Park easily and quickly accessible to the depot the property ought to be appreciated for residence purposes. It is on very high ground, and is just the place for New York people to build their summer homes, and even make it their quarters during winter. There is a good deal of social life in New Rochelle, and the journey to the Grand Central depot is accomplished in about half an hour.

Geo. S. Plummer, of Wm. Wood & Co., the New York publishers, is building a villa in this park; F. H. Nichols is building a cottage, and Charles E. Harvey, the New York furnace manufacturer, is putting up a handsome residence. Other houses are contemplated, and property hereabouts is now beginning to move.

OTHER NOTES.

The people of New Rochelle are quite proud of their fire department, which they say is as good as will be found in any town of the size. There are two steamers, a truck and a patrol, and the "fire laddies" have run a mile on several occasions and extinguished the flames before the property was burnt down. This is quite a feat to accomplish when it is considered that in almost every instance frame buildings have to be dealt with. Chief Martin Burns says that he is prepared to show the efficiency of his department whenever the occasion may demand it.

The town has electric lighting, and while the main roads are in fairly good condition there is room for improvement in many of the avenues and intersecting streets. There are now three branches of horse-cars, one running to Hudson Park, one to Glen Island and one to Huguenot Park.

Real Estate Exchange Matters.

COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATION.

There was a large attendance at the last meeting of the committee, Wm. Reynolds Brown being in the chair.

A communication was received from Geo. W. Van Siclen, withdrawing from the chairmanship of the Committee on Drafting and Amending Laws owing to press of business, and Mr. Ira D. Warren was appointed in his place..

A. J. Robinson, chairman of the Committee on Building and Mechanics' Lien Laws, reported that an interview had taken place with President Bayles, of the Health Department, the result of which was that an amendment to the law is to be drafted which will make tenants responsible for damage done to plumbing due to their own negligence, so changing the law whereby the landlord is made responsible for all violations, whether due to the tenant or not.

On the special orders of the day being called, Mr. Crimmins rose to ask leave to withdraw his resolution indorsing the Ives bill, which gives the Sinking Fund Commissioners power to sell the new park lands. The speaker asked such permission on the ground that the Corporation Counsel had prepared an amended bill, and was at the time in Albany advocating the features of the new measure, which shows explicitly the lines to be changed. Mr. Crimmins said that the idea had got abroad that there was a conspiracy behind the bill, whereas there never was a bill drawn with a greater eye to the public good. The Mayor and the Corporation Counsel were responsible for it, and they are not the men to countenance any attack upon the public interests. Lots of land was included in the parks which should be got rid of, while there are other lands which could be included in the park areas. The new bill provides that the Park Commissioners shall prepare a map showing how the park lines should be straightened. This map, with their report, is to be sent to the Legislature, which is to give the power, if they see fit, to the commissioners to dispose of the land and acquire other properties instead. None of the land is to be sold at less than it cost the city, interest included. Before the new parks are improved their lines will have to be straightened out. Those lines do not at present conform to those of the streets, nor are the openings planned likely to give the people easy access to the lines of rapid transit. He repudiated the charges of corruption that had been levelled against him. Members of the committee had known him all their lives, and he challenged anyone to show where he had ever acted other than in the city's interest. When the "L" roads tried to get the Battery, it was his money that supplied the counsel and the agitation against such an infringement on the public park lands.

A passage-at-arms here took place between Mr. Ira D. Warren and Mr. Crimmins, which brought forth a repetition of the latter's explanations. At one point Mr. Warren said, "Who will constitute the Sinking Fund Commission five years hence? Will they be trustworthy to carry out the provisions of this bill? We remember that nineteen years ago thieves were in power and later fools incompetent to fill the offices over which they had control. What assurance have we that we will not again have the city government in the hands of such men? We should not give unlimited power over these new parks to any set of officials. This honest administration of Mayor Grant's has introduced a bill for the privileges of which any business man would give $500,000."

Thomas C. Higgins did not see what benefit would accrue to the city from the Ives bill. He thought a vote should be taken.

E. T. Young suggested, out of courtesy to the Mayor, that Mr. Crimmins' resolution should be allowed to be withdrawn.

Richard V. Harnett rose to state that he had not anticipated taking part in the discussion, but he wished to say that he thought it unwise to interfere with the parks now that they had been taken for the public benefit. Never in his experience in real estate had he found such an opposition to the Ives bill, and that, too, by many who were originally opposed to the new parks.

Samuel McMillan said he knew the Mayor from boyhood, and had every confidence in his integrity. He did not think Mr. Grant knew of the errors in the Ives bill when he supported it.

There was a call for a vote, and, on being put by the chair, the resolution of Mr. Crimmins was allowed to be withdrawn.

Frank R. Houghton presented the following resolution:

Whereas, It is claimed that owing to the great confusion existing in the present laws relating to the building of railways in the City of New York, that it is impossible at the present time to build any new rapid transit roads.

Resolved, That the manager of the Real Estate Exchange be requested to communicate with the various projected rapid transit railways and inquire wherein the present laws are conflicting or defective, and what new legislation is required to enable new roads to be built.

The resolution was ordered to be laid upon the table.

Senate bill No. 324, introduced by Senator Grady, in regard to repairs to pavements in New York City, was referred to the Committee on City Improvements, as was Assembly bill 733, introduced by Mr. Connelly, to bond contractors who blast with high explosives. The latter is the Mayor's measure, introduced at the instance of the Real Estate Exchange.

Geo. S. Lespinasse introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, The speedy completion of the Harlem River Canal is of great importance to the prosperity of New York City; and

Whereas, It is reported that if the necessary appropriations are made as required, the work can be completed within three years.

Resolved, That the Legislative Committee respectfully call the attention of the United States Senators and Congressmen from New York to this fact, and respectfully request that they give this matter their earnest attention and use all endeavors to secure the necessary appropriations to carry out this work.

The committee then adjourned.

Auctioning Off the New Signs.

Quite a crowd of Real Estate Exchange members surrounded Manager Hardwicke on Monday to bid for the choice of the second row of signs on the walls of the Auction Room, over which there was so much controversy about a month ago. The character of the lessees of these new signs shows that the respectability of the auctioneers who have stands on the floor will not by any means suffer from association. It was some time ago intimated that the manager would be served with an injunction to stay proceedings when he mounted the rostrum to auction off the signs, but this was either a joke on the part of the auctioneers or an effort to keep the manager in a state of nervousness for a week or two prior to the sale, for no such injunction was served on him.

The first choice of the twenty-one signs brought out some spirited bidding. Geo. R. Read started the bidding at $5, Jere. Johnson, Jr., soon followed with $10, and other bidders ran it up to $75, at which point Mr. Johnson jumped to $100, a leap that staggered his competitors and gave him the coveted sign. When the auctioneer asked him the number he wished to select it was found that he had taken one almost directly over his present sign, and on comparing notes subsequently it was observed that the Johnsons have a triangle, consisting of Mr. Johnson's sign and new Nos. 15 and 16 over his stand, purchased by him and his son. The second choice fell to F. De Kuyter Wissmann, who paid $50 premium for it, and the third to Geo. R. Read, who paid $45. The sale was voted a success, and the premiums obtained are about as good us the Auction Room Committee had anticipated.

It should be explained that no member was allowed to rent more than one sign. This did not, however, exclude any of the auctioneers who already had stands and signs from renting one of the new ones; that is to say, if Richard V. Harnett & Co., A. H. Muller & Son, E. H. Ludlow & Co., or any other of the auctioneers who have signs on the first row had desired to rent a sign on the second row nearest adjacent theirs, they could have done so, but they would not have had the privilege of renting more than one on the second row. It is a curious fact that the only auctioneer who availed himself of this opportunity was Jere. Johnson, Jr. Not one of the others seemed to care sufficient about the space near them, or the firm that might rent it, to bid on it and obtain it for themselves.

The best signs, from an advertising point of view, are those nearest the auctioneers who do the largest business and draw the largest crowds, but this fact was evidently only recognized by a few of the successful bidders.

Below is a list of the lessees, with the stands chosen by them, and the auctioneers nearest to whom their signs are secured. The second row of signs auctioned off on Monday are not directly over the old auctioneers but adjacent to them, or between the spaces some four or five feet above them, and this has tended to allay much of the irritation and opposition at first displayed against the innovation. The price in each case named below includes the annual rent of $100 and the premium paid :

The four signs unsold are all applied for, and the amount realized will be equal to about one-half of 1 per cent. on the capital stock.

Legislation Affecting New York City.

The Court of Appeals decision declaring the Arcade Railroad charter unconstitutional, after nearly twenty years of legislation and legal strife in the courts, caused considerable consternation in the Legislature, coming, as it does at a time when the subject of increased rapid transit facilities for the City of New York is the uppermost topic of importance here.

To go through all that formula with its attendant litigation will take many years, and in that view of the situation underground transit in New York is now as far off from realization as it ever was. Thus the proposed pending cable legislation has taken a fresh impulse, as the only practicable means of giving the people of New York ready relief. The Cable Company has run the gamut of the courts, and almost as soon as the necessary enabling act is passed, work on the construction of the parallel lines may begin. Within a year, the friends of the scheme claim, cable cars may be in operation on Lexington and other avenues. This is the sentiment in the Legislature now. Hence there is little doubt of the passage of the bill introduced by Senator Pierce in the Senate and Robert Ray Hamilton in the Assembly, notwithstanding the opposition of Mayor Grant. In reference to this branch of the subject it is argued that the plan of Mayor Grant to have a commission appointed by the courts to fix upon the best scheme is not only open to serious objection on account of the postponement of a solution of the transit problem, but that it is also a part of a scheme to play into the hands of the new syndicate represented by Whitney, Payne and Lamont, who propose to gridiron New York with cable roads, as their Philadelphia and Standard Oil partners have already gridironed Philadelphia. It is said that if Mayor Grant persists in his opposition to the Cable bill, a measure will be speedily introduced and pushed through, restoring the power of confirmation upon the Board of Aldermen, which is something that the Mayor will hardly wish, as on the first of May he will have the filling by appointment of thirty-eight fat places. It is thought that no difficulty will be experienced in passing such a bill, as the hayseed-Republicans bear Mr. Grant no good feeling on account of his recent utterance that he proposes to make the Police Board partizan. As it controls the election machinery of the city the Republicans thus favor retaliation. But will Governor Hill sign a bill giving to the Board of Aldermen the power of confirmation? is a question which is asked. To this, reply is made in this wise : How can he afford to veto it in the face of his well-defined policy in favor of local self-government? From all of which it may be seen that a lively street surface railway war is at hand, to which, in the order of things, the existing car-line corporations will lend a hand.

In his veto of Assemblyman Connolly's West End Avenue bill, which gave the Park Department jurisdiction over it within prescribed limits, Governor Hill said the bill would set a precedent for putting other streets under the same control. He added that the measure was not in the interest of the city, but in that of real estate speculators on West End avenue. Rising to a question of privilege, Mr. Connolly explained that he introduced the bill in good faith but knew little as to its merits, and had left it to the judgment of the Governor to veto the bill or not as he saw fit.

Legislation has taken on an active spurt this week, and the wheels revolved with a rapidity which will be increased still more so next week, when evening sessions on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday will be held in addition to the daily sessions.

A great many important committee reports were made, in addition to that of the Cable bill by the Senate Railroad Committee. Among these were:

Cities—Mr. Hornidge's Dock bill, Mr. Blumenthal's Exterior (East River) Street bill, Mr. Roesch's Health Board bill, and Mr. Blumenthal's Street Opening bill.

Commerce and Navigation—Mr. Kerrigan's, setting apart one dock in eight for the use of the public as a promenade.

Cities—Mr. Cantor's New York Public Buildings bill, and Mr. Van Cott's extending the route of the Fifth Avenue Stage Line.

Assemblyman Crosby has introduced a bill appointing Andrew H. Green, J. S. T. Stranahan, John Foord, Frederick W. Devoe and Calvert Vaux, the State Engineer and Surveyor, and one person to be designated by each of the following: The Mayor of New York, Mayor of Brooklyn, the Boards of Supervisors of Westchester, Queens, Kings and Richmond counties. The commissioners so chosen shall inquire into the expediency of enlarging the area of the City of New York by including within its limits adjacent or neighboring territory, and to report from time to time their conclusions and recommendations. The commissioners are to serve without compensation. The City of New York is authorized to expend a sum not to exceed $5,000 for the expense of the commission.

Among other important new bills introduced are the following:

By Mr. Duffy.—Compelling the trustees of the New York and Brooklyn Bridge to provide elevators at some convenient point between the entrance to bridge at Park row, New York, and South street, same city, for reception and accommodation of bridge travelers. The trustees are directed to acquire real estate necessary for the location of such elevators, waiting rooms thereat for passengers and operation of elevators, and to borrow such sums as may be required therefor. Elevators are for use by both foot passengers over the bridge and passengers in cars running over the bridge railway. Upon each person ascending or descending in said elevators toll not exceeding two cents shall be imposed.

By Mr. McAdam.—Authorizing railroad corporations which have purchased at public auction franchises to use streets, roads and avenues, and have agreed to give for such rights 30 per cent. per annum of their gross receipts, to use the tracks of other railroads.

By Senator Cantor.—Providing for the completion of the north extension of the Metropolitan Museum of Arts at a cost not to exceed $400,000.

By Mr. Cronin.—Incorporating the New York and Long Island Bridge Company over Blackwell's Island.

By Mr. Mullaney.—Making it unlawful for any steam boiler to be placed in buildings where human beings dwell, assemble or congregate, and all such boilers shall be placed in a separate boiler house.

By Senator Murphy.—Allowing lessees of street surface railways to abandon any route no longer necessary for the successful operation of the road.

By Senator Walker.—Giving the Railroad Commissioners power, under the law of 1884, to change the operation of street railroads by other than horse power ,except locomotives.

By Senator Murphy.—Appropriating $10,000 for a monument in Central Park to John Ericsson.

By Senator Van Cott.—Amending the law relative to the charges of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment.

The Assembly has passed Senator Ives' Museum of Natural History bill in an amended form. It gives the Board of Estimate and Apportionment power to order the opening of the institution on Sunday.

Mr. Schoff's, providing for the expenditure of $25,000 for the pavement of Wallabout Market square in Brooklyn, also passed the Assembly.

Tom Creamer's Broadway Elevated Railroad bill has taken a new shape. At the meeting of the Assembly Railroad Committee yesterday, at his request, the bill which he introduced early in the session, and which at the time was severely criticised in the press, was amended so as to exempt Broadway, above the City Hall Park, from the operations of the bill. It is now proposed to erect a steel viaduct along Broadway from the Battery to the City Hall Park, and thence along Elm and Mulberry streets to the Grand Central depot. It is believed that the old Elm street widening scheme is also concealed somewhere in this measure. Another branch runs along West and Hudson streets, and 10th avenue to the Harlem River. There is to be a single track along each side of Broadway, with the cable as a motive power. Mr. Creamer denied to-day that Jay Gould had any interest in the scheme, or that it was a Cable Road bill. He did not deny, however, that Jose F. Navarro, Jay Gould's partner, was behind the bill, as he was of the proposed Broadway Elevated bill last year, which was killed by public clamor. As amended, the bill will be favorably reported.

This committee is also almost unanimously in favor of the Cable bill, which was introduced by Mr. Hamilton, and the bill would have been reported to the House yesterday, were it not that it was thought best to wait and see what is the nature of the bill which Corporation Counsel Beekman has brought here at the suggestion of Mayor Grant. The bill will come up again on Tuesday.

Corporation Counsel Beekman has a substitute here for the Ives Park bill. The new measure gives authority to the Park Department to lay out on a map the lots of the new parks it proposes to lease. The map is to be publicly exhibited in the Parks Department after a public hearing has been held, and the approval of the map by the Sinking Fund Commissioners has been obtained. None of the proposed changes shall be made without the consent of the Legislature. The substitute bill does not affect the boundaries of the parks. A committee of citizens, at the head of which is Fordham Morris, is here to oppose all changes. They say that the city has purchased the parks for the public, and they should be opened as soon as possible. They also denounced all proposed leasing and selling as part of a scheme of a syndicate of real estate speculators.

As reported by the General Laws Committee of the Assembly to-day, the Telephone bill was so amended as to make the telephone charges in New York city $100 a year.

To-day is the last one in which bills can be introduced without taking their place at the foot of the calendar. The fate of all bills hereafter introduced at this session is exceedingly dubious. Bills piled in yesterday and to-day in both Houses in a lively fashion. One of the most important ones to save "its distance" was a bill introduced in the Senate by Mr. Pierce, rehabilitating the New York Arcade Tube charter, which now remains in existence after the Court of Appeals decision early in the week.

The property-owners who appeared before the Committee on Public Works of the Board of Aldermen on Wednesday, to protest against the continuance of the Polo Grounds, was one of the strongest representations of propertied interests which has appeared before any Aldermanic committee for some time. There is no doubt that the Polo Grounds have seriously injured surrounding property and decreased its assessed valuation, to the detriment of both the owners and the city revenue. John S. Scott, who said he owns $40,000 worth of realty in the neighborhood, was one of the protestants. The lease of the grounds expires in May, 1890, and it is understood that efforts are to be made to vacate the property by October.

Notes and Items.

At the special meeting on Tuesday, March 19th, of the New York Bar Association, will come up for consideration plans for a new building for the association. At a recent meeting Mr. William M. Prichard, chairman of a special committee, reported that plans for the rebuilding of the old portion of the present quarters had been prepared, and it was estimated that the cost would be about $110,000. To provide for this it was proposed by a resolution that the association borrow $100,000, secured by a mortgage on its property.

Archbishop Corrigan has formed a new parish on the west side. Its limits are from 110th street to 123d street and from 5th avenue to 9th avenue. Work will at once be begun on the erection of a temporary church on property purchased in 118th street, near 8th avenue.

At the meeting of the Board of Street Opening and Improvement on Friday the College place improvement came up for consideration. The secretary read the report of a special committee appointed to estimate the cost of the proposed widening of College place and its extension through to Fulton street. The expense for acquiring title to the necessary property and paving the new street was put at $1,009,370. This, however, would take the extension only to Fulton street. If it should be decided to extend College place still further to Dey street, there would be an additional charge of $125,136, bringing the total up to $1,134,412. A resolution was passed adopting the report and calling upon the Commissioner of Public Works for the necessary maps.

At the same meeting of the Board a hearing was given to property-owners interested in the projected extension of Bethune street from Greenwich street through to Hudson street. This extension would be about 130 feet long, taking in two houses on Hudson street and two on Greenwich street, making the street about 50 feet wide. The estimated cost of acquiring the property is $80,000 and of paving $4,295, making a total of $84,295. Most of the property-holders in the vicinity appear to be in favor of this improvement. There are large manufacturing houses on Bethune street and in the vicinity which need an outlet east without being forced to make a detour. The only interested person who appeared against the improvement was the owner of the property which would be used for the purpose of extension. His business would be destroyed by the change. He had, however, no public grounds of objection. The Board voted to lay the matter over until the next regular meeting, which will take place on April 5th.

At the meeting of the Armory Board on Thursday a report from the Committee on Sites was read suggesting that Armory sites for the Ninth and Sixty-ninth Regiments be selected below 42d street. The report was accepted and placed on file. Two sites were suggested for the Ninth Regiment. One is on the south side of 30th street, between 6th and 7th avenues, with a frontage of 265.11 on 29th street and 210 feet on 30th street. According to Commissioner Coleman, Col. Seward is opposed to this situation. The other site is that now occupied by the Twenty-second Regiment in 14th street with two additional lots adjoining on the east. For the Sixty-ninth Regiment the committee suggested the site now occupied with additional property on the east.

Real Estate Department.

The market during the week has been good at private sale, while the properties offered at auction have been quite numerous. The increase in the number and amount of the conveyance and mortgage deeds recorded during the week, over the figures for the corresponding period last year, is worth noting. This feature has shown itself in the records for several weeks past, and is an evidence that the public is buying more largely than it did a year ago at this time. A reference to the conveyances this week will show that an unusual number of transactions were recorded of $100,000 and upwards. The number of parcels transferred was 305 as against 142 in the same week last year, and their cost $5,594,361 as against $2,516,195. The mortgages also show up heavily, while the projected buildings show an increase in number from 59 to 82 and in estimated cost from $870,730 to $1,171,575. Next week will be a very active one on the Real Estate Exchange, as will be seen from the announcements which follow:

The auction market opened in a lively manner on Monday, when numerous sales were held. Vacant lots were in a decided majority in the offerings and those which were sold went cheap. There was a fair attendance, including a number of building loan operators, a few builders, and many speculators and dealers. The sale of twenty-six lots on Madison and Park avenues, 93d and 94th streets, was the most interesting of the day, and $233,875 was realized for twenty-six lots. An offer of $10,000 was the first made for the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 93d street, which was the first lot put up. Others followed and hard work on the part of the auctioneer brought the bidding to $15,300, at which figure Builder Philip Braender became the buyer. The same buyer secured the adjoining lot for $10,100, and Morris Steinhardt the next two at $9,950 each. For the four lots on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 93d street (100.8x80) Jacob Bookman gave a total of $42,325. The corner brought $14,000. Seven lots on the south side of 93d street were sold at from $8,100 to $8,400 each to Jacob Bookman, Jacob Schlosser, Peter Somers and L. Z. Bach. The lots on Park avenue and 94th street, opposite the new 8th Regiment Armory, were next offered. F. J. Schnugg secured the corner and lot adjoining at $13,000 and $9,500 respectively, and Morris Steinhardt the next two on the avenue at $9,150 each. Francis Lahey, Peter Fox, and F. J. Schnugg secured the 94th street lots at from $6,550 to $7,400 apiece. All the foregoing lots are free from rock and ready for improvement. The prices obtained for the corner lots are given herewith :

Park av, s w cor 94th st, 100.8x105	48,200

These figures are lower than it was expected the lots would sell for, as well as much less than other lots thereabouts have recently been sold for. Among the corners, close to the above property now being improved, are the following:

Madison av, n w cor 92d st	Builder Walter Reid.
Madison av, n w cor 93d st	Builder Ruddell.
Park av, n e cor 92d st	Builder A. J. Kerwin.

Among other sales held were the following: The southeast corner of 97th street and the Riverside Drive, 21.11 on street x100.11x62x108 on the Drive, which was struck down at $14,600; two lots, one each on 97th and 96th streets, 25 feet east of the Drive lot, were knocked down at $6,100 each; one lot on the southwest corner of 8th avenue and 113th street went for $13,350, but it was whispered about that title will not change hands on account of the sale; a dwelling on East 38th street (No. 13) and a stable in the rear on 39th street (No. 18), belonging to the Pease estate, were bid in by parties in interest at $68,500 and $36,100 respectively. We hear the dwelling is held at about $70,200. Three large flats on the northeast corner of 7th avenue and 127th street were sold under foreclosure, after several postponements, for $149,117, or several thousand dollars less than is due thereon. The plaintiff became the buyer.

Tuesday was an extremely busy day at the Salesroom, and the attendance was large. Sales were held by no less than nine auctioneers, and it was extremely difficult to keep track of all that was going on. The offerings were of a very miscellaneous character, embracing all kinds of property in this city as well as many parcels in Brooklyn and on Long Island. The four-story brick building No. 146 Pearl street was sold for $30,000 to H. Wellbrook. Some of the dwellings offered were No. 133 West 14th and No. 34 West 17th street. The former went for $28,000, while the latter was secured by a party in interest at $41,000. Joel E. Hyams secured No. 38 East 74th street on a bid of $23,500, and the dwelling No. 68 East 83d street was struck down at $24,250. The leasehold No. 11 West 50th street went to one of the Colgate heirs, and the dwelling No. 36 East 36th street, belonging to the same estate, was not offered, having been previously disposed of at private sale. The dwellings Nos. 1106 and 1108 Park avenue, the city property belonging to the Charlick estate, were not sold, as no bids were made therefor. Brooklyn and out of town parcels belonging to the same estate realized a total of $11,435.

Business was only moderately active at the Exchange on Wednesday, when the sales were comparatively light compared with Tuesday's business. Among the most costly parcels offered was the dwelling No. 44 East 65th street. It was struck down at $28,000. Three lots on 105th street, west of 9th avenue, went for $7,500 each, and three in the rear on 106th street at $7,525 each.

Thursday was a busy day on 'Change and there was a large attendance. The sale of parcels on 6th and 5th avenues, Grand, Clinton, Madison and Rose streets, belonging to the estate of Samuel F. Mott, was the most important held, and a total of $280,250 was realized for the seven parcels sold. No. 174 5th avenue was sold for $101,000 to D. C. Connell, and No. 596 6th avenue, northeast corner of 35th street, 24.8x100, was purchased by Pawnbroker Henry McAleenan for $86,400, and No. 386 Grand street, near Suffolk, 24.10x75, went to William Smyth at $36,750.

On Friday the only property offered, No. 11 Minetta street, was bid in by the plaintiff at $6,500.

On Monday, March 18th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the well-located house No. 16 East 42d street, the dwelling No. 233 West 22d street, and the lot and dwelling at No. 52 West 10th street, the eight-family tenement at No. 524 West 27th street, and the plot of four lots, with frame dwelling, on the northeast corner of the Grand Boulevard and 155th street, on which 75 per cent. may remain for one to five years.

On Tuesday, March 19th, Jas. S. McQuillen will conduct a partition sale of property, by order of D. Phœnix Ingraham & Co. It comprises the lot and building at No. 153 Franklin street, and the lot, with dwelling, at No. 4 Watts street, with right of way through alley and including passageway in the rear to Broome street.

On Tuesday, March 19th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell, by order of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, forty-seven lots on 10th and Convent avenues, 130th, 131st, 132d and 133d streets. This will be a notable auction, as it will place upon the market property hitherto unapproachable for building purposes. It will be an absolute sale.

On Tuesday, March 19th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell, to close an estate, the valuable store and tenement properties at Nos. 525 3d avenue and 203 and 205 East 35th street, on the northeast corner, and Nos. 647 and 649 2d avenue; also the plot with four-story buildings at Nos. 279 to 283 4th avenue, adjoining Calvary Church and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; the valuable business property at No. 45 Vesey street, near Church street; the two tenements with five stores at Nos. 1751 and 1753 1st avenue, on the southwest corner of 91st street; the four-story dwelling at No. 441 East 52d street; the tenement No. 326 East 53d street, and the flat in the rear at No. 323 East 52d street.

On Wednesday, March 20th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will conduct an important sale of business and other properties belonging to the estate of the late John Meeks. The offerings will include Nos. 10 and 12 Barclay street, within about 200 feet of Broadway; Nos. 18 and 26 Vesey street, near Broadway; No. 69 Leonard street, between Broadway and Church street; No. 251 Church street, between Leonard and Franklin streets; No. 13 Beach street, adjoining the northwest corner of St. John's lane; No. 19 Charles street, near Waverley place; No. 136 Madison avenue, on the northwest corner of 31st street; and No. 116 East 23d street, 200 feet east of 4th avenue. This will be quite an important sale, and will no doubt attract a large crowd of investors and others.

On Thursday, March 21st, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the valuable New York and Brooklyn properties belonging to the Brainerd Quarry Company. They comprise the following: The handsome apartment houses situated at Nos. 124, 130 and 132 East 76th street; on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 86th street, and on the southeast corner of Park avenue and 87th street, known respectively as "The Park Hill," "The Oriental" and "The Occidental," and the property at No. 432 East 92d street—all of which are in New York City. Also No. 590 Franklin avenue, No. 444 5th street, No. 449 6th street, No. 299 10th street, Nos. 152 and 154 Decatur street, No. 365 Monroe street and No. 368 President street, and properties on Hancock street, near Lewis street; St. Mark's avenue, near Franklin; and Carroll street, near Nostrand—all of which are in Brooklyn.

On Thursday, March 21st, Thomas A. Kerrigan will sell, at the auction rooms, No. 37 Willoughby street, Brooklyn, a number of improved and unimproved properties in that city, situate on Montague, Jay, Hicks, Union, Sackett, Court, Adelphi, 13th, Butler and Pacific streets; Myrtle, Vanderbilt, Tompkins, New York, Nostrand, Pacific, Bedford and Atlantic avenues, and Park place. This will be an important sale of Brooklyn realty and includes many good properties.

On Thursday, March 21st, William Kennelly will sell, by order of the Supreme Court, the three five-story and cellar double tenements at Nos. 322, 324 and 326 East 61st street. They have brick and stone fronts, fourteen rooms per floor and a number of improvements, and are each 26.8x85x100.5 in size.

On Thursday, March 21st, Thomas C. Smith will sell the premises Nos. 156, 158 and 160 Hester street, with the four-story brick building thereon known as "Armory Hall," and the two three-story brick buildings Nos. 108, 108½ and 110 Mott street, adjoining the Hester street parcel. At the same time Mr. Smith will also sell the two four-story brown stone tenements Nos. 321 and 323 East 80th street, each 25x60x102.2 feet.

On Thursday, March 21st, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the four-story dwelling at No. 165 West 79th street, by order of the assignee, and the four-story house, with deep lot, at No. 72 First place, Brooklyn, with court yard in front; also No. 212 East 85th street.

On Thursday, March 21st, A. H. Muller & Son will conduct an important sale of improved and unimproved property, by order of the executor of the late John W. Mitchell. It will take in No. 237 West 15th street, No. 216 West 29th street, No. 66 Thompson street, Nos. 209 and 211 West 83d street; twenty-six lots on 10th avenue, 87th and 88th streets; four lots on the southwest corner of 8th avenue and 101st street, 139th and and 140th streets; thirty-two lots at Flushing, L. I., and a house and land at Woodside, L. I.; a farm of 120 acres at Eastchester, N. Y., and the property at No, 48 Hillyer street, Orange, N. J. Seventy per cent. will be allowed to remain for from one to three years.

On Monday, March 25th, Brown & Leviness will sell, by order of the executor, Aaron Ogden, the hotel and grounds known as Wagner's Hotel (formerly Louis Brosi's.) The property has a frontage of 125 feet on Jerome or Central avenue to 200 feet on Woodlawn avenue, with an average depth of 348 feet, equal to more than twenty-one city lots. The hotel is three stories high and contains ten rooms above the first floor.

A building plot on 152d street, between 10th avenue and the Grand Boulevard, in size 100 feet by half the block, is offered to lease for ninety-nine years, at a rental of $1,250 per annum. The property has an altitude of about 130 feet, and commands a splendid view. It is in a rapidly-improving neighborhood and is desirable for improvement. Particulars are to be obtained from the owner at No. 18 East 50th street.

Over 20,000 square feet of floors is offered on a lease of $450 per month at Nos. 110 and 112 East 13th street, adjoining Union square. The building is well adapted for storage, manufacturing or any other business, and has just been vacated by the well-known firm of Van Tassell & Kearney. There is a vault under the sidewalk with 44 feet frontage and the building has windows on four sides. The place is open for inspection and the owner can be communicated with at No. 18 East 50th street.

Alfred Zucker is preparing plans for a large six-story store and warehouse building, 56x129, which Theodore Cohnfeld will build at Nos. 98 and and 100 Bleecker street, with wing 100x24, at No. 170 Greene street, and another wing, 100x20, at No. 197 Mercer street. The fronts will be of granite, free-stone and iron, and the building will be fitted with freight and passenger elevators, electric lights and all improvements. It will be occupied on a ten year's lease by a large wholesale house, and will cost $250,000.

W. E. D. Stokes will shortly commence the erection of ten four-story, high stoop, brick and stone front residences on the northwest corner of West End avenue and 86th street. They will each be 20x56 in dimension, exclusive of two and four-story extensions, with the exception of the corner, which will be 22x85, and almost the duplicate of the house purchased by Mrs. U. S. Grant, Jr., on the northwest corner of 73d street and West End avenue. Five of the houses will front on the street and five on the avenue. They will have all the improvements, and their cost is estimated at between $250,000 and $275,000. Joseph H. Taft is the architect.

Ten more houses are to be commenced immediately on corners on the same avenue, five by Barney, Jencks & Stokes on the northwest corner of West End avenue and 87th street, and five by Squier & Whipple on the southeast corner of West End avenue and 88th street. They will be nearly similar in character to those to be built by Mr. Stokes, and will cost about $250,000. The plans are being prepared by J. H. Taft.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church has purchased ten lots on the north side of 141st street, extending from Convent avenue to Hamilton Terrace. We understand that they will build a church which will cost about $250,000, and that plans are being drawn by E. L. Roberts.

Terence Farley's Sons will shortly file plans for the ten four-story houses for which they are excavating on the south side of 71st street, 200 feet east of 9th avenue. They will be 20x65 each, exclusive of two-story and basement extensions, and will cost about $225,000, so the architects, Thom & Wilson, estimate.

Cleverdon & Putzel are the architects for six five-story brick and brown stone front flats, 25x73.6 each, to be built by W. W. Hall on the north side of 102d street, 150 feet west of 9th avenue, at a cost of about $110,000.

The Academy of Medicine intends to erect a handsome building for medical and other purposes on the north side of 44th street, on a plot of 100x100.5, commencing 245 feet west of 5th avenue. Another institution, the name of which has not transpired, is said to contemplate building on the south side of that street in the rear of Dr. Paxton's Church. It was thought that that minister's wealthy congregation would secure the property and extend the church through to 43d street. The Berkeley Lyceum, it is understood, too, contemplate an extension of their building on the property they have bought adjoining to the east. All these improvements will remove a number of stables which have been detrimental to that locality for many years.

A. B. Darling is about to build a six-story warehouse at Nos. 133, 135 and 137 West 23d street, running through to 24th street. It will have a frontage of 75.8 feet on the former street and 66.8 feet on the latter. The site adjoins the 23d Street Theatre, and is within about 30 feet of th Church St. Vincent De Paul. The first floor will contain stores, and th front will be of brick, stone and terra cotta. There will be two elevator

The Hotel Bartholdi is to be enlarged to the extent of 200 extra rooms. The changes will necessitate the removal of the tenants in the property belonging to the Kearney estate, adjoining the hotel. John H. Hill, manager of the Hotel Bartholdi Company, said: "The building will extend over the Broadway front and will be built over the billiard hall now on the site. The intention is to build up the front as high as the hotel now is, thus making it all seven stories high, to correspond with the present building. Part of the work will shortly be commenced and part later on. Our architect is W. K. Morgan, of Buffalo and New York."

James E. Ware has plans under way for a five-story brick and stone store building, 25x57.3, with cellar and sub-cellar, which the estate of George W. Welch will erect at No. 25 Barclay street, on the corner of Church street. The cost has not yet been estimated. The old building will be taken down about the 1st of May.

The New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, as trustee for an estate, are about to build a six-story fire-proof warehouse, 52.6x75 in dimension, at Nos. 50 and 52 Lafayette place, adjoining the Astor Library. It is to have passenger and freight elevators and will cost about $95,000. The plans are being prepared by D. & J. Jardine. It is said that a prominent firm of lithographers will occupy the building.

J. H. Duncan has plans under way for two private residences, to be built for W. J. Ehrich and Richard Cunningham, on the north side of 74th street, near 8th avenue. These houses will have dining-room extensions and will be 25 feet wide. The cost has not yet been estimated.

Charles B. Atwood is preparing plans for a brick and terra cotta Gothic church, which the Unity Congregational Society will erect on the northwest corner of Lenox avenue and 121st street. The church will have a tile roof, and will cost about $40,000.

The Dutch Reformed Church intends to extend and alter the property on the northwest corner of 3d avenue and 123d street at a cost of about $20,000. It will be converted into a large store on the first floor, with lofts above. Plans are being prepared by J. R. Thomas.

A piano factory, five stories high and 50x90 in size, is to be built by Howard D. Hamm at Nos. 159 and 161 East 126th street. It will be occupied by Krakauer Bros., of Union square.

Rentz and Lange have plans for two five story brick, stone and terra cotta tenements with rooms for four families on each floor, which Fay and Stacom will build on the lot, 50.6x100, at Nos. 21, 23, and 25 Eldridge street; cost, $40,000. They have also plans for connecting the stores Nos. 161-169 6th avenue with a new one story extension, 22.6x51, which the Rhinelander estate will build in the rear of No. 108 West 12th street. Interior alterations will also be made; cost, $8,000.

Stables for the Fifth Avenue Stage Line will probably be built upon the six or eight lots, said to have been secured for the purpose, on 88th and 89th streets, just east of Madison avenue.

An appropriation of $12,000 has been made for the purpose of replacing the marble steps in front of the City Hall, and for retiling the portico to which they lead. An artificial stone pavement is also to be laid to replace the uneven bluestone flagging now in front of the steps.

Five first-class flats with a store on the corner will be erected on the four lots, 100x106, on the southwest corner of Willis avenue and 137th street.

The West End Theatre, to be built on the northeast corner of 7th avenue and 124th street, the particulars of which first appeared in this column last Saturday, has received extended notices from the daily papers during the week.

Joseph Wolf is preparing plans for a five-story brick stone and terra cotta apartment house, 25x65, which Christian Striffler will erect at No. 508 West 48th street. It is to be finished in hardwoods, and two families will be provided for on each floor. The cost has not been estimated.

Isaac Cohen will make some alterations in the three-story and basement brick building at No. 30 West Houston street. A two-story and basement extension, 38x20, is to be built in the rear, to be used as business lofts. Herter Bros. will draw the plans. Cost, $4,000.

Additions have been made to the plans which Schneider & Herter are preparing for the five apartment houses which, as we have previously reported, Angelo Mondolfo will build on the southeast corner of Lexington avenue and 48th street, which will increase the total cost to $290,000.

Brooklyn.

A political reform association, known as the Union League Club of Brooklyn, is seeking a site, about 100x100, in the 23d Ward, on which to erect a club-house. About $20,000 is available for the land, and as much as $50,000 is to be spent upon the building. Francis H. Wilson is president of the club, and D. M. Munger is vice-president. No architect has as yet been selected.

W. M. Coots will prepare plans for two four-story brick, stone and terra cotta apartment houses, 28x62, with 8x14 extension, which Assip & Buckley will build on the north side of President street, 95 feet west of Henry street. Two families will be provided for on each floor. Each house will cost $18,000.

F. B. Moore is soon to erect a five-story brick and stone apartment house, 25x60, at No. 350 Bridge street, from plans by J. Graham Glover. Cost, $12,000.

Oscar S. Teale, of New York, has plans on the boards for a brick chapel, 53x100, which the Lewis Avenue Congregational Church will erect on a corner of Lewis and Putnam avenues. It will have a slate roof and wil be heated by hot air. The windows will be of stained glass. Cost, $20,000.

Geo. R. Brown is soon to build five three-story brick apartment houses, 25x50, on the south side of Bergen street, 95 feet east of Clason avenue. The floors will be arranged for two families each. They will cost together $15,000. Mr. Brown will also build two first-class five-story apartment houses on the west side of Elliot place, 117 feet south of De Kalb avenue. They will be heated by steam, finished in hardwood, and will have handsome fronts of brick and terra cotta. Each will cost $25,000.

Mercein Thomas will prepare plans for a three-story brick and brown stone building, 25x50, which the Carleton Club will build adjoining and connecting with their present club house on the southeast corner of Flatbush and 6th avenues. It will contain bowling alleys, billiard-rooms and dining-hall, in addition to the usual club reception-rooms and library. It will have a bay in the first and second stories on the Flatbush avenue side, and an entrance on 6th avenue. The cost will be about $14,000.

Out of Town.

BATH BEACH, L. I.—Anson Squire will build three or four two-and-a-half-story summer cottages, finished in shingle, and to cost from $5,000 to $7,000 each. Parfitt Bros., of Brooklyn, will draw the plans.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Board of Aldermen have authorized a loan of $1,000,000 to complete the new public library building.

BELLEHAVEN, CONN.—N. Witherill is soon to erect a three-story and basement country residence, 60x40, from plans by Lamb & Rich, of New York. Builder J. P. Crosby, of Greenwich, Conn., will place the contracts.

CHESHIRE, CONN.—Henry Dudley, of New York, is preparing plans for a frame chapel which is to be built by the trustees of St. Peter's Church. The new building will be two stories high and will contain the church parlors and the new Sunday-school rooms. Cost, $4,500.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J.—E. G. W. Dietrich, of New York, will prepare plans for a two-and-a-half-story stone and frame cottage, 25x50, soon to be built here at a cost of $6,000. Some stained glass will be used. The name of the owner is withheld.

GREENPORT, L. I.—The contract for the construction of a system of water works for this place and for a similar one at Sag Harbor has been awarded to Charles K. Moore, of 121 Liberty street, New York. The high pressure system will be adopted, and large iron stand pipes will be erected which will contain over 200,000 gallons each. About six miles of pipe will be laid, and the entire cost will be about $75,000.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I.—Adolf L. Ladenburg, the well-known banker, is about to build a handsome villa here in the Colonial style for J. F. D. Lanier, of New York, who will use it partly as a hunting box. It will be three stories high and 43x38 in size, exclusive of the verandas, and will cost about $10,000. Electrical apparatus and other modern improvements will be provided. James Brown Lord is the architect.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has, it is said, just purchased a large tract of land at Greenville, extending 3,660 feet along New York Bay, and comprising about fifty acres of upland and the right to 420 acres under water. The entire cost of the purchase is said to have been $1,179,000. The property will probably be improved and used for terminal purposes.

The vestrymen of Grace Church have decided to build a new front to their edfice and to make some internal alterations and improvements. A new chapel, 50x50, will be built for the accommodation of the Sunday-school and lecture rooms. J. August Lienau will draw the plans. Cost about $30,000.

LARCHMONT, N. Y.—Michael Kane, whose fertilizing depots have caused so much annoyance to the olfactory organs of New Yorkers, is going to remodel his houses here.

MORRISTOWN, N. J.—Lamb & Rich, of New York, will prepare plans for a two-story and attic stone and frame house, 60x50, for Mr. Nevins. It is to be in the Old Colonial style. The cost has not been estimated.

NEWARK, N. J.—Rev. James J. McKeever, the pastor of the new parish in Roseville, has secured ground, 100 feet by 60, fronting on Humboldt and Orange streets, where he is about to build a two-story brick church at a cost of $15,000. The building will be used for a church only temporarily. Later it will be turned into a school and a more costly church, together with a rectory and a Sister's house, will be erected elsewhere.

NUTLEY, N. J.—A large number of cottages have recently been purchased here by parties who intend making Nutley their home. C. T Barney and other of the larger property owners have built and sold during the past two years about sixty two-and-a-half and three-story frame cottages, ranging in value from $2,500 to $6,000 each. Mr. Barney intends during the coming spring to build about fifteen more of these houses, and James R. Hay, his representative, is now arranging with Architects A. D. Pickering and William Strom, of New York, in regard to the plans. Eight of these houses will cost about $5,000 to build, and the others will cost from $5,000 to $7,000 each. Mr. Satterthwaite will also improve some of his property here by the erection of six or seven frame cottages of about the same style and cost. Architect W. Halsey Wood, of Newark, will probably prepare the plans. The town, which now has a population of about $2,000, has just appropriated $12,000 for the construction of three miles of Telford road, and other improvements, as the laying of flagged walks and the introduction of water service, are to be commenced at once. The water company is organized and the mains will be laid within three months, but the contracts have not yet been placed. A handsome new club-house has just been completed at a cost of about $6,000, and the town is steadily increasing in population.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y.—Mr. E. Curry, of Peekskill, has been given a contract for the erection of five buildings, to be ready for occupancy May 1st, in place of those destroyed by fire at Highland Station, near Peekskill, belonging to the Highland Chemical Company.

PLAINFIELD, N. J.—E. G. W. Dietrich is the architect for a two-story frame cottage, 40x50, which will be built here in the early spring. It will be finished in shingle and will contain some stained glass. Probable cost, $5,500.

PORTCHESTER, N. Y.—Work on the Epispocal Church of St. Peter has been commenced. The mason work will be done by James Weir for $16,000, and the carpentering by Michael Shandley for $15,000. At one corner is to be a square tower, which will be provided with a chime of bells.

PORT HENRY, N. Y.—W. C. Witherbee is having plans prepared by F. Carles Merry, of New York, for an elegant three-story residence, 49x63, with extension 25x69, to be occupied by laundry, kitchen and servants' rooms. The first story will be of rock-faced stone, and those above will be faced with shingle. The improvements will include hot water heating apparatus, wiring for electric lights, and hardwood finish on the first floor. Broad piazzas with stone piers will be upon two sides, and an open terrace on another. The house will be situated upon an eminence overlooking Lake Champlain and the Adirondack and Green Mountains, and will cost, when finished, over $25,000.

RICHMOND HILL, N. Y.—W. C. Frohue, of New York, is drawing the plans for a three-story stone and frame residence, 40x40, with kitchen extension, 20x20, which is soon to be commenced at this place. The house will be fitted with hardwood in the first floor, electric bells and all improvements. It will be heated by hot air. Cost, $10,000.

RUTLAND, VT.—Mr. Steele, of this place, is soon to build a two-story and attic frame cottage, faced in shingle, at a cost of $3,000. E. G. W. Dietrich, of New York, will prepare the plans.

SCRANTON, PA.—E. G. W. Dietrich has plans under way for a two-and-a-half-story stone rectory, 46x61, with tiled roof, which is to be built here at a cost of $10,000. It will be finished in hardwoods and will be heated by hot water heating apparatus.

SEWAREN, N. J.—John Taylor Johnston will probably build eight or ten two story and attic frame cottages, worth from $5,000 to $7,000 each. Clarence A. Smith, of New York, will prepare the plans.

SHARON, CONN.—Lamb & Rich, of New York, are preparing plans for an Old Colonial frame residence, 60x60, which Mrs. E. O. Wheeler is soon to build. Dwight Eggleston, of this place, will place all the contracts.

SHORT HILLS, N. J.—Franklin Tinker will build an addition to his residence for the accommodation of his library. Lamb & Rich are preparing the plans. Other additions and alterations are to be made to the house.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—Subscriptions are being taken among the colored lodges and churches here and in other cities, for the purpose of erecting a monument in this city to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, Wm. H. Seward, Charles Sumner, Wendell Phillips, John Brown, and the soldiers of the late war. Articles of incorporation will be secured, and it is hoped to raise $200,000.

SUMMIT, N. J.—The project for the Children's Home to be built here is progressing satisfactorily. It is to be placed on an elevated spot overlooking the surrounding country, and will be three stories high and 32x75 in size. Mrs. W. H. De Forest, the president, in conjunction with other residents here, has been very active in obtaining the necessary funds for the building, which will cost about $12,000. W. E. Mowbray is contributing the plans.

TROY, N. Y.—It is proposed to enlarge the chancel of St. John's Church and put in more stained windows and build a new organ chamber. The cost of the proposed alterations will be about $7,000. Similar alterations will be made in the Church of the Holy Cross by the heirs of the late Mrs. Warren who built the edifice, at a cost of about $5,000. Henry Dudley, of New York, has the plans for the changes in both churches.

WARWICK, N. Y.—E. G. W. Dietrich, of New York, has prepared plans for a stone church, 52x120, with tower 80 feet high, which is soon to be erected here. The church is to have a tiled roof, stained glass windows and a chime of bells. It will have a seating capacity of 700, and will cost about $35,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Capt. Thos. O. Selfridge, Jr., intends to build two handsome three-story residences on Scott's Circle. They will have brick and terra cotta fronts and will be of an ornate character. One will be 50x60 in size, and the other 30x70. They will cost together about $75,000. The plans are being prepared by Architect James Brown Lord, of New York.

Vice-President Levi P. Morton is renting his new family hotel and apartment house on the corner of 15th and H streets very readily. It is not yet completed and will hardly be ready for occupancy till September, yet over one-third of the building, representing $20,000 gross annual income, has already been rented, though but twelve days have elapsed since the apartments were placed on the market. The building is one of the handsomest at the Capital and is fire-proof. It will be furnished without regard to expense, and is expected to cost $400,000 when completed, so Architect P. G. Hubert says. James G. Blaine has purchased four lots on Meridian Hill at the head of 16th street near the new residence of Gen. John B. Henderson, whereon he will erect a fine residence. The price paid for the lots was $17,000.

Special Notices.

In another column will be found the card of Peter Henderson & Co., the well-known seedsmen of Nos. 35 and 37 Cortlandt street. The company have signalized their spring opening by displaying in their window a miniature garden, in which all the different kinds of vegetables, made of papier-machié, grow upon waxen stalks and vines. Crowds can be seen standing around gazing at the figures of men and animals propelled by steam. The spectacle testifies to the enterprise of the firm.

People who wish to have their fine painting done, or who wish in papering their walls to have a large and varied stock to select from, cannot do better than go to Thomas F. Mullen, No. 565 3d avenue, near 37th street, whose card will be found in another column. Mr. Mullen makes real estate agents' work a specialty. Special prices may be had upon application.

Alfred Brumme, of Nos. 411–421 East 23d street, is one of the most thorough business men in the wholesale and retail lumber trade. His yard has been long established, and Mr. Brumme is constantly present there. Not only does he sell pine, walnut, mahogany, oak, cherry and the other hard and soft woods, but he has on hand wheelwright material of all kinds. He is a veteran of the late war.

The Market and Fulton Bank building will be ready for occupancy on or before the first of May. In every respect the structure is first-class. It has been admirably planned for light and ventilation, and is fitted with every modern convenience and appliance, rapid elevators, steam-heat, electricity, telephone and messenger calls, safe deposit boxes, etc. The offices are to be leased at moderate rentals, the well-known firm of Ruland & Whiting, of Temple Court, being the agents.

Contractors' Notes.

Until 12 o'clock, March 22d, estimates will be received at the office of the Dock Commissioners for furnishing granite stones for bulkhead or river walls.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works until 12 o'clock, March 21st, for regulating and paving, with a granite block pavement, the roadway of West End avenue, from 65th to 69th street; the roadway of 10th avenue, from 110th to Manhattan street; the roadway of Manhattan avenue, from its intersection with Morningside avenue, near 113th street, to 116th street; the roadway of 120th street, from 7th to Lenox avenue; the roadway of 134th street, from 6th to 7th avenue; the roadway of 150th street, from St. Nicholas to 10th avenue, and the roadway of 158th street, between 10th and 11th avenues; and for the paving, with a trap-block pavement, the roadway of 109th street, from 1st avenue to the present bulk head line of the East or Harlem River.

Bids will be received by the School Trustees of the 18th Ward until 4 o'clock, March 22d, for placing iron stairway fire-escapes on Grammar School building No 40, No. 225 East 23d street.

An invaluable work for all dealers in realty is found in "The Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Counsellor Geo. W. Van Siclen. This pamphlet, of only fifty-six pages, offers a complete solution of all the complicated questions that arise in drawing contracts. It discusses questions of titles, liens, curtesy and dower rights, deeds, searches, etc., and contains forms of contracts and judicial decisions which, with other general information, will go far towards making every man his own lawyer. It tells all about fixtures, assumption of mortgages, apportionment of rents, description of property, terms of payment, damages for failure to carry out contracts, information on setting aside contracts for mistake or fraud, and forms of deeds. Published by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 191 Broad way. Price 50 cents.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—On the whole the temper of the market has improved and matters are in somewhat better shape than one week ago. Prices are no higher: indeed, on the contrary, receivers have deemed it prudent to somewhat modify former extreme asking rates, and it would now have to be something very extra that would sell above $8 per M by cargo, but buyers evidently concluded to abandon the standing-off policy and demand developed in more direct form and larger volume that has fairly well balanced the increasing arrivals. From the "Bay" a larger number of barge loads came down and the first tow from "Up River" district made its appearance this week, so that the season may be considered fairly open, and if no delayed blizzard wanders along later, there will, in all probability, be a steady marketing of the accumulations carried over in manufacturers' hands, with a belief prevailing that they will all be wanted. As previously noted, the remarkable condition of the winter has permitted, has aided so much in the consumption of brick that spring trade is correspondingly curtailed, yet the magnificent weather thus far this month acts as an incentive to develop and hasten new work with as much freedom as possible, and sellers feel correspondingly hopeful. From advices at hand the indications are that for a while at least manufacturers will ship right along steadily if the weather permits, and as soon as possible commence preparations for new production. Pales meet with some demand and are commanding former rates.

CEMENT.—Some pretty full arrivals of foreign have taken place this month, but nothing of a really unexpected character, and importers generally speak hopefully and cheerfully over the situation. It is believed that shipments from the other side will be regulated with greater care this season, and a good consumptive demand is calculated upon. Demand for domestic also promises well, and while the basis of valuation is not fully decided upon it will probably differ very little from last season.

LATH.—Something over six million lath have arrived since our last, a portion sold before receipt and a portion seeking custom, with the result slightly depressing, the cargo rate having dropped to $2.40 per M as about the top for slab stock. On that basis, however, receivers are now talking quite steadily in view of comparatively moderate amounts expected and a general belief in full wants of consumers. Some round wood stock appeared and brought $2.25 per M, and there is said to be a few hemlock lath afloat, for which about $2.00 are expected. Advices from the East claim only a limited production of round wood lath this winter. One operator estimates the total at 6,000,000, and the market can probably stand those without difficulty. It is said that a concern down East contemplates running a small portable mill on the St. Croix, near salt water, for the purpose of cutting round wood lath during the summer, but the only feeling excited is one of curiosity to see just how long the experiment will last.

LIME.—Reports are more cheerful. The fears regarding a large supply of St. John stock afloat were groundless, as the actual amount was only about 2,600 bbls., and these have come to hand and promptly sold. The arrivals of Rockland were also rather smaller than calculated upon, and with a very good demand the sale proved close, prices remaining firm. Receivers say that dealers generally are scantily supplied with stock, and that with continuous distribution into consumptive channels it will be a long while before they can make an accumulation.

LUMBER.—Very little of adverse character is suggested as regards the general market. Some dealers complain slightly over the run of orders they are receiving, but, as a rule, expressions are of a satisfactory character and the evident belief is in an expansion rather than a shrinkage of the aggregate volume of business. Indeed, on a basis of present plans and calculations, the consumption of lumber in this and adjoining cities must of necessity be much ahead of last year, unless some very unexpected retarding element develops, and that, in conjunction with the diminished accumulations to which we have before referred, seems to already assume ample groundwork for the sale of goods from first hands. Indeed considerable has already been done in the way of placing contracts for future delivery, in part by rail, in port as soon as inland navigation is resumed, and to some extent extending well over the first half of the open season, and while it is doubtful if any material advance in cost has as yet been made, except on two or three particularly scarce grades, it may be considered positive that no shading took place on anything of standard quality. There will be an ample crop of logs in all localities.

Eastern Spruce has a pretty well assured position apparently, and the selling side of the market seems very confident in its ability to retain the advantage without difficulty. Sometimes we find fractional differences in the line of quotations as named by various operators, but of late there has generally been found some special and temporary reason for any sliading, and the average testimony is that anything at all of standard quality can be placed without difficulty to the full extent of probable supply until the flush of shipments comes, and that is a period quite distant, of course. On local account standing orders for large sizes remain unfilled, and there is also room for a fair quantity of ordinary random, and what is not wanted here dealers across the bridge will take, if indeed they do not manage to get in the first bids.

Hemlock is firmly held in all situations, and, while desirable lots of boards would probably prove the quickest and easiest stuff to place, there is nothing of a staple character over which manufacturers and their agents do not express strong, full faith. A good general control of the product at one end, and excellent prospects for distribution at the other extremity, seem to well fortify the position of sellers, provided they do not attempt to crowd advantages too seriously.

White Pine in comparison with one year ago is certainly showing a much better market all around. The shipping assortment is reduced and broken, box boards continue scarce and wanted, and yard accumulations need replenishing, with dealers, as a rule, inclined to follow the course naturally suggested by such a condition of affairs and negotiate for additions. Indeed there has already been considerable contracted for with agents representing offerings from Albany to the extreme west and for various periods of delivery, and while a little uncertainty exists as to price it is safe to assume that nothing has sold at a decline, and that upon box at least there has been an advance. Not much has been said of late about the upward tendency on the price of uppers, but now and then a sanguine operator insists that it is sure to come.

Yellow Pine appears to retain pretty much all the good points previously suggested. The usual amount of reticence regarding current transactions may still be encountered, but the arrivals from week to week, the vessel charters made and other ordinary indications all go to show that the wood is in full average favor, and there is no reason why it should not hold its place in line with other descriptions. The trade, too, stand well together in maintaining values, and buyers meet with an experience they have not encountered in several seasons when they are frequently informed that even at extreme bids there is no special anxiety to receive their orders, that contracts must be accepted subject to manufacturers convenience in matter of delivery.

Carolina Pine is getting a due share of passing demand, and most selections appear to be based upon a full business during the season. For carefully prepared first-class stock there is an assured local consumption of no mean proportion, and with the start obtained last year, there is much confidence felt in ability to extend the area of distribution in other directions. Some few irregularities in value are accordingly shown, but most leading houses can retain a steady position without difficulty.

Hardwoods are very generally spoken of cheerfully, even walnut, while not much in favor, being scarce enough to give holders an advantage on all desirable parcels, especially such as might be taken by the foreign trade. Poplar continues more or less a bone of contention, buyers resisting the valuations placed upon most of the offerings, and sellers generally refusing to give way, the result of which is to keep up a sort of hand to mouth trade for the present, though at the expense of local accumulations, which are in the meanwhile moving into consumption. Cherry continues very scarce and sells without difficulty. Ash and oak are in very good favor and at steady rates, with some operators conservatively hopeful of their ability to require on quartered sawed oak some of the decline forced by over-produation last year. Mahogany holds its own first rate, and indeed inclines to a firmer position, though sellers are not disposed to ask more than the natural merit of the situation seems to warrant.

THE WEST.

The Timberman of Chicago says:

The snow in the Wisconsin towns is fast going, but the pineries have not been affected yet, though the threatened break-up has added new energy to the men, and they are straining every nerve to get in the the logs. Even should it break up now, the majority of contractors can about fill their contracts or at least get in enough to clear themselves. Around Black River Falls camps are breaking up, as the timber is either cleared up or contracts finished. From the latest reports it will be seen that the season will not end so disastrously as was expected in the earlier part. The Chippewa Logging Company expect that their contractors will be able to fill their contracts. Many of them have been doing better than they did last year. Since good logging began it has suffered no drawbacks by deep snows or excessive cold, but has continued uninterruptedly, and has enabled loggers to do an unusual amount in a short time.

Work in the Michigan lumber woods is reported as progressing finely, the snow being just about sufficient in quantity to facilitate rapid progress—abundant for hauling purposes, and not sufficient to impede chopping, sawing or skidding. In many directions night crews have been put on, and as soon as the men in one gang desist from their labor, another takes up the work, thus making it continuous. Whenever the snow has been insufficient to keep the log roads in condition, the sprinkler, with the efficient aid of the weather clerk, have filled the breach. The night crews are being utilized in order, if possible to meet the anticipations indulged in by the operators previous to the opening of the logging season, but which anticipations seemed probable of frustration by the long continued mild weather after the usual time for commencing operations. But "business is booming in the lumber woods at present," remarked a prominent operator to the Timberman a short time since, "and," he continued, "we expect now to secure very nearly the full quantity of logs, barring any further serious impediments on account of the weather. The prevalent opinion among lumbermen seems to be that the breaking up of winter lumbering will be later than usual, owing to the backwardness of the winter season at the outset, and this, with increased "summer logging," it is hoped, will sufficiently enhance the log supply to keep the majority of the mills in operation.

In a previous issue The Timberman alluded to the increasing scarcity of pine timber in Michigan, and also referred to the decrease in the size of the logs being harvested. A Bay City daily paper, in a very short item published recently, fully verified the most extravagant statement uttered by us, by asserting as follows: "Some of the logs being put in this season are the third crop from the same land, and run thirty or more to the thousand feet; but it's lumber." Perhaps the journal quoted from may have been slightly extravagant in its utterance, but it fully illustrates the straits to which some of the lumbermen are reduced in order to secure stock. The idea of "thirty logs to the thousand," is a rather startling statement in connection with the greatest lumber-producing region on earth, and must open the eyes of some of the pioneer lumbermen of the Saginaw Valley, who entertain recollections of Cass river cork pine and logs averaging less than three to the thousand feet, and running thirty per cent. or more to uppers. At the time alluded to, logs running "thirty or more to the thousand" would not have been accepted as a present on the banking ground, and would have been looked upon as worthless for lumber mercantile purposes. "But "the third crop of logs" cannot be expected to average very large in size or high in quality

And in speaking of the Chicago yard trade says:

There has been considerable Eastern trade this week. Retail dealers in Northern New York have found out that our clear siding at $22, "A" at $21, "B" at $17.50, and "C" at $13.50, should be put into stock, and so have ordered quite liberally. Sap boards and strips are being shipped to Vermont at $20 per thousand. The wholesale dealers at points nearer the East have been purchasing quite liberally here such stock as the Eastern demand craves, which will be shipped direct to the customers in most cases. The Pennsylvania retailers have been looking over this way for German or drop sliding, which is worth $17.50, according to list, but some extra nice stuff has been sent trundling East at $18 per thousand. Even some clear stock has been shipped down Florida way to be used in pattern making. The trade in Indiana has been better of late. That of Illinois is still the main spoke in the wheel, and by Illinois trade is not meant that in, and in the neighborhood of, this city alone.

The Northwestern Lumberman of Chicago says:

At a season when dealers throughout the Northwest were looking for an active opening of the spring trade a partial subsidence of the demand east of the Mississippi River has brought disappointment of expectation. In this city and in Wisconsin there is complaint of dullness in the shipping demand. The causes of the present comparative quietude have not been fully developed. This is an exception to all previous experience, for an enlargement of requirements about the first of March is usually as confidently looked for as are the spring thaws that open the streams and bring down the logs.

There is nothing in sight to show that the consumptive demand this year will not be as large as last year or the year before. Indeed, there is a prospect that more lumber will be used in the large cities than in 1888. The only cloud on the prospect is the probable meager requirement from the railroads and the trans-Missouri territory, particularly the western portion of it. As respects white pine, it is safe to say that Southern product is making appreciable inroads into Iowa and Missouri, as well as in the territory east of the Mississippi, and that this, though not fully acknowled, is insidiously working against the white pine demand.

This is the way the Mississippi valley Lumberman looks at the situation:

The situation with the loggers this week is about this: If it continues to thaw they must discontinue their operations. The warm weather of the past ten days has made sad havoc with the roads. The effect has been general. In Wisconsin and the greater part of Minnesota hauling has either ceased altogether or cannot be carried on successfully for any great length of time. On the upper Mississippi, where the snow was over two feet deep, the situation is much better than lower down—as at Aitkin, for instance, where on Saturday last it was necessary to visit the camps on wheels. The general belief among the loggers is that the crop will, when the final figures are all in, show a shortage of 25 per cent. from the calculations made at the beginning of the season. This will not be detrimental to the lumber market. It will have a tendency to stiffen prices, which will not be unpleasant to those having stocks to sell. On the whole it looks now as though the snow were gone, not to return this season. The uncertainty of the weather is such, however, that it requires confidence and prophetic foresight to say unhesitatingly that the logging season is at an end.

A dispatch received in this city from Chippewa Falls this within a day or two says:

The exodus from the pineries has begun much sooner than was expected. The warm, springlike weather of the last week has transformed the remaining snow into temporary lakes and running streams, and has crushed the last hopes of the loggers, who have worked their crews day and night for the last month in order to get their skidded logs to the banks.

Every train from the direction of the pineries is full of men coming from the woods, and another week will find logging operations practically ended. There is no use in concealing the fact that the results of this winter's work will bring disaster to many logging concerns.

Almost every camp on the east and west tributaries of the Chippewa River has been broken up, leaving millions of skidded logs unbanked. The same can be said of camps on the Eau Claire, Black, Wisconsin and St. Croix rivers. The lumber barons report a big increase in their lumber.

ENGLAND.

LONDON.

American Black Walnutwood.—There is still a good, steady trade doing in both logs and lumber. By private contract we understand some important sales have been effected. The unreserved lots in this week's sales have generally realized good prices. Arrivals have been more moderate of late.

American Whitewood.—There is a continued active demand for this, which is likely to continue, as stocks in the hands of yardkeepers are generally light. We notice there have lately been some fresh arrivals of thin stuff, useful in its way, but not at all prime. Better class boards and planks are wanted. Logs are slow of sale.

American Satin Walnut.—There is evidently a better feeling springing up in this trade, and we are told there is a prospect of its extending.

LIVERPOOL.

American Walnut.—Several parcels have been sold during the past few days by private treaty, mostly to dealers, including not only the fresh arrivals from the ship's side, but also some from the yards. Prices remain firm at about recent figures.

Good business appears to be done round the coast in the c. i. f. pitch pine branch of trade, several cargoes having been placed during the past few days at still advancing prices. A good sized cargo of 30 ft. average sawn has been sold at 64s. c. i. f., and a very large cargo, a vessel about 1,500 tons, is one few people care to handle has been sold at 65s. c. i. f., a cargo half sawn, 35 ft. average, half hewn 80 ft. average, at 66s c. i. f. all round, are amongst the transactions we have heard this week.

The dock board have directed that in future the following dock rates and town dues be charged on birch and deal ends not exceeding four inches in thickness, viz.: Dock rates and town dues: Inwards—foreign, 1s. 3d. per Pet. std.; ditto outwards—foreign, 6d. per Pet. std. Town dues: Inwards—coastwise 6d. per Pet. std.; ditto outwards—coastwise 3d. per Pet. std.

A large amount of contracting for spruce deals is still in progress at the various outports which, unlike Liverpool, must depend in a great measure upon special arrangements.

In view of the anticipated large emigration business which is expected to be done this spring, we do not suppose there will be any great quantity of steam tonnage employed in the spruce trade from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, so that, unless freights remain high enough to tempt steamers to turn their attention to the deal trade, there will be little fear of our market being overdone, even should the cut of deals be an average one.

For some time past there has been considerable talk of a shortage in logs in the spruce districts, owing to the mild winter; but this is a story so often told that by constant repetition it has lost its effect.

In the import list will be noticed the arrival of a parcel of pine deals, per Oregon, from Portland, consigned to Messrs. Robert Cox & Co. These goods were left in Montreal at the closing of the navigation, and the steamship company, who had contracted to bring them forward, has had to rail them down from that city to Portland; so that high as the original freight was there will be but little left for the shipowner after he has paid the railway charges.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has experienced a market of many violent throes since our last report, due entirely to the alarming stories from abroad reporting the probable disintegration of the French Syndicate, and the natural financial difficulty that might naturally be expected to follow the forced breaking up of so stupendous a combination. The widespread publicity given the affair has made all general particulars familiar to those most interested, but the outcome seems likely to be much less disastrous than anticipated. Indeed it is now tacitly admitted that the syndicate has been enabled to so arrange its affairs as to reassure the mining companies, and the two interests will probably work together in maintaining the price to consumers until the termination of the original compact in 1891. Lake is therefore still considered worth 16@16½c., but casting brands could probably be bought lower. Manufactured Copper is said to be finding a very fair average sale, as the many consumptive outlets undergo no special shrinkage, with indeed rather a tendency to increase if anything. Producers, in consequence, remain quite steady over values, especially as material does not cheapen. We quote as follows: Sheets, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 26c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 28c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 28c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 38c.; do, under 8 oz, 28@38c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz, 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 25c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 27c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 29c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 33c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 36c. Sheets longer than 96 inches add 1c. for under 16 oz; and 2c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22@25c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 27@30c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 32c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 37c. Sheets 60x93 and over, 25@26c.; for 33 to 64 oz. and over, 30@31c.; for 16 to 32 oz. —@—. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz, 28c.; 4 oz, 30c.; 12 oz, 32c.; and 10 oz, 35c. Bolt copper, ⅜ inch diameter and over, 25c. Circles, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 5c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 6c. do. Segment and pattern sheets, 3c. above price of sheets required to cut them from. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottom, 26@31c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has not accumulated in stock to any extent, although the demand at the best is only fair, and confined almost wholly to small invoices designed to balance early consumptive requirements. In view of strong markets abroad, however, and rates here relatively below those at primary points, holders remain quiet at full former figures. We quote at $19.00@21.00 per ton, according to brand, delivery, etc. American Pig remains about steady, with a fair average demand, and that is about all that can be said of the market at the moment. The recent suspension of a somewhat prominent producing company has cast no adverse influence upon the market, but on the contrary some of the trade think it may prove beneficial by reducing the volume of the output. We quote at $17.50@18.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $16.50@17.00 for No. 2 X do.; and $15.00@15.50 for Gray Forge. Old material moves slowly and principally in small lots, with conditions of the market not over strong and valuations somewhat nominal at the moment. We quote at about $23.00@24.50 for old rails; $20.00@20.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $14.50@16.00 for cast scrap, and $18.00@18.50 for car wheels. Steel rails are not active, and while a few good-sized orders seem to be floating around there is probably little chance of any immediate important deal. It is, however, understood that arrangements have been perfected to control until time for a new allotment next month, and the companies quote firmly at $27.00 per ton for standard section at the mills. Manufactured Iron selling very well, and rates are generally considered well supported on ordinary descriptions of stock. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.00@2.10c. from store, and refined at 2.20@2.50c.; Rods, round and square 2.30@2.40c.; Bands, 2.40@2.50c.; Norway Nail Rods, 4@5c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.75@2.80c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig meets with some ups and downs in price, but attempts to "bear" the market are not very successful, and the position seems to be under pretty good control, with few outside lots offering. We quote at 3.72½@3.80c., as to quality. The manufactures of lead are quoted: Bar, 5c.; pipe, 6c.; sheet, 6¾c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig, on the whole, remains pretty steady. Some of the trade had an idea reflection from the copper market might be felt to an unpleasant extent, but, aside from a diminution in speculative deals, the influence is unimportant. We quote at about 21⅝@21½c. for round lots and 21½@21⅝c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plates have generally been firmly held and offered without pressure to realize, but buyers did not appear to find anything to incite them into animation beyond early natural wants. We quote prices as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Melyn grades, $5.25@5.35, each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $4.75@4.80, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $6.60@6.65; M. F. grade, 20x28, $13.30@13.25; Worcester, 14x20, $4.60@4.62½; Worcester, 20x28, $9.20@9.25; Deane grade, 14x20, $4.20@4.25; Dean grade, 20x28, $8.37½@8.45; Allaway grade, 14x20, $4.05@4.07½; Allaway grade, 20x28, $8.10@8.20; I. C. Coke, B. V. grade, $4.20@4.25; J. B. grade, 14x20, $4.30@4.35; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $4.65 basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $4.70@4.75. Spelter has shaded a trifle, with some steadiness now shown, but no special inclination to activity beyond natural consumptive wants. We quote at 4.80@5c., according to quality.

NAILS.—On all regular trade outlets, as well as upon export orders, about an average business is doing, with a pretty steady sort of market throughout. Manufacturers, however, cannot command any decided advantage and the acceptance of bids at former rates is prompt. We quote at $1.80@1.85 for car lots, and $1.90@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Business is fair in some cases, in others good and occasionally considerable activity is manifested, making upon the whole an acceptable movement. Buyers select somewhat carefully and this gives thoroughly standard grades the largest share of attention, yet the movement is general enough to influence to some extent everything except strictly fancy stock. Prices rule steady, but a conservative spirit prevents an advance. Linseed Oil selling quite up to the average and closes steady at 56@57c. for Western, and 58@59c. for City. Spirits Turpentine not very active, but restricted supplies present and prospective create a generally strong tone at 52@53c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—About an ordinary movement reported in most cases, though some operators claim a slight increase. Offerings enough can be found for the demand and available at old rates. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.; Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

VOL. XLIII. MARCH 28, 1889. No. 1,097

THE RECORD AND GUIDE this week enters upon the twenty-second year of its existence.

The business of the country is suffering because of the uncertainty respecting the fiscal policy of the administration. The surplus continues to accumulate, and the Secretary of the Treasury has no means of getting it into the channels of trade, unless by bond purchases, which would involve heavy and wasteful bonuses to the rich corporations and individuals who own the national debt. This money is needed for productive public improvements, such as steamships for our proposed merchant marine, sea-coast defenses, and river and harbor improvements. Then, as Secretary Tracy says: "We want more war ships, the swiftest and heaviest afloat." But to attain these desirable results an extra session of Congress must be called. Should that body meet on May 15th, the necessary appropriations to get rid of the surplus in a way beneficial to the country could be made before midsummer. The consideration of the tariff could be postponed until later in the year. President Harrison will make a serious mistake if he does not call an extra session of Congress within the coming two months.

Wall street just now is flat, stale and unprofitable. Neither bulls nor bears seem to have any courage. The investing public have bought all the bonds they care to purchase, but speculators can see no margin in securities at present prices; hence the dullness which rules in the "street," and which will not come to an end unless an unexpected disaster brings on a free selling movement. We see nothing in sight which would advance prices. Should an extra session of Congress be called there would then be hope of some activity in the market. There is more money in real estate and building than in dealing in any other speculative marts of the country.

The key to the troubles in the West and Northwest is the ownership of the Soo line by the Canadian Pacific. This Soo line was built by Sam Thomas, Calvin S. Brice, John G. Moore and their associates, with the intention of selling it to some connecting system of roads. It will be remembered that it is a shorter route to the East than any of the roads which run to Chicago, which city it does not pay tribute to. The Soo line was offered to the Vanderbilts, and the Mich. Central people were very desirous of securing it, as it would be a splendid feeder to that road, and consequently to lines furthur east. But Wm. K. Vanderbilt was in Europe, Chauncey M. Depew was on his usual summer jaunt, and Cornelius Vanderbilt declined to act in a matter of so much moment. So the property passed into the possession of the Canadian Pacific, and the rate cutting that followed is due to the blunder made by the Vanderbilts is not securing the property. We explained this matter at full length when the property was transferred to the Canadian Pacific.

It is about time the truth was told about the Vanderbilt family and the management of the roads under their care. Cornelius is a conservative Christian gentleman who is always doing what good he can to his fellow-men, but he lacks personal initiative and self-assertion. He probably also is trammeled by the wills of his grandfather and father. Wm. K. Vanderbilt has far more disposition to speculate and enter into new enterprises, but he undoubtedly is held in check by the limitations of the will of his father. The other members of the family do not count. Incidents like the want of power or will to purchase the Soo route will in time destroy the prestige of the Vanderbilts; their system of roads is not well managed. The improvements they make are forced upon them by their trunk line rivals. It was the Pennsylvania Central which obliged the New York Central to have limited expresses, dining-room and saloon cars, and improved sleepers and vestibuled cars. They were anticipated in every one of these modern accommodations by their competitor. A specimen of Vanderbilt management when there is no competition is furnished by the Harlem Road, which is by all odds the worst-handled road running out of New York City. Its customers pay the heaviest dividends of any road hereabouts and get the poorest accommodations.

But, asks the reader, how about Chauncey M. Depew? Is not he one of the greatest railroad men in the country? We are sorry to have to destroy illusions, but Mr. Depew is out of place in his present position. He is a "round man in a square hole" as president of a great corporation. Mr. Depew is a wise and witty lawyer, a man of sense and tact who would make an excellent United States Senator and might pass muster even as President of the United States. He was originally employed by the old Commodore to look after the Albany lobby and to fix legislation affecting the Central Roads. This accounts for his acquaintance with James Husted and the kings of the lobby. The Vanderbilt family are reserved in manner and unready of speech, and they naturally admired the bright and facile lawyer. They put him in positions for which he was unfitted. There are very few lawyers who have made successes as railroad presidents. Instead of attending to his duties as the executive of a great corporation, Mr. Depew spends too much time in making after-dinner speeches, in attending political conventions and keeping an open house for interviewing reporters. Every summer he makes a trip to Europe. Yet somehow the impression has got abroad that Mr. Depew has made the Central Road what it is. That great corporation owes its prestige to Commodore Vanderbilt. All the good Chauncey M. Depew did for the road was in the skill and address he showed in manipulating the lobby in Albany; but the truth is the truth, and there is no sense in crediting Mr. Depew with abilities which he does not possess.

The favorite objection to giving the Manhattan Company the terminal facilities it asks for is that to do so would, among other bad things, ruin the Battery Park. The park is undoubtedly a pleasant spot; it gives the city a green and shady look from the deck of incoming steamers, is haunted by civic memories, and (during the night-time) by gentlemen of a free habit and untrammeled leisure. Its preservation intact on these accounts is undoubtedly to be desired greatly, but persons who have been freed by a gracious Providence from the current unreasoning antipathy to all things good and bad connected with the name of Gould ask whether it might not be wise to forego a part of the present uses of the park, valuable as they are, for the benefit of the entire community. The purposes of a park, as usually understood, are to supply to the people fresh air and certain other comforts. If the open space at the Battery can do this indirectly for some half a million passengers a day whereas now it is of direct service to perhaps less than one thousand, why not put it to the greater use? Were the Manhattan Company granted terminal facilities that would increase the capacity of the elevated roads the fresh air which the park is supposed to give to a large part of the community, but does not, would really be bestowed in the shape of a more adequate breathing space in cars and consequently a purer atmosphere. Moreover the seats which even in summer are seldom filled in the park and are positively useless in winter might, through the instrumentality of these extra "facilities," would become so much seating space in our unhealthy packed cars, and minister to the comfort of people all the year round.

This may appear a little fanciful, but the matter can be stated in a more practical way: Cannot the present condition of Battery Park be maintained at too great a cost when a little curtailment of its uses would benefit the entire city incalculably? Instead of rising in opposition at the name of Gould, might it not be better to first consider a little and see whether the advantages to be obtained from concessions to the Manhattan Company might not greatly outweigh the disadvantages. Mr. Gould says he can give to the city ample accommodation if the terminal facilities of the roads were increased. Good. We have been crying for this for years. And why should we not give the roads the facilities they ask for on a guarantee that they will seat every passenger that purchases a ticket. If this were done, would not something be gained well worth a few square feet of the Battery Park? One thing is certain, the Manhattan Company can do without the desired facilities much longer than the public can tolerate the present condition of rapid transit. The company can oppose other schemes, while the growth of the city is stunted and its interests suffer the loss of as many dollars as the company would gain mills by obtaining the concessions they now ask for. Reasonable men must see that the imperative need of the city for better transportation can be satisfied at once by the elevated roads while we are carrying out some better system now in the embryonic state.

The sad fate that the Hudson River Tunnel has hitherto had is but another example of the danger of projecting any improvement without being certain at the outset that the capital is forthcoming to complete it. Engineer's estimates are almost invariably too low, and a large allowance should always be made for this fact. The Panama Canal is an example where large sums of money have been thrown away on a scheme that, thus far at all events, has resulted in nothing. The work on this Hudson River Tunnel was originally suspended in 1882, when its chief backer, Mr. Trevor Park, died. Since then, on two separate occasions, work has been resumed for a short while and again stopped when the capital gave out. Now an effort is being made to raise money in England for the purpose, and the promoters are more than sanguine as to the ultimate success of their plan. According to the estimate £430,000 or $2,150,000 will be needed to complete the undertaking; while the new company will be authorized to issue bonds to the amount of £550,000 or $2,750,000. It does not seem that the margin is large enough to provide for an under estimate. However that may be, work will be begun as soon as the money is raised. Great returns on the capital invested are offered in the prospectus. It says:

If the tunnel should only accommodate 30 per cent. of the passengers and 5 per cent. of the freight which now crosses the river the yearly traffic returns, after deducting 30 per cent. (which is considered excessive) for working expenses, would give a net profit of more than nine times the amount required for interest on the first mortgage bonds.

This would make a very pretty showing. How far it will be realized only time can show. At any rate we want the tunnel and several more like it.

Just as it is unwise for a private corporation to undertake any large engineering enterprise without making ample allowances for any mistake in their estimates, so it is unwise for a State to make appropriations that do not at once cover the whole expense necessitated by any improvement that is projected. Yet nothing is no frequently done as to appropriate a half or a third of the necessary expense, so as to avoid the clamor of the newspapers about extravagance. The consequence is that there is deficiency bill after deficiency bill, the work is delayed and the cost largely increased. There is no more shining example of the inefficiency resulting from this method of performing State improvements than that of our capitol at Albany, about which enough time and money have been wasted to construct a small sized city. All the money necessary to complete the work should be given at once, and no more should be forthcoming except under the most rigid inquiry.

Jay Gould, the Manhattan "L" Road and the Press.

The New York public on perusing Jay Gould's letter, presenting the claims of the Manhattan Railway Company, must have been as much surprised as one of the famous characters in Molière's comedy when he discovered that he had been talking prose all his life. Mr. Gould's contention is that we already have an excellent system of rapid transit, and that an extension of development of the present system is all that is needed to supply every reasonable want.

Mr. Gould points out that we have the cheapest and most comfortable system of intermural travel of any city in the world. It has added enormously to the taxable value of New York City property, has settled for a generation the business pre-eminence of the lower portion of the island, while it has built up and made habitable the regions east, west and north of the Central Park. "Now," continues Mr. Gould, "give us terminal facilities on the lower end of the island and permit us to use a third track on the 3d and 9th avenues, and we will add 50 per cent. to our capacity for carrying passengers. We now run express trains at the rate of twenty miles an hour on 9th avenue, from the Battery to 155th street; allow us increased facilities and we will make twenty-five miles an hour, between both ends of the island, both on the east and west sides.

There is nothing new in this to the readers of THE RECORD AND GUIDE; we have been pointing out the same possibilities for years past. Indeed, a great deal of Jay Gould's letter seems to be almost copied from these columns. We have insisted that before any money was spent on a new road, the elevated system should be developed to the uttermost. It would not furnish us all we wanted, but it would give us quick and pleasant communication between both ends of the island in a very short time.

The city press has received Jay Gould's letter with a storm of villification. The Times, Post and some other papers print articles which are everything a newspaper should not publish. They are unfair, untruthful, and put the whole matter in a false light. Of course the excuse for what they say is to be found in Jay Gould's stock-jobbing transactions of the past. No paper in the city has held him up to public indignation more than THE RECORD AND GUIDE; but we have nevertheless discriminated between Gould, Field and Sage and the Manhattan Company. The latter has been a great benefit to New York City, and it ought to be encouraged to give us still more rapid transit at cheap rates. Any one who reads Jay Gould's letter and compares it with the coarse abuse and low tone of the Times, Post and other daily papers cannot but admit that this unscrupulous speculator in this particular matter stands, mentally and morally, head and shoulders above the virtuous scribes who have attacked him, and who are trying to create a false impression about the Manhattan system.

There is one feature of the so-called bye-elections in England which is worthy of special note, but which the American press seems to ignore. The victories in the large cities cannot be classed as Liberal-Gladstonian or Home Rule so much as Radical and Socialistic. The candidate elected in Kensington, for instance, favored the extreme views advocated by the working classes, including the nationalization of land, State socialism, as well as the economic changes asked for by the trades unions. So far our journals have stood almost unanimously on the side of the Liberals and Home Rule. But if the New Movement Party in England, like the Democratic party on the Continent, intends to attack property in any way, we may expect our newspapers to dissent very earnestly. It is not so very many years, for instance, that the New York Times represented a class of papers which were hostile to the Roman Catholic Church; but Dr. McGlynn's revolt against the hierarchy on questions affecting labor and capital effected a change in the point of view, and the Times, and other papers like it, stood by the Church as against the labor reformers and the anti-poverty view. The Evening Post correspondent seems to be the only one who has told all the truth about the recent English elections. At the next general election it will be found that the new Parliament will comprise a great number of Radicals and Socialists.

Plans for Controlling the Liquor Traffic.

There are economic as well as ethical reasons why the liquor traffic should be placed under strict regulation, if not entirely suppressed; and, although the liquor question is pre-eminently a moral one, its economic side should not be beneath consideration. It should not be beneath consideration that a large part of the taxes which are now paid by real estate and other classes of property goes toward repairing the injury which is caused by loose administration in the control of the sale of intoxicating liquor. It is a matter of concern to the community that its affairs are administered economically, and it is none the less so when coupled with a movement to suppress drunkenness and crime.

There are two methods in common practice in this country for dealing with the liquor traffic—prohibition and high license. Prohibition has many warm suppporters and many bitter enemies, and the effects of its working are more or less doubtful. In Maine, where prohibition has existed in different forms since 1851, it is said by its friends to be actually enforced in over three-fourths of the towns in the State, while in New Hampshire there has been statutary prohibition for over twenty-five years, and, according to its enemies, practically free whisky. Prohibition in Iowa and Kansas is seemingly meeting the highest expectations of its supporters, while, on the other hand, the Lower House of the Rhode Island Legislature recently passed, by a vote of 41 to 25, a resolution to submit to the question of repealing the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors now on the statute books to the vote of the people. It is evident from the reports which are current that, at any rate, prohibition is not at present practicable in most of our States, although temperance reform seems to be desired in all of them.

The effects of high license are also doubtful. This much can be said of high license, however, without fear of contradiction, that it compels a traffic which keeps the almshouses and prisons full to pay a large share of their cost. The City of Chicago under a high license increased in five years the revenues derived from a tax upon the sale of liquors from $20,000 to $1,750,000, and the number of the saloons were decreased from 3,800 to 3,600. In Omaha, Neb., under eight years of high license, the revenues from the sale of liquor have increased ten times without any increase in the number of saloons. Although high license may diminish somewhat the number of places where liquor is sold, it is doubtful whether or not it reduces the amount of liquor consumed; at any rate it has never been successfully shown that the consumption of intoxicating drinks has been thus reduced in any given district. It is asserted by the prohibitionist that high license does not permanently diminish drunkenness, crime and pauperism. A high tax on the sale of liquor diminishes the number of saloons, if at all, to only a certain point where they remain licensed by the law and intrenched in political bribery and corruption. The taxpayer, too, becomes wedded to this system, which is so great a relief to him, and thereafter further reform is difficult.

These are not, however, as is commonly supposed, the only systems in use in the country for dealing with the liquor traffic. The plan has been in practice for several years in Minneapolis of prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors outside a certain district (about one-twelfth of the present corporate limits) set apart in the centre of the city, and inside of this district charging a license fee of one thousand dollars. Prohibitionists have admitted, in the Voice and other papers, that good results have been produced by this confined system of prohibition and high license in Minneapolis.

It is interesting in this connection to notice the steps which Switzerland, probably the most democratic country in the world, is taking in the direction of temperance reform. A bill concerning the monopolization of the liquor traffic by the government in Switzerland was passed by the Federal Assembly, December 23, 1886, and ratified by the Swiss people May 15, 1887. Under this law the absolute control of the manufacture, importation and rectification of distilled liquors is vested in the Confederation, with indemnity to distillers. The importation of superior liquors, however, is permitted to private persons under conditions fixed by the Federal council and for a certain monopoly fee. It is provided that about one-fourth of the necessary supply of liquor shall be obtained from domestic producers. After the liquors to be used for drinking purposes have been rectified and inspected, they are then sold at auction by the Confederation for cash in quantities of not less than 160 liters and at a price fixed from time to time by the Federal council. The sale of spirituous liquors of all kinds in quantities not less than 40 liters is regarded as a wholesale business, and is free to all; the sale in quantities under 40 liters is regarded as a retail business, and is subject to a continual tax levied in proportion to the amount of liquor sold and fixed by the authorities of the cantons until it is placed under Federal regulation. The net revenues thus derived accrue to the cantons in which the liquors are sold. At the end of each year the net income of the monopoly administration is divided among the several cantons, according to the population. Ten per cent. of the revenues which each canton thus receives must be applied to the suppression of intemperance. Heavy penalties are imposed for violation of this law in any particular.

The proposition to give the Swiss Confederation the monopoly of selling spirituous liquors, although introduced as a temperance measure, was strongly opposed by the Church on the grounds that the government should not make itself a party to a traffic so injurious to the people. The proposition was also opposed by the large distillers throughout the country; but it was carried in the face of all opposition by almost a two-thirds vote of the people, and recent reports are very favorable to the working of the system. The failures in the working of this liquor law up to this time have been in its detailed application, and not in any of its fundamental principles. The retail price of liquor has been raised since the passing of the law, and this has induced smuggling of cheaper liquors into Switzerland to some extent; but it is thought that this can be checked by more vigorous Custom regulations. The revenues derived from the monopolizations of the liquor traffic have also not been as large as were anticipated. It is too early yet to observe the hygienic effects which it was urged would be produced by a proper rectification and inspection of all distilled liquors by the Confederation; still there is no doubt that the cases from alcoholism will be greatly reduced. In Stockholm, Sweden, the number of cases from alcoholism was reduced from 600 to 100 annually, by the substitution of pure or rectified spirits for impure unmixed liquors. It is estimated that 12,000,000 francs worth of artificial wine was consumed yearly in Switzerland before the new liquor law went into operation. The prevalence of intemperance resulting, it is believed, from the free use of this adulterated alcoholic beverage was enormous, and it is expected, not without grounds, that the law now in force will prove effectual in diminishing intemperance.

Even the most critical of Mugwumps are forced to admit that the nominations made by President Harrison, especially for diplomatic service, have been with one exception excellent. For this Secretary Blaine should get credit as well as the President, for he must have had a good deal to say respecting these appointments. The President is taking his time and trying not to make mistakes. His predecessor was not so lucky. Several of his first appointments were, to say the least, unfortunate; but this was due doubtless to his lack of acquaintance with the public men of the country. But President Harrison and Secretary Blaine have the advantage of wide acquaintance and a knowledge of the available political and diplomatic talent of the country. Hon. Whitelaw Reid would doubtless have preferred the English mission, as his college-acquired French must be by this time rather rusty; but, after all, a residence in Paris for the next four years is much more likely to interest a journalist and historian—for Mr. Reid can claim both titles—than would the enforced spending of his time in foggy London! France will see some dramatic and picturesque scenes in the coming years. This summer and fall it will be the cynosure of Europe because of the Exhibition commemorating the French Revolution. Then doubtless the present Republic will be overthrown and some other form of government established. A Minister in France, like Mr. Reid, could enrich the historical archives of this country by his observation of what will pass before his eyes.

Comptroller Myers has sent a report to the Legislature in response to a resolution of inquiry asking for the names of institutions in New York city in receipt of public money, their character and objects, under what auspices they exist, the amount of money appropriated for each during the past year, and by what authority such payments are made. The report answers the questions in full, and shows these totals: Roman Catholic, $988,877.98; Protestant, $516,004.80; Hebrew, $166,955.09.

Our Prophetic Department.

BANKER—In view of the war, which cannot be long delayed in Europe, something might be said about national debts. The United States is, after all, the only nation which is actually paying up its national debt. Great Britain has made some pretense of doing so, but it has been slow work; and the extraordinary expenses she is soon to incur to add to her naval strength will again bring about an increased debt.

SIR ORACLE—You have started an interesting topic, and one about which there is much misconception. The debt of Great Britain is not only absolutely but relatively less than some years ago. For several decades the nation has been adding greatly to its wealth, and at the same time paying off a small portion of the principal of its debt.

BANKER—But the point I wanted to get at is: Will the civilized nations of Europe eventually pay their debts off, or will they get into the condition of over-built railway systems and be forced to scale their obligations? Is not the tendency towards accumulating more debt?

SIR O.—It is a fact not generally realized that the free, democratic nations are more mindful of their pecuniary obligations than are monarchies and empires, and hence that the credit of the one is much better than that of the other. The United States has been liberal to the verge of waste in dealing with its creditors. It has paid them before their money was due—at times even allowing a high premium for the privilege of cancelling their obligations England, which is virtually a democracy, is converting its debt from 3 per cent. to 2¾ per cent. The national debt of Holland bears a low rate of interest and commands a premium. Spain repudiated its debt when under an irresponsible government. The national debts of Austria and Russia bear a high rate of interest, and are looked on with suspicion by the great money-lenders of Europe. The bankers of the Old World ought to favor democracy.

BANKER—But the French debt is in 4½ and 5s. Why has not the interest been reduced?

SIR O.—Because it is due to the French investor of the middle and lower classes. It has been several times mooted to issue a loan of 3 per cent. to take up the Rentes bearing 4½ and 5 per cent. But the change would have affected so many voters that any government that attempted to carry it through would have been ruined.

BANKER—We did not pay much attention to that class in this country. When we first began paying our debt, 5, 6 and even 7 per cent. obligations were available for trust estates; but the widows and orphans were all impoverished by a national policy of reducing the interest on the national debt. We have been monstrously generous to soldiers and their widows and orphans, but unspeakably cruel to the widows and orphans dependent upon trust estates for a living. What have you to say about the German national debt?

SIR O.—Practically that great country has no debt, for if it sold all its assets it would have a surplus in its treasury. The telegraphs, railroads, public buildings and land owned by Prussia, the other States and the Empire far exceeds in value the debts chargeable against their respective treasuries.

BANKER—France has a prodigious debt, but if its finances do not break down in the meantime it will come into a vast deal of property in the way of railroads in the middle of the next century. I fear, however, that the country will become bankrupt before that time, especially if it indulges in its passion for war with Germany. France is in the most critical position of any of the European powers. Taxation is sapping its strength, while its population is stationary and its wealth increases very slowly. If the French people would accept 3 per cent. and the nation should agree not to go to war for ten years France might pull through; but it seems to me bankruptcy is in store for that nation irrespective of its form of government. The Republic has done badly enough but a king, an emperor or a dictator would be forced to go to war to give prestige to his rule.

SIR O.—It is worthy of note, in passing, that there is a provision in the charters of all the English railroads under which the government can purchase them at the end of a definite period. We have made the frightful mistake in this country of granting perpetual charters, and in thus creating a Frankenstine which may in the end strangle us. However, we have the right, legally, to supervise their passenger and freight charges.

BANKER—To sum up the situation, what is the prospect for European national debts?

SIR O.—In time they must be scaled. I doubt if any nation in Europe, but Germany, will ever meet all its obligations. Should England lose its Indian Empire, or its South Pacific colonies, or go through the ordeal of a war, which would destroy its commerce, it would be forced—partially or wholly—to repudiate its national debt. The disposition of the reigning families of Europe is not to pay their debts, but to enlarge them. The gold monometallists, by changing the standard of value, has added enormously to the burden of debt all over the world. They will be largely responsible for this final repudiation, as they have helped to make the burdens of debt quite unbearable.

BANKER—But, if national debts are repudiated, would not that put a stop to wars? A nation cannot fight without money, and the wealth of the world is now controlled by the great bankers.

SIR O.—National debts are of very modern creation. They date from the chartering of a national bank by William and Mary of England. While mankind has been engaged in wars for a period long antedating recorded history, there has been some tremendous fighting on this globe of ours, and but a very small part of it has depended upon the "sinews of war" contributed by capitalists. Even Napoleon the Great managed to conduct his gigantic wars without incurring a dollar of debt. The impression is general in this country that the issue of paper money and the creation of huge debt was necessary for our success in the civil war; but that is not so. The food, clothing and arms required—all had to be produced within the year in which they were consumed. National war debts are a modern invention, by which the capitalist class tax several generations for their own benefit, and hence are able to pocket five or six times the principal they originally advance; but there was never a period in history in which there was not sufficient money to conduct great campaigns. The barbarians who overran the Roman Empire did not require the help of a greenback.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the bill at present before the Legislature appropriating $200,000 for the improvement of Morningside Park will be passed. Last year $250,000 was appropriated for this purpose. Of this $120,000 has already been spent, and $130,000 remains to be spent. When, however, it is all gone only the park proper will have been improved, and no attention will have been paid to its approaches and the exterior streets The $200,000 additional is to be used for the purpose of completing the improvement. Even if this sum should be expended the total cost will fall $150,000 short of the original estimate.

Whether it is advisable to reduce the fees for annual membership in the Real Estate Exchange from $60 to $30, was discussed by the Auction Room Committee of that institution on Monday. The argument against the change was that some brokers and agents might get in who would one day commit a wrong and bring disgrace upon all the members of the body; the arguments for were, that there were many respectable men in the business who would come in at the reduced figure; that any discreditable action on the part of one or two brokers would not affect the personal character of the rest of the five hundred members; and that the same rules for inquiry into the character and standing of applicants for admission to membership which have kept the Exchange clear of objectionable people up to the present will be equally instrumental in doing so in the future. It is believed that by creating a fee of $30, payable semi-annually, the membership will be largely augmented. The annual membership has decreased from fifty six to twenty-six, largely owing to the leasing of stockholders' seats, which can be done at about $40, while the present membership subscription is $60. The committee voted to decrease the fees, and so advised the directors.

In the General Term of the Supreme Court on Thursday, March 21st, Franklin Bartlett, Special Counsel for the city, moved for the confirmation of the report of the Park Commission with the exception of three awards made in error. The award of $25,504 to Austin C. Chandler for sixteen lots in Bronx Park was twice as much as Mr. Chandler's experts themselves had estimated. Then the awards of $8,000 for City Island Bridge and $20,000 for Pelham Bridge Highway were sums which the city was not obliged to pay. He thought that some of the other findings were excessive, but the city must submit to them.

The adjourned hearing of the Committee of Public Works of the Board of Aldermen, in regard to the regulating, grading and paving of the Polo Grounds, took place in the Aldermanic Chamber on Wednesday morning. Many property-owners, both for and against the resolution, were present. George F. Duysters appeared as counsel for the Metropolitan Exhibition Company, and spoke at length against the opening of the street. He was bitterly opposed by the majority of the property-owners, Bennet J. King and Henry A. Crane being the principal speakers. The meeting was very confused and noisy.

It was evident from the first moment that at the hearing given to the Committee of the Manhattan Road on Thursday morning, by the Mayor in his office, that the railroad representatives were arguing against a man who was opposed to any consideration of their plans. Vice-President Galloway, Russell Sage, John Hall and Julien T. Davies constituted the committee, and they pointed out what the Manhattan Road had done for the city. The Mayor answered by pointing out what the city had done for the road. Did the committee urge that with terminal facilities they could accommodate enough passengers to solve the question of rapid transit, the Mayor answered that he had neither the wish nor the power to grant them public streets and parks, and that he could countenance no temporary evasion of the problem. The Mayor seemed to have faith that before his present term of office had expired, his own scheme would have passed through the series of attacks of whooping-cough and measles, which, as Mr. Lawson N. Fuller suggested, always endanger the life of rapid transit plans. The committee protested that they did not wish to oppose the Mayor's bill, and that there was nothing in the proposals contained in Mr. Gould's letter which would not fall in with the carrying out of its provisions. As the meeting was breaking up, Mr. Fuller made the pregnant remark that no matter what other scheme was started it was pretty certain that the Manhattan Company would gobble it up, whereat Mr. Russell Sage laughed, and the rest of the committee with him. It is manifest that the Manhattan Company can have nothing to hope for from the city authorities.

An "L" Road Engineer Interviewed.

An engineer on the Third Avenue Elevated Road was approached the other day by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, and asked what was the quickest time he had ever made on that line.

"I once came from the Battery to the Harlem River in seventeen minutes," he said. The reporter pricked up his ears. "Halloa," he thought, "what's this!"

"How did you manage that?" he inquired.

"Well, I did it on the elevated road," was the response.

"In seventeen minutes?" asked the reporter, aghast.

"Yes, sir, in seventeen minutes, and I can do it in less time than that. About nine years ago I used to run the newspaper train. I started from the Battery at 2 o'clock every morning. We only made two stops, one at 42d street and one at 125th street. We got to the second in less than seventeen minutes."

"At what stations on your line do the greatest crowds get on and off," asked the reporter, turning the subject.

"Taking the busy hours, between 6.30 and 9 in the morning," said the engineer, "at 125th, 116th, 106th, 84th, 76th and 34th streets. At all the other stations the crowds are not so heavy. If any express trains should ever be run on the third track these are the stations they ought to stop at."

"The third track!" echoed the reporter; "has it been entirely built?"

"Well, it is about quite finished from 128th street south as far as 9th street, and there is no reason why express trains should not be run at once from the Bowery up to the Harlem River. They could run in from the third track to the platforms where they wanted to stop and then run out onto the third track again, switching in when they wanted to stop again."

Then Jay Gould's statement about a third track is true after all.

Legislation Affecting New York City.

Senator Linson's bill in reference to sales of property under foreclosure is in the Committee on Judiciary. It provides for advertising foreclosure sales once in six weeks instead of three times in two weeks.

Senator Pierce has introduced a bill providing that bonds of obligations of all cities of over 100,000 inhabitants shall be exempt from taxation. Another bill of this Senator is to incorporate the New York City & Hudson Valley Aqueduct Company.

Senator Grady's bill to provide for the corporate funds in New York City is in the Cities Committee.

Senator Hendrick's bill, introduced on the 15th, is a general act in relation to public parks in the cities of this State having over 100,000 inhabitants.

Senator Coggeshall's bill regulating the rate of ferriage between New York and Brooklyn is likely to meet with considerable opposition.

Senator Ives bill, in reference to riparian rights, amends the present act in relation to grants of land under water.

Senator Robertson's bill, now in the Judiciary Committee, provides for the sale of land for the non-payment of taxes in cities of over 100,000 inhabitants.

Senator Grady's bill is likely to receive support from real estate men. It reduces the water rent tax in the City of New York.

Very little notice seems to have been taken of Assemblyman Creamer's bill to build another bridge over the Harlem River.

Assemblyman Hamilton's bill to provide for short forms of deeds and mortgages will find great support in real estate circles.

The Committee on Ways and Means has under consideration Assemblyman Cottrell's bill to simplify the collection of taxes and assessments in various cities of this State.

Senator McLaughlin's latest bill is to relieve the New York and New Jersey Tunnel Company.

Senator Haggerty's bill to amend the act in relation to fire-escapes in hotels in New York City is in the Committee on Cities.

An act to provide for the construction of a tunnel under the East River, between New York and Brooklyn, introduced by Assemblyman Sperry, has been referred to the Committee on Cities.

The weekly meeting of this committee took place on Tuesday. In the absence of the chairman, Mr. George De Forest Barton was voted to the chair. The members present included Messrs. Cruikshank, Warren, Orr, Robinson, Harnett, Carr, Lespinasse, McMillan, Hoffman and Johnson, Jr.

On the reading of the Senate and Assembly measures, Assembly bill No. 636, introduced by Mr. Crosby, was referred to the Committee on Cities. It is the bill to inquire into the measure of enlarging the metropolis of New York by taking in Brooklyn, Staten Island, etc.

On motion of Mr. Lespinasse, Senator Ives' bill to provide for rapid transit in New York city—the measure approved by Mayor Grant—was made a special order for the next meeting.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Bloomingdale Asylum Doomed.

The Bloomingdale Asylum is at last doomed to removal. "The Real Estate Committee," said Elbridge T. Gerry, "has decided to sell ninety-eight lots at auction, without reserve, on April 4th, located on 112th, 113th and 114th streets, 10th avenue and the Grand Boulevard. We are having plans drawn for a new building and other improvements on our 300 acres at White Plains, to cost $750,000, or more. I can't disclose the name of the architect. We don't know definitely if we will put up these improvements. If the bill now before the Legislature passes exempting us from taxation, as in New York, we will go ahead. It is doubtful if we will spend between three-quarters of a million and a million if we are going to be heavily taxed." Secretary Crane was seen at the office of the New York Hospital, and declined to give any further information as to the character of the new building for which plans are being drawn and as to the name of the architect. The ninety-eight city lots will be sold conditional upon the property being restricted, the street lots to private houses. Seventy per cent. will be allowed to remain on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent., the purchasers having the privilege of paying off the balance on thirty days' notice. It is understood that the remainder of the Asylum property will be auctioned off later on.

Book Notice.

Two new numbers, written by William Nelson Black, have recently been added to the Humboldt Library, under the general title, "Ultimate Finance," the first number, for September, bearing for sub-title, "A True Theory of Co-operation," and the second number, for February, "A True Theory of Wealth." The chief purpose in these books seems to be an exposition of the theory of bonded insurance, which the author has been for some years elaborating, and they discuss with considerable breadth and force the economic principles involved in the measure, and its probable effect in not only adding to the general security, but in increasing the national wealth.

It is the theory of Mr. Black that all men should not only own their dwellings, but that they should become also contributors to the operative capital in use. With this object in view, he proposes large economic organization, and a system of capitalization on incomes, the capitalization in this case to be represented in insured personal bonds carried by the individual, but indorsed and secured by the company of which he is a member. Under the provisions of a bill, printed in the first number, which is drawn in a form suitable for introduction in State Legislatures, and is intended to regulate the operations of the system practically, any large labor organization or benevolent society may become a bond insurance company, the members paying into the treasury a sufficient percentage of their earnings to meet the interest on the bonds which they are enabled to float, and to insure their redemption in case the bond giver should die before he had succeeded in relieving the property in his possession of all liens. The company stands to the member in the relation of an indorser, and is bound to make good any default in maintaining the interest on bonds and insure their final redemption.

It is claimed for this measure that a man may own his dwelling place and pay the interest on the bonds necessary to obtain the money for its purchase or construction, the cost of bond insurance, the taxes, fire insurance, and cost of repairs, at a sacrifice of absolutely less money than he now pays for rent. This is accounted for on the incident that tenants are obliged to pay for vacant premises and other losses that tend to lower the interest account of the landlord. It is further claimed that a system of bond insurance, when the money obtained on bonds is profitably invested in stocks or other operative capital, can be made more than self sustaining; the bond giver receiving in dividends or profits more than he will be obliged to pay for the maintenance of his insured bonds. This is a claim, however, that no business man will be expected to accept until he is assured that the charges on the bonds over and above the interest charges, are very light.

It ought not to be true that profits should ever be compelled to run a very close race with interest. But it is often true that the two racers come in neck and neck, and it is sometimes true that interest is a good deal more than a half neck ahead.

Still the system elaborated in these little books is unquestionably ingenious, and to persons who are looking for the means of improving social conditions it is likely to become a subject for profound study. But if we are to have a system of bond insurance it should not be allowed to grow into being without careful regulations for the public protection. It might represent an industrial and financial force of tremendous potency either for good or for evil.

These books are written with great clearness, and, by letters published in the second number, seem to have the indorsement of leading financiers and economists. They are for sale by the American News Company and at the office of the Humboldt Publishing Company, 24 East 4th street.

Corners that are Not Monopolies

HOW ONE OF OUR JUDGES HANDLES THEM.

During the last few months it has been noticed that Judge Dugro, of the Superior Court, was making a specialty of dealing in corners. Real, tangible, solid corners—not cotton, pork or copper, that are likely to "bust"—but solid realty. It will, no doubt, interest our readers to know what the wide-awake Judge has been doing; therefore the following table is given:

	Purchased.	Sold.
9th av, n w cor 74th st, 25.8x100	Nov. —, 1888, $30,000	Dec., 1888, $32,150
Central Park West (8th av), n w cor 74th st, 51.2x100	Nov. —, 1888, $44,000	*
10th av, n e cor 87th st, 25.8x100	Mar. 21, 1889, $17,050	*
10th av, s e cor 88th st, 25.8x100	Mar. 21, 1889, $15,200	*
Duane st, s e cor Hudson st, 35.6x77.1x 89, gore	Feb. —, 1889, $45,000	Mar., 1889, $47,000
Chambers st, n w cor Centre st, 30x 37.6x33.2x28.4	June 5, 1888, $60,000	Feb., 1889, $68,500
9th av, s e cor 75th st, 25.8x100	Feb. —, 1889, $26,300	*
Total	$237,550

* Not yet resold.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the Judge has resold, at an advance, three of the seven corners he bought, and if the same judgment was exercised in the purchase of the other four we shall, no doubt, soon have to report their resale—also at a profit. All of which seems to show that corners in realty are decidedly profitable.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

Reading the article on "The Street Traffic of the City of New York," it occurred to me the gentleman seems to be blind to the improvement of Elm street and wide-awake to the clearings our city government could undertake in other parts of the city. As you also know, the estate the writer of the above-mentioned article represents owns considerable property in that street. I have read a great many of the arguments he advanced against the improvement. Such estates as the Van Zandt estate and Sailors' Snug Harbor estate have seriously crippled the development of parts of our city. They certainly will not abandon the parsimonious spirit which has prompted the management of their estates for the last half century. Improvements certainly begin at home, and those men who are not willing to do what is just and right with their own property cannot expect more of our city government. Government represents the people, and if the majority of property-holders were desirous of having a better municipal management of affairs, it would be an accomplished fact within a short period.

Yours respectfully,

FERDINAND PROCHAZKA.

Real Estate Department.

The real estate market during the week has been satisfactory, on the whole, to both brokers and auctioneers. The transactions reported at private sale have not been as numerous as the previous week, while the sales at auction have been both more numerous and important. The movement in the purchase of private houses and lots continues, and other classes of property are not neglected. The tone is firm and healthy, and as far as present indications go promises to continue so.

The tables of conveyances and projected buildings for this week make almost as good a showing as those of last week. The number of parcels transferred was 355, and their aggregate cost $5,063,434. During the corresponding week in 1888 only 275 conveyances were recorded, at a total of $4,171,314. The projected buildings are less in number and amount than in the same week last year, while the mortgages are larger in both cases. The auction sales for the forthcoming week or two are quite heavy, as will be seen from the announcements which follow.

The auction business of the week has been exceedingly active. Commencing on Monday, when numerous sales were held, the volume of business increased daily until Thursday, when the properties bulletined for sale exceeded in number those of any other day of the week. Among the more important offerings were the Sacred Heart Convent lots, the Meeks and Mitchell estates, and the Brainerd Quarry Company's properties, and a review of how each of which terminated is given below. It may be added, however, that it does not always follow that the results are the most satisfactory when the sales are exceedingly numerous, and the daily review seems to indicate that this is true of the business of the past week.

Since business has become active at the Exchange Monday is no longer the dull day it formerly was. Monday of this week proved no exception to the rule, and hence numerous sales were held. The attendance was fair, although the bidding was not marked by that activity which means successful sales. Among the dwellings offered was No. 16 East 42d street, which was struck down to Wm. Simon at $45,100. There is a strong suspicion that most of the other parcels knocked down will not change hands, so further comment on the prices realized, etc., seems unnecessary.

The business transacted on 'Change on Tuesday largely exceeded the offerings of the preceding day and led to a better attendance at the Salesroom. A review of the day's work, however, does not reveal satisfactory results. In the first place, the prices realized for the Sacred Heart Convent lots, on 10th and Convent avenues, were not satisfactory, and, secondly, very many of the other properties offered were bid in by interested parties. To show how far this kind of work was carried on, it may be mentioned that in one map containing five parcels four at least were bid in, with a strong probability that the fifth was also. On a second map with four parcels, one was sold, two were bid in and one was withdrawn. A third map displayed five pieces, not all together, and they were all knocked down to the same person. Of course there were some sales, but with so many parcels going the way of the seller it is extremely difficult at times to be sure which will go to buyers. The Sacred Heart Convent lots offered numbered forty-seven, and, as already stated, are on 10th and Convent avenues, between and on 130th and 133d streets. Some of the 10th avenue lots, the most northerly, are covered by several feet of rock; others are much below the grade. The auctioneer announced that Convent avenue when finished would be 75 feet wide, and that it would be all completed without a cent of expense to buyers at Tuesday's sale. Notwithstanding this statement, the present rough appearance of the locality kept many from bidding, which is explained by the words of a well-known operator, who, when asked by the writer if he considered the lots cheap, said: "I would certainly have bought some at these figures if I had not gone and looked at the lots this morning." A total of $151,625 was realized for the forty-seven lots, or over $3,332 each. The lots on Convent avenue, including four corners, averaged $3,314; the 10th avenue lots, only one corner, averaged $3,418, and the street lots, some of which were extra large, brought an average of $3,216. Details of the sale with names of buyers, etc., are given in the regular column. A feature of the day's business was the offering of numerous new "west side" houses under foreclosure. The plaintiffs were invariably the purchasers.

There was no abatement of activity at the Exchange on Wednesday, when a great crowd was in attendance; many to secure some of the numerous parcels to be offered, and others to note the figures obtained for the properties to be sold. The Meeks' estate sale of ten valuable pieces of improved property, which were offered by order of the Supreme Court, in partition, was by all means the most important sale of the day, and, if the total sum realized be considered, the most important of the week. Auctioneer Richard V. Harnett had charge of the sale, and the first parcel shown in the catalogue was No. 26 Vesey street, 24.2x76, with an annual rental of $5,060; O. B. Ackerly became the buyer at $63,000. No. 18 Vesey street, 25x100.9, was the next parcel on the list and brought an even $100,000; the buyer, M. Pratt, is said to represent Eugene Meeks. For the premises No. 12 Barclay street, $85,000 was bid and O. B. Ackerly was announced as the buyer. The extra-sized lot No. 10 Barclay street with five-story stone front store was struck down at $134,500. This piece is rented until May 1st next at $9,950 per annum. Captain B. P. Fairchild secured the next two parcels, viz.: Nos. 69 Leonard street and 251 Church street, which adjoin each other on the rear, for $70,250 and $55,500 respectively. It may be added that the Leonard street lot is 65 feet deep and the Church street lot 40 feet deep. It could not be learned who Captain Fairchild secured the property for. No. 13 Beech street went at $16,000 to M. Pratt, for E. Meeks. Two other parcels were secured by real estate brokers, viz.: No. 116 East 23d street, at $32,800, and No. 136 Madison avenue, northwest corner of 31st street at $58.500; J. Jay Smith bought the former and Hoffman Bros. the latter. The total realized for the ten parcels was $630,150. Six pieces went to three persons and the others to four persons. Of the seven buyers five are brokers and some, it is said, purchased on behalf of the heirs.

On the same day No. 45 Vesey street, 25x85, with three and four-story buildings, was struck down to James Brown at $32,000.

Marked catalogues of the Meeks' estate sale can be obtained free of charge at the office of Richard V. Harnett & Co., the auctioneers.

Thursday was the busiest day of the week at the Salesroom, and despite the very bad weather a large crowd gathered at the Exchange. The sales, besides being very numerous, were also important, and while the nine auctioneers who had sales were on their stands the auction room presented a lively appearance. The sale of improved and unimproved property, city and country, belonging to the estate of John W. Mitchell, attracted the largest crowd as well as the most bidders. A total of $406,400 was realized for all the parcels, divided as follows: $74,900 for the improved, $287,025 for the unimproved and $44,475 for the out-of-town parcels. The twenty-six lots on 10th avenue, 87th and 88th streets proved the most attractive part of the estate, and brought a total of $228,075, of which sum $87,350 was obtained for the avenue front, $74,050 for the 87th and $66,675 for the 88th street lots. Among the buyers were Judge P. H. Dugro, Capt. B. P. Fairchild and Building Loan Operators Ottinger Brothers and Morris Steinhardt. Four lots on the southwest corner of Central Park West (8th avenue) and 101st street, belonging to the same estate, were sold for a total of $43,850. The sale of properties belonging to the Brainerd Quarry Company, embracing flats on the east side and houses and lots in Brooklyn, was far from successful, many of the parcels being withdrawn for want of bids. It was announced that the most valuable of the apartment houses, the "Park Hill," on the southeast corner of Park avenue and 87th street, had been sold at private sale. The notorious "Armory Hall" on Hester street, with property adjoining on Mott street, brought a total of $82,250. It is said Mrs. McGlory took title to the property a few years ago when the property was sold under foreclosure for $61,000. Two tenements on East 80th street, belonging to McGlory, were sold at $13,000 each. The dwelling, No. 29 West 32d street, 25 x about 70x98.9, went for $37,750. A total of $11,870 was realized for twenty-six lots at Belmont, 24th Ward, belonging to the estate of Henry Seggerman.

There were no sales of importance yesterday.

On Monday, March 25th, Brown & Leviness will offer the hotel and grounds on Jerome and Woodlawn avenues, now known as Wagner's Hotel and formerly Louis Brisi's. The property is to be sold by order of Aaron Ogden, the executor, and it comprises a three-story and basement building, with ten rooms above the first floor and a frontage of ground on Jerome or Central avenue of 125 feet, and on Woodlawn avenue of 200 feet, with an average depth of 348 feet, being equal to more than twenty-one city lots of 25x100 each.

On Monday, March 25th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer the valuable lot, with brick and frame buildings thereon, situate at No. 175 Franklin street, between Hudson and Greenwich streets, near the Mercantile Exchange, and the two four-story brick tenements and stores at Nos. 416 and 418 East 10th street. These properties will be sold by order of the estate of the late Margaret Van Brunt. On the same day Mr. Harnett will sell the lot, with dwelling, at No. 212 East 85th street, near 3d avenue, and the two lots and frame dwellings at Nos. 440 and 442 East 117th street.

On Tuesday, March 26th, D. Phœnix Ingraham & Co. will sell, by order of the late Ebenezer B. Belden, eight lots on the east side of Morris avenue, between 164th and 165th streets, with the dwelling and fine stable thereon.

On Tuesday, March 26th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will offer the following valuable improved properties: The four-story brick building and extension at No. 11 West 4th street, being on the northeast corner of Mercer street; the five-story brick building, with a two-story brick stable, at No. 66 Irving place, on the northeast corner of 18th street; the two four-story brick tenements with stores at Nos. 378 and 380 1st avenue, on the northeast corner of 22d street, and the four-story brick double flat adjoining at No. 403 East 22d street; also the two four-story brick tenements with stores at Nos. 586 and 588 2d avenue, adjoining the northeast corner of 32d street, and a large plot at Woodside, L. I. As these comprise several good corners, the sale will, no doubt, attract considerable interest. This property is to be sold by order of the estate of the late Claus Witschen. On the same day Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the following properties: The lot, with three-story brick building, No. 193 Mercer street, near Bleecker street; the five-story brick tenement with stores at No. 839 1st avenue, on the southwest corner of 47th street, to close an estate; the two three-story and basement brick stores at Nos. 486 and 488 Grand street; the handsome four-story residence, with fixtures, etc., at No. 10 East 56th street, near 5th avenue; the first-class four-story house at No. 39 East 63d street, decorated, etc.; the handsome modern residence, with two-story and basement extension, at No. 5 East 73d street, near 5th avenue; and, by order of the executor of the estate of Wm. T. Hemmenway, the four-story brick building and store, with two-story brick stable in rear, on the southwest corner of Delancey and East streets; also the four-story and basement brown stone flat at No. 2244 2d avenue, near the 116th street "L" road station; and a farm of 137 acres, subdivided in plots of five acres each, at Fulshing, L. I., by order of the estate of the late Oliver Charlick.

On Tuesday, March 26th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell, by order of the executors of the late Obadiah Ayres, the properties situated at No. 104 Christopher street, No. 112 7th avenue, No. 321 West 27th street, No. 350 East 55th street, and Nos. 330, 332 and 334 East 39th street.

On Tuesday, March 26th, James C. Lalor will offer eight valuable lots on the south side of 70th street, between Central Park West and 9th avenue. They are each 25x100.5 in size, and are in the neighborhood of first-class improvements, and within a few minutes' walk of the "L" road station at 72d street and 9th avenue.

On Wednesday, March 27th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell, by order of the executors, the four-story stone front building with extension, at No. 20 East 21st street, near Broadway; the five-story building at No. 103 Broad street, on the southwest corner of Pearl street; two valuable lots on east side of 9th avenue, between 70th and 71st streets, and two lots on the north side of 146th street, between the Grand Boulevard and 10th avenue.

On Wednesday, March 27th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the lot at No. 9 Prince street with the buildings thereon, between the Bowery and Elizabeth street; the three-story house No. 342 East 86th street; the dwelling and store at No. 528 Hudson street, near Charles street; the two five-story tenements at Nos. 82 and 84 Ludlow street, near Broome street; the handsome four-story residence with fixtures, etc., at No. 3 West 124th street, adjoining the northwest corner of 5th avenue and that street and opposite Mount Morris Park; two lots, running through, one on 115th street and one on 116th street, between 5th and Lenox avenues; the four-story house No. 643 Lexington avenue, near 54th street; the valuable flat on the northeast corner of Nostrand avenue and Madison street, Brooklyn; the dwelling and lot No. 43 St. Felix street, near Fulton street, Brooklyn, by order of the executor; and the valuable triangle on the northwest corner of Broadway and Van Buren street, Brooklyn, with the stores and tenements thereon, to close the estate of John Crosbie, deceased.

On Thursday, March 28th, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the two four-story brick buildings with stores, at Nos. 32 and 34 Old slip, between Front and South strsets, by order of the executors of the late Fanny Hendricks; the dwelling and stable on the southwest corner of Pike and Henry streets; the two-story building with store, and stable on rear, at No. 338 West 4th street, on the southwest corner of Horatio street, by order of the estate of George Hallock, deceased, and the modern four-story brown stone front house, with fixtures, etc., at No. 114 East 45th street.

On Thursday, March 28th, A. H. Muller & Son will sell the three-story and basement stone front house at No. 11 East 124th street, near 5th avenue, and opposite Mount Morris Park; and the valuable five-story brick stores and apartments, with plot, at Nos. 309 and 311 3d avenue.

On Tuesday, April 2d, James C. Lalor will sell, by order of the estate of the late George Bradish, about fifty unimproved lots and gores situated on 1st avenue, 108th, 109th and 110th streets. Seventy per cent. of the purchase money will be allowed to remain on bond and mortgage.

On Tuesday, April 2d, Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell the four-story modern residence, decorated, etc., at No. 249 West 72d street, between the Grand Boulevard and West End avenue, and near the entrance to River side Drive.

On Thursday, April 4th, A. H. Muller & Son will conduct one of the most important sales of the season. It will comprise 98 lots belonging to the New York Hospital, around the site of the Bloomingdale Asylum, and situated on 10th avenue, the Grand Boulevard, 112th, 113th and 114th streets. The lots are all to be restricted, and will be sold on a margin allowing 70 per cent. to remain at 5 per cent. interest. The sale is by order of the governors of the hospital, and will be absolute and without reserve. The Bloomingdale Asylum is to be removed to White Plains, and this will make the property to be offered prospectively valuable. It is al[l] on high ground and well suited for residence purposes.

On Tuesday, April 9th, F. G. Wolbert will sell about 33 acres of land fronting on the Hudson River, and extending to Bergen Line avenue, being close to the Weehawken Ferry, and situated in Union Township, N. J. The property will be sold in four parcels, and will be auctioned off at Taylor's Hotel, No. 15 Exchange place, Jersey City, at 2 P.M. on the above date, by order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey.

On Tuesday, April 9th, James L. Wells will conduct an important sale of North New York vacant property, just above the Harlem Bridge and on the line of suburban rapid transit. It comprises 222 lots, suitable for dwelling and business purposes, located on Lincoln, Alexander and Brook avenues, the Southern Boulevard, 134th, 135th, 136th, 137th and 138th streets, in the 23d Ward. The neighborhood has all the public improvements, and is continually increasing in value. The title to all the property is guaranteed. It belongs to the estate of the late James Brown.

John Curry and James B. Gillie have sold the five-story flat, now under way at No. 319 West 36th street, lot 24x98.9, to a Mr. Hoffmann, of Brooklyn, for $33,800. They have also purchased from J. Reilly a plot, 75x98.9, at Nos. 317-321 West 21st street, which they will improve.

A movement is on foot, among several of the smaller clubs of this city, to secure a large club-house, in which each may have its own apartments, and where large assembly rooms, and certain other privileges which neither could afford independently, may be enjoyed in common. The Authors' Club has appointed a committee, of which Charles Henry Phelps is chairman, to confer with other clubs interested in the plan, and on March 28th a meeting will be held at No. 19 West 24th street, when the scheme will be discussed. Several offers of sites have been received, which will then be considered. One of these is of an attractive plot, 100x100, near Bryant Park, on which the owner proposes to build a handsome seven-story, semi-fire-proof building, in which apartments suitable for the needs of each of the clubs would be provided, and which would contain everything to be desired in the way of large reception, exhibition and dining halls. In the upper floors would be a few bachelor apartments, and a number of studios for artists. The cost of the proposed building would be not far from $250,000, and plans are now being developed by a well-known architect. Eight of the clubs which are likely to enter into the project have a combined membership of over 1,200, and even if no others should join, they would find the new club-house none too large for their own accommodation.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

Power & Prague have sold the last of their finished houses on 86th street, between 9th and 10th avennes, No. 123, for $47,500. The house will be occupied at once by the City Chamberlain, W. M. Ivins. No. 108 West 87th street has also been sold by them to Mr. E. Berry.

B. W. Cole has sold for Louis P. Bayard two hundred lots lying between 2d and 3d streets, 1st avenue and Mile Square road, to E. B. Levy on private terms. The property is situated near and facing the boundary of Van Cortlandt Park, and is an evidence of the interest manifested in this region by the creation of the new parks. Property which has been almost dormant up that way is evidently now beginning to move. The result will be increased values to owners and increased valuations, augmenting the city's income from taxation.

M. J. Newman has sold to R. J. McGirr the southeast corner of 101st street and 10th avenue, for immediate improvement, for $50,000.

L. Tanenbaum has sold the four-story brick stores and tenements at Nos. 2214 and 2216 2d avenue, 40x85 together, to Mrs. Jennie Simon for about $27,500.

Louis H. Hallen & Co. have sold No. 54 West 134th street for John Brown to Frederick W. Lohr for $13,130.

Mainhart & Lowe have sold for Hugh Kiernan the lot on the south side of 133d street, 108.5 east of St. Nicholas avenue, to J. O'Kane for $6,250.

Barnett & Co. have sold for J. H. Rosenheimer the three-story and basement brown stone house No. 133 East 128th street, 20x45x100, to David Brahm for $10,500; and for the New York Wood Turning Company the flat No. 287 West 141st street, 25x65x100, to Mr. Buehle for $15,000.

John Bannon has sold for Geo. C. Edgar & Son the last of their row of private dwellings on West 77th street to Mr. Hayes.

M. J. Newman has sold for the estate of L. J. Houston a plot, 94x297, on Centre avenue, New Rochelle, to J. W. Trimm on private terms.

Ames & Co. have sold for Philip Houseman the five-story brown stone single flat, 18x75x100, No. 174 West 95th street, for $28,000; and for Helen Schriater the five-story brick and brown stone double flat, 25x87x100.8, No. 103 West 103d street, for $33,000.

Brudi & Betty have sold for C. Enders, Jr., the three-story private house No. 324 East 69th street, to Louis Kruge for $11,000, and for G. W. Edwards ten lots in Tremont to S. Jacobs for $17,000.

Louis H. Hallen & Co. have sold for John Brown the three-story brick dwelling No. 54 West 134th street, 16.8x50x100, to Frederick W. Lohr for $13,130.

J. Romaine Brown & Co. have sold for Jonas Cole two lots on the south side of 149th street, 275 east of 10th avenue, to Jno. F. Lucke and Jno. McGloin for $7,000.

E. A. Cruiksbank & Co. have sold for James Gallatin two lots, 25x100 each, on 5th avenue, commencing 25 feet north of 96th street, on private terms.

L. J. Carpenter has sold the three-story high stoop, brown stone dwelling No. 263 West 132d street, 15x50x1½ block, to Miss Mary C. Moore for $10,250.

Matthews & Hays were the brokers in the sale of the two flats for Messrs. Edgar & Sons at Nos. 260 and 262 West 122d street.

LEASES.

Mainhart & Lowe have leased the four-story building, 22x60x100, No. 258 West 125th street for ten years.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. have leased for Joseph Pulitzer No. 11 Park row, running through to Ann street, to B. W. Hitchcock for a term of years for improvement.

Brooklyn.

P. C. Grening and William P. Rae have made an exchange with Mr. A. J. Hichener, in which Mr. Grening personally becomes the owner of "Watkin's Glen" and hotel, covering about 500 acres, giving in exchange property on Clinton avenue, Monroe street, Sumner avenue, Willoughby avenue and Putnam avenue, amounting to over $150,000.

Corwith Bros. has sold No. 140 Oakland street for Mary Hood to Edward H. Nelson for $2,000; for Owen McBreen the lot, 25x100, on the north side of India street, 200 feet east of Manhattan avenue, to Timothy Desmond for $2,100; and for M. Kelsey the lot, 25x100, on the west side of Guernsey street, 150 feet north of Nassau avenue, to Francis L. McFadden for $800.

J. P. Sloane has sold for Leonard Burgey the three-story double tenement No. 184 Greene street to Martin Ahnemann for $4,900; and for Mrs. R. Walker the three-story brick flat No. 120 India street, lot 25x100, to G. W. Felter for $4,700.

On Wednesday, March 27th, Taylor & Fox will sell at auction at the E. D. Exchange, the five three-story brick dwellings Nos. 974 to 980½ De Kalb avenue, Nos. 274 and 278 Division avenue, No. 221 Keap street, Nos. 108 and 110 Penn street, No. 831A Van Buren street, and No. 206 Withers street; also on the same day the estate of James R. Klots, deceased, comprising valuable property on the northwest corner of South 9th street and Kent avenue, No. 123 Hope street, Nos. 11 and 18½ Eldert street, No. 485 Flushing avenue, No. 109 Rutledge street, and the vacant lot on Butler street near Clason avenue.

On Thursday, March 28th, Taylor & Fox will sell No. 589 Bedford avenne, No. 74 Clymer street, No. 178 South 8th and No. 286 South 9th street, No. 293 Lorimer street, and part of the Samuel Delaplaine estate, No. 49 Withers, 260 South 1st, and 300 Ewen street.

A proposition was recently made to Mr. E. B. Litchfield, by the Equitable Building Association, for the purchase of two whole squares of property lying between 8th and 9th avenues and 1st and 3d streets, and terms were agreed upon. The intending purchaser was to have erected 140 dwellings upon the property, at a cost of about $200,000; but, on endeavoring to secure a loan from the Equitable and the New York Life Insurance companies, he was told that they would not lend a dollar upon Brooklyn property while the present tax laws are upon the statute books. In consequence of this the enterprise was given up, and the property is still unimproved.

At the New York Life Insurance Company it was learned, that though the rule of the company is to make no loans on Brooklyn property, an exception is sometimes made when the security is "gilt edged." The Equitable Company makes no exceptions to the rule.

The plans for the great music hall which is soon to be built in this city are being prepared by architect William Burnett Tuthill. A company, of which Andrew Carnegie is the head, and which is composed of some of the directors of the Oratorio and Symphony Societies and others, has secured a site of nine lots, with a frontage of 175 feet on 7th avenue and 110 feet on 57th street, with an L, 25x100, running through to 56th street. The building committee is one of the smallest upon record, consisting of but two gentlemen besides the architect in charge; and as the plans have their immediate supervision no unnecessary delays are likely to occur. The study of the architectural part of the building has not yet been fully determined upon, but it will probably be of a modified Romanesque. It will be thoroughly fire-proof, and the exterior will be of a rich buff-colored brick, with Indiana limestone. Considerable granite will be used in the composition of the first story, but no terra cotta whatever will be used in the building, as all of the enrichments of the exterior are to be wrought. The roof is to be of vitrified tile. There are to be three general entrances for the public besides a private entrance to the 56th street wing. In the interior, besides the large hall, which will have a seating capacity of over 3,000, several smaller halls will be provided suitable for the regular rehearsals of the Oratorio Society, and for lectures, concerts and art gallery. In the wing on 56th street will be rooms for the orchestra, soloists and chorus, and the conductor's room. The arrangement of the box tiers and galleries in the great hall has several features about it differing to a considerable extent from the customary arrangement, but which, it is expected, will produce peculiarly good results for the general seating of the house. Independent means of egress will be provided from every division of the building. The acoustics will have particular attention and will be everything they can be to be absolutely perfect. The interior architectural and decorative treatment is said to involve a scheme particularly rich and effective. The best experts will be consulted in regard to the illumination and ventilation. The building will be about 80 feet high, and will probably cost about $400,000.

George Edward Harding & Co. have prepared plans for a seven-story hotel, 50x125, with wing 25x100, which will be erected on 5th avenue near 30th street. The exact location and name of owner is withheld. It is to contain 175 rooms, and will be fitted with steam heat, elevator, electric lights and all improvements. Hardwoods will be used throughout, and the halls will be wainscoted in marble. The fronts will be of Philadelphia brick and brown stone. The cost will be about $125,000.

W. B. Tubby is preparing plans for a five-story apartment house with stores, which the R. S. Clark estate will erect on the lot, 50x100, on the west side of 8th avenue, 50 feet north of 34th street. It will be finished in hardwoods and will have tiled floors and fire-proof stairs. The front will be a handsome one of Nova Scotia stone and light brick, with terra cotta trimmings. Five families will be provided for on each floor. The cost has not yet been estimated.

George B. Post, who was called to Europe by Mr. Pulitzer to consult in regard to the new World building, has satisfactorily arranged several important matters in regard to the plans, and will sail for home on the last Saturday of March. Work on the plans of this building and also of the new Union Trust Company building, at Nos. 78, 80 and 82 Broadway, is being rapidly pushed, and borings are being made in both sites to see what kind of foundations will be required. The samples are not all in yet, but are so far satisfactory. It is reported that Mr. Post would not guarantee Mr. Pulitzer that his building would not cost over $1,000,000, but has made him a bet of $20,000 to $10,000 that it will not exceed that figure.

The German Club are going to erect a handsome club-house on the six lots purchased by them, running through from 58th to 59th street, 125 feet west of 6th avenue.

Henry O. Havemeyer, the wealthy sugar refiner, has purchased a building site of three lots on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 66th street, on which he will erect an elegant residence for himself. Two of the lots front on the avenue and one on 66th street. Charles C. Haight has been selected as the architect, but the plans have not yet been developed.

A. B. Ogden & Son are preparing plans for nine five-story stone front flats, to be built by P. H. McManus on the south side of 14th street, commencing 150 feet west of avenue C. One will be 33x96 and the others 27 and 28x90. It is said that they will have steam heat, electrical work and other modern improvements, and that they will cost not far from $300,000.

Rentz & Lange have plans on the boards for two five-story buff brick and terra cotta tenements with stores, which Sevestre & Cusack will build at Nos. 60 and 62 Catherine street. The old buildings will be taken down on May 1st, and the new ones will contain four families on each floor. Cost, $20,000 each. Also for five five-story brick, stone and terra cotta tenements, four with stores, to be built for Frank Schaeffler on the northwest corner of Hudson and West 10th streets. The corner building, 26.6x50x71, and three others, 27x90 each, will front on Hudson street and will contain four families to the floor. The other, 25x44 in size, will front on West 10th street and will provide for two families to the floor. The five will cost $100,000.

William Schickel & Co. are preparing plans for some extensive alterations which are to be made by Park Commissioner John D. Crimmins in the "Cyclorama Building," on the southeast corner of Madison avenue and 59th street. The exterior will not be altered to any extent, but the interior will be transformed into a handsome music hall, with white and gold decorations in papier-mache. It will be used by Theodore Thomas's orchestra. In the basement is to be a large dining-room, which will accommodate 500 guests. The cost will be about $60,000.

Elliott F. Shepard's private secretary is responsible for the statement that the entire plot bought by the former on 88th and 89th streets will be covered with a new stable for the Fifth Avenue Transportation Company (Lim.). The ground comprises 153.3x100.8 on the former street, and 102.3x100.8 on 89th street, commencing 82.3 feet west of 4th avenue, over ten lots in all.

Jordan & Moriarty intend to build a six-story warehouse for their furniture business, on a plot 80x100 in size, on the north side of 23d street, 84 feet west of 3d avenue. It will have a front of brick, stone and iron, and will have passenger and freight elevators. The firm will occupy the entire building for warerooms and showrooms solely. "No architect has as yet been selected," said Mr. Moriarty, "nor have we decided on what plan the building will be modeled."

L. & J. Brandt intend to commence early to build eight five-story brick front improved tenements, with terra cotta and stone trimmings, on the south side of 83d street, 98 feet east of Avenue B. They will cost about $120,000. J. Brandt has the plans.

The estate of Letitia A. Poillon is said to contemplate the erection, at an early date, of seven five-story flats on the northwest corner of Bedford and Barrow streets. Chas. De Kay Townsend is trustee for the estate, and Samuel A. Warner architect.

Geo. E. Faile intends to build three two-story and attic frame dwellings, 16.8x45 each, on the east side of Washington avenue, 50 feet north of 174th street. They will have hot and cold water, electric bells and other improvements, and will cost about $12,000. No architect has been selected.

The lobbies and auditorium of the Fourteenth Street Theatre are to be redecorated, and extensive alterations are to be made during the coming summer. The contract will probably be given to Victor Sura, who had charge of the work on the Stock Exchange.

H. Cohen & Bro. have bought the lot, 25x87.6, on Allen street, adjoining their lot on the southeast corner of Canal street. They will erect on these two lots a six-story stone and terra cotta apartment house, with fire-proof halls and stairs, from plans by Herter Bros. Cost, $60,000.

In our issue of the 16th inst. we stated that the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company is about to build a six-story fire-proof building at 50 and 52 Lafayette place. This fact is confirmed by the New York Life Insurance Company, which asks us to deny the rumor that the proposed building has already been leased.

John C. Burne has the plans under way for a six-story storage warehouse, 75x100 in size, to be built by Wilmurt & Jarvis on the north side of 102d street, east of 3d avenue. It will have steam, elevators, etc., and is to be substantially constructed. The cost, it is said, will be $30,000.

J. Averit Webster has the plans on the boards for five five-story brick and brown stone front flats, to be built on the northeast corner of 9th avenue and 102d street. The corner will be 25.5x71, two 25x59.5, and one 25.6x95, all fronting on the avenue and having stores, while the fifth will front on the street and be 25x72.6 in size. Their cost to the owner, Albert E. Smith, will be about $85,000.

Ed. Wenz has the plans on the boards for two five-story brown stone front flats, each 25x70 and 11.6x8 extension, to be built by Hugh Reilly on the north side of 109th street, commencing 100 feet west of Lexington avenue, at a cost of $32,000.

M. C. Merritt has the plans on the boards for a five-story brick and stone front flat, 24.4x85, to be built by G. Loughlin, at No. 42 Morton street, at an estimated cost of $20,000; and for a three-story and attic brick and stone apartment house, 22.6x55.6, to be built by D. C. Kee, on the south side of 171st street, 100 feet east of 11th avenue, to cost about $11,000.

M. V. B. Ferdon has plans under way for a five-story brick and stone front tenement and store, 25x88, to be built at No. 404 8th avenue, for Daniel D. Lawson, at a cost of $18,500; a five-story brick and stone front improved tenement, 25x88.9, to be built by Ed. F. Mulry, at No. 346 West 36th street, to cost $18,000; a four-story tenement and store, 24.8x54.9, to have a three-story extension, on the southwest corner of 7th avenue and 40th street, for Meta Helmken; and a five-story brick tenement and store, 26.4x96, to be built by L. & K. Ungrich, on the northeast corner of 9th avenue and 19th street, at a cost of $20,000.

Richard R. Davis is preparing plans for two five-story tenements, 25x86.6 each, designed to be located at Nos. 159 and 161 East 126th street. Howard D. Hamm, the owner, said, last week, that a piano factory was to be built on the site for Krakauer Bros.

J. G. Michel has plans for a four-story flat, 25x70 and extension, to be built by John A. Prigge on the north side of 88th street, 70 feet east of 4th avenue, and for a four-story extension to be added by P. Peterson to the building on the northeast corner of 2d avenue and 82d street.

Ch. Sturzkober has plans for a five-story tenement, 25x66, to be built for Lena Hay at No. 10 Downing street.

PATERSON, N. J.—H. G. Knapp is making the designs for a handsome frame dwelling, 30x40 feet, two-and-a-half stories, to be erected on the corner of Ellison street and Graham avenue, for Aaron Sipp. Cost, $5,000.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y.—Paul Tuckerman, the Wall street merchant, will build a handsome country house here in the English style. The first story will be of rough stone, while the second story and attic will be partly half-timbered and partly in cement. It will have all the modern improvements and will cost about $15,000. James Brown Lord is preparing the plans.

WAYNE, PA.—A. J. Drexel, of Philadelphia, has purchased a valuable site here for the erection of the "Drexel Industrial College for Women." Buildings for the accommodation of three hundred young women, and for their instruction in whatever trades are open to them, will be erected. The entire expense of new buildings, endowment and land will be about $1,500,000.

Special Notices.

L. N. Vause & Son, of No. 1254 Broadway, near 32d street, is one of the oldest firms engaged in supplying awnings, canopies, tents, banners and camp-chairs, having been in the business for forty-five years. Canvas articles of every description can be obtained at their establishment, for they not only have a large stock on hand but also manufacture to suit the wishes of the purchasers. Orders by mail are promptly attended to.

Among the most active and enterprising real estate and insurance men doing business up town is Mr. Charles S. Kohler, whose handsome offices are located at No. 1656 10th avenue, at the corner of 96th street. Since March, 1887, when he established his office, Mr. Kohler, by his able management, has built up a large and increasing business. He makes a specialty of renting, collecting, and taking entire charge of estates.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received at the Department of Public Works until 11:30 on Monday, March 25th, for furnishing materials and performing work in the taking down of the marble steps leading to the portico on the south front of City Hall, and rebuilding the same, and retiling the platform under portico, and in building two floating swimming baths, "A" and "B."

The Commissioners of Public Charities and Correction will receive bids at 66 3d avenue, New York City, until Tuesday, April 2d, at 9.30 o'clock, for steam heating at Central Islip, L. I.

Bids for furnishing all material and doing all work necessary to construct the iron doors, windows, window-guards and netting; also screens for the gate chambers required at the 135th street gate-house, on Section 15 of the New Aqueduct, as called for in the approved forms of conduct and specifications on file in the office of the Aqueduct Commissioners, will be received at 280 Broadway, room 209, until 3 o'clock P. M., Wednesday, April 10, 1888.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Since our last the season may be said to have fully opened. In addition to continued arrivals from Long Island, Staten Island and New Jersey, the thorough opening of the river has brought contributions from Haverstraw Bay, Catskills, Kingston, Glasgow, Newburgh, Fishkill, New Windsor, etc., making a pretty general representation of all primary points and probably altogether the largest amount thus far received during any one week this year. The market, however, has stood up well against the import of supplies, and indeed made some little improvement, as practically higher rates are shown on sales at $8.25 per M, and for some exceptionally fine lots even reaching $8.37½ per M. The demand in fact seems to have kept pace with the supply excellently well, consumers evidently making up their minds to improve the very favorable weather prevailing, and it was not until Thursday's storm that any serious impediment to consumption developed, and that was looked upon as probably only a temporary matter, no doubt offset in a measure by a letting up in the shipments until the weather became more propitious. It cannot, however, be taken as a foregone conclusion that consumers are accepting the situation blindly and likely to submit to a very liberal advance, as we already hear some little grumbling over the enhancement of values, and it looks as though the favorable symptoms with which trade opens would be best retained by a conservative policy. The general average condition of the offerings has been very good as the poorer lots were largely shipped off last fall and winter, leaving a desirable grade to carry over in the majority of cases, and this materially assists present negotiation. There is not much news of importance from along the river, except that while some manufacturers are holding back supplies others have forwarded freely, and a few are now understood to be upon their last loads. The mild weather induced quite a little clearing up of yards in several sections, but that is about all the progress thus far made toward the new production. For Pales about the former line of prices is quoted, but a larger supply of good and attractive quality met with free demand and placed the market in a very healthy and cheerful sort of position.

CEMENT.—The season is now getting well under way, and, as found on the market for pretty much all other kinds of material, general indications are of a promising character. On Rosendale there is some little irregularity, according to brand, but for the average run of stock $1.00 per bbl. here is the cargo rate, and at that buyers are taking hold without much hesitation, and some of the companies already have a fair run of orders booked against future production.

The manufacturers of standard American Portland have not changed their price and are finding a steady growth of demand from all regular sources, with a gratifying addition of new custom. Importers very generally consider the position and prospects for foreign grades as extremely solid and giving excellent promise of continuation and further improvement. Owing to the open winter, consumption in the West was quite liberal, and correspondingly exhausted the pretty full amounts accumulated, with some points already calling for fresh lots, and while there is still a fair quantity in this locality, a great deal was sold off during the winter break on values to contractors, dealers, etc., who seemed to realize the advantages of investments at that juncture. Such stock in second hands might be considered a factor of some importance as relating to new demand, were it not more than neutralized by the prospect for supplies. The stock to come forward for a long while, it is said, will amount to practically nothing beyond the supplies received by steamers on regular freight contracts. It is considered, estimating at a very full figure, to say that 10,000 bbls. will cover the entire amount now afloat by sail against 75,000 bbls. at this time last year, with chances against any immediate additions to the shipments as freight room is scarce, and especially so at some of the most important shipping ports. Europe, too, is experiencing a good home demand, especially on the Continent, and manufacturers are not over-anxious about the export trade. It looks, therefore, very much as though the excessive over-importations into this country could not be repeated again this year, even were there a disposition to risk such a result, and with growing demand, accompanied by the recent advance in price now quite fairly maintained, the trade certainly seems to be shaping in healthy and conspicuous form.

LATH.—Immediately following our last report, and indeed even before we had gone to press, the market took a tumble. Receivers who "expected only moderate arrivals" did not appear to have been very well posted, as a bunch of something like ten million lath came to hand all in one day, and buyers became temporarily demoralized, so much so indeed that it was impossible to get any sort of bid within the bounds of reason. As subsequent receipts however did not run very heavy, confidence was gradually restored and matters worked into better form, with rates quoted at the present writing on a basis of $2.10@2.15 for round wood, which have sold well, and $2 25 for the best slab lath, the top figures even obtained on parcels to arrive. Light amounts afloat is again claimed, but with the more open season and recent experience the story is not promptly accepted.

LIME—Demand continues good, most dealers carrying very light stocks, some scarcely any at all, and offerings are placed without much difficulty as soon as tendered, either on spot or to arrive. The control of the market is also such that values remain right up to the former mark, and there is no evidence just now that temptations have proven sufficient to induce any cutting of official figures.

LUMBER.—Reports generally are running in much the former channel, and cheerful undertone remains as the dominant feature of the situation. On actual immediate distribution quite a number of dealers have experienced something of a lull this month, over which there is natural complaint with more or less expression of surprise, but a little reflection may account for more or less falling away of demand temporarily, and especially on building orders. The open winter permitted urging forward jobs with so much more rapidity than usual that everything was completed at a comparatively early date, and hence a large amount of held-over work upon which early spring work ordinarily develops is now lacking. Plans for the future are all right, however, and the very winter distribution that makes a little quietness now so depleted stocks that dealers are very good customers, and in one way or another the various standard descriptions are securing attention for as prompt delivery as agents can promise, right along into the summer months, and, as a rule, at pretty good rates. As usual at this season of the year reports are more or less conflicting in regard to the log crop, but through the reprint we have of late given from the leading journals and information in the hands of operators here, there appears little danger of any scarcity.

Eastern Spruce continues to be commented upon in very strong terms by receivers, and some have the "sure thing" text for all their arguments. There is no doubt the market looks pretty strong, and if advantages are judiciously handled the chances all favor many benefits to the seller during the season, but the position cannot be considered impregnable by any means. Indeed, some of the trade already commence to talk about the competition from substitutes, of which a sample was had a couple of seasons ago, and we have lately heard another suggestion that seems worthy of notice. It is in effect that between the completion of so much work during the winter and the interval that may occur before new jobs are above ground, especially should brick be scarce, there is a possibility of getting supplies of timber forward in greater volume than now calculated upon and before the market is ready for them, which would of course create a very likely chance for buyers. At primary points the tone is very firm according to latest advices.

Hemlock continues in very good general demand. Some of the trade lay most stress upon the call for boards, but all standard descriptions of stock are meeting with promising attention, and there seems to be little or no complaint from the selling side of the market. Most leading manufacturers are working in concert, and the few outsiders offer no serious competition.

White Pine retains most favorable symptoms previously noted, and the market is in very good form. It should be borne in mind, however, that comparisons are making with an unusually dull market of a year ago, and it may be just as well not to entertain too roseate ideas of white pine. There is scarcely a doubt that box boards will do well, and probably really desirable shipping grades for a while at least, but there is every reason to believe that the general supply will be plenty and our market pretty well drummed to place the offering by competitors from several different sections. Furthermore, substitutes are comparatively plenty and acceptable to many consumers. Export trade continues fair and thought likely to continue.

Yellow Pine is reported under good control in both first and second hands and the market firm. Some operators, said to be outside the organizations, may now and then interject a more or less tame suggestion, and even assert that the business is overrated; but the principal houses, so far as they consent to commit themselves, frame their views cheerfully, and all intimations of value are at a full former level. The distribution from the South into the interior is said to be increasing steadily.

Carolina Pine meets with steady attention, quite in proportion to other grades of stock, and retains the market in good shape for everything that is properly cured and prepared to suit the wants of this locality. Offerings careful, but can be made full enough if wanted. Some operators appear hopeful of placing timber again this season should other wood continue high.

The Southern Lumberman is responsible for the report that a syndicate of Baltimore and Norfolk capitalists have organized a company for the purpose of disposing of the surplus North Carolina pine lumber. The capital stock is half a million dollars. Mr. W. W. Tunis, of the Tunis & Serpell Lumber Company, is the president. It would now look that a better average price will be hereafter obtained for this product.

Hardwoods undergo little change so far as can be discovered. Dealers and manufacturers are preparing for a somewhat larger consumption, and probably feel a little of the growing pulse of demand already, but we note a great deal of conversation in many cases, and it looks as though, with a few exceptions, but especially proper, it would be difficult to stimulate prices to any great extent. Really desirable and attractive stock will command good value and more readily than last season, but there are fair quantities of most varieties awaiting an outlet, and buyers feel in no great hurry to invest.

Shingles have a rather quiet market at the moment. Operators, however, claim to see signs of returning demand from home sources, and with a fair average home call hope to keep affairs in reasonalby good shape and prevent depreciation in value.

A combination of the principal firms and companies in Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina has been formed under a charter from Virginia, representing about $10,000,000 interested in that trade. The corporation will be known as the North Carolina Pine Lumber Company and it is understood will virtually control the great pine trade of Virginia and North Carolina. The new company will establish grades and its decisions will be potential in the trade. It is said they will not attempt to force terms and prices, but will offer facilities and get the market price, and if there is a market price they will know it more quickly than others not represented in the company. It is also organized to prevent random quotations, and will keep the amount of stock on hand uniform and meet the requirements of trade without overstocking any with particular grades. The officers of the new company will be W. W. Tunis, of the Tunis & Serpell Company, president; John L. Roper, of the John L. Roper Company, vice-president; Howard Johnson, of Greenleaf, Johnson & Sons, treasurer.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Chicago Timberman as follows:

The winter has come to a sudden end to the disgust of the loggers in Wisconsin camps, although it is claimed that many of the strongest lumbermen are rather glad that there is a slight shortage, as it will tend to stiffen prices of lumber. If the snow had remained two weeks longer the majority would be able to fill their contracts. As it is, there is at least 75 per cent. of the estimated cut in the rivers, which is a great deal more than they expected. Most of the loggers will probably just clear expenses, only a few will make much over that. Camps are rapidly breaking up, though the slight cold for a few days acted as a check. On shoot hauls some have been doing work at nights, but every day tells. The snow was light, and a week of the warm sun has drawn the frost out of the ground remarkably fast. There have been no rains and no indications of any, and the drive question will now trouble lumbermen. What little snow there was has had no effect on the river, which was at a very low stage when the sawing season ended.

It certainly seems strange that the forests of the bleak New England States and lower Canada and Quebec, as mentioned in above, have either long ago disappeared or are fast melting away, while the wealth of the Southern forests, even in sections which have been settled as long as the districts above alluded to, is just beginning to be known, reports from travelers and prospectors in the Southern States coming to us with all the force of a new revelation. The State of Louisiana, for example, which has been settled almost as long as Quebec, has in wealth and variety of timber hardly a peer among the States of the Union, having probably over a hundred species of wood of unequalled value, and surpassed in magnificence by none save by a few of the giants of California, and yet her forests may be called almost virgin, it being only recently since the lumberman has invaded her realms. In ornamental trees these Gulf States have no peers, the wide-spreading foliage and the deep and cordial tones of color of their live oaks are a never failing joy. The magnolia grandiflora is another tree of incomparable beauty, both of form and foliage, while its immense creamy chalice of bloom overflows almost all summer with an intensity and pervasion of fragrance that is almost unendurable to some.

The hardwoods in these States comprising several species of oak, several of hickory, ash, etc., are superb in size and fibre. But the chief wealth of these forests consists in the cypress tree, the wood of which is so rapidly making its way into many uses and coming into such general demand. Many of the mills of Louisiana run entirely on the cut of this wood, and the business is rapidly becoming one of the most expanded industries of that State. In certain localities is found a birdseye cypress which is especially adapted for ornamental work.

Of yellow pine, again, Louisiana has magnificent supplies, and of late this lumber has been taking rapid strides into favor, the demand for it extending from Chicago to the City of Mexico, and from Idaho to New York, its use in the States of Montana, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, etc., being greatly on the increase. According to a most competent authority, there are now over 2,400 sawmills in the South, most of them cutting this lumber, and fifty millions of dollars have been invested in Southern pine lands since the last census, and this method of investment is growing in favor with capitalists and managers of fiduciary institutions, not only in the North but in England and other foreign countries as well.

Well-informed lumbermen who have examined critically the log cut on the east shore, claim that there will be a shortage amounting to at least 20 per cent. comparing this season with the last. Reports—lacking corroborative detail, but looking very like the truth—would lead those interested to believe that the log crop of the northern peninsula will be considerably short. These estimates are based on the amount of logs skidded to date, and as camps are breaking up all over the white pine lumber producing states, there are reasons for believing that these deductions contain a measure of truth, and give a fair idea of the volume cut and ready for the saw. So the wholesalers of the West do not care to part with their dry lumber at a reduction when they fear that they will have trouble in replacing it.

Throughout the white pine regoins the early closing of the logging season is having a favorable effect on the markets. Though it does not appear that there will be a notable lack of logs in any of the districts, the result of the sudden disappearance of the snow will prevent such a surplus from being banked as might have been the case had the roads on the long hauls held good through the greater part of March. In Wisconsin and on the upper Mississippi, it is being claimed that the shortage will equal 15 to 20 per cent. of the intended input. On the Manistee, in Michigan, all the the logs skidded will probably be got to bank. On the tributaries of the Saganaw the input is likely to be restricted. Throughout Michigan skidding has been done carefully, with reference to a possible short season, so that altogether we may conclude that there will be considerably less logs put in this season than last. This certainly will be a factor in the coming market season tending to maintain values.

There is a continued looking around for poplar in all the producing districts. Stocks are in moderate supply, and prices are firm.

There has been no recent material changes in prices. The readoption of the September list on lumber, and the advance of 5 to 10 cents on shingles, may be taken to mean something or nothing by different men. But it can be safely said that the majority of dealers are holding to the prices that have generally prevailed all winter. Short piece stuff will average $12 between yards, common boards $14, No. 2 boards $12.50, and first fencing $15. The low price men generally want to buy the sorts they are bearish on. There are some lists out in this State offering lumber at 25 to 50 cents off the list, in competition with Wisconsin lumber, but the cuts are not general.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says

The logging season in the white pine States has been brought abruptly to an end by the mild weather which occurred last week. The cut of logs has undoubtedly been materially curtailed in consequence, though reports differ somewhat as to whether the cut will fall very far short of what it was the intention to put in. The season has been an exceedingly short one, but as a whole decidedly favorable for the loggers. The snow fall came at the right time—just when the skidways were loaded—and from that time until the break-up the work has gone forward, particularly in Minnesota and Wisconsin, under conditions as favorable as they have ever been. There was neither too much nor too little snow. A good deal of work has, therefore, been done in a short time, and at the minimum of expense to the loggers. It is probably true that had the season been protracted the log market would have been overstocked. Without going into details or attempting to sift reports which do not entirely agree, it can safely be said that there are enough logs to keep the mills busy during the summer. But the men on the bear side of the market will find nothing to encourage them in the shape of an overstock of logs. The whole tone of the market now must be determined by the extent and activity of the demand. It is undoubtedly true, however, that the conditions have been very much improved for every man in the trade by the sudden disappearance of snow and almost total cessation of logging operations early in March.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON.

American Black Walnut.—The stock or logs at the West India Docks is generally of poor character. Wood of a better class is being inquired for, and any fresh imports of straight, sound medium-sized logs will command a ready sale at good prices. Lumber is selling freely, but here, too, first quality stock known as "red ends" is mostly in demand. On the whole, the condition of the trade is encouraging.

American Whitewood.—There is not very much doing in logs, but in lumber (boards and planks) the comparative scarcity of imports has produced a livelier tone in the market, and accordingly importers are insisting upon a full adherence to recent advanced prices.

American Satin Walnut.—The tendency of this trade, if anything, is rather in the direction of a slightly better feeling; there seems to be a more general inquiry, and deliveries from the docks have of late displayed greater activity.

Pitch pine freights continue very firm for sailing ships, and we hear of charters just fixed from Pensacola for hewn timber at 40s., and for sawn timber at 135s., and even 140s. is reported to have been paid lately. We understand steamers have also been taken up from Pensacola to this country for pitch pine timber at rates varying between 50s. and 55s. per ton register, shippers paying all charges at the loading port.

LIVERPOOL.

Quebec pine deals move away fairly in retail quantities. Prices continue very firm in view of the high range of freights and increased cost abroad. A parcel of first quality bright, 13 ft. 3 in. x 11 in., sold by auction at £22 10s. per standard.

There is nothing new in the way of spruce deals so far as regards prices. The stock is reduced to the unusually small quantity of 6,025 standards.

Walnutwood.—There was again but little demand for American, buyers evidently not being prepared to give the prices required by the importers. Only eight logs were sold at 4s. 9d per foot, whilst a parcel of inferior Circassian planks were cleared out at 2¾d per foot super.

Gumwood.—Several parcels were offered, but though low prices would have been accepted we believe none changed hands.

GLASGOW.

Some extensive sales have recently been made privately, and stocks of Quebec timber will, no doubt, show a great diminution when they are made up at the end of this month, compared with statement December 31st last. Pitch pine and teak having been arriving pretty freely, the depletion that has taken place by what has gone into use will not tell in the same way on the stocks, which will probably be found not to vary much from last quarterly statement.

The stock of walnut at Queen's Dock, Glasgow, at 31st December last (importers' and consumers') was 1,487 logs, and since then there has been an import of 442 logs, and going over the stock now we find it altogether 1,150 logs, the most of which is held by consumers.

NAILS.—Demand somewhat irregular in development, but manages to keep up to about former general aggregate; some of the trade think it is increasing and reports are framed more or less cheerfully. Sellers, however, do not find encouragement to insist upon fuller rates, and there is stock enough to meet all calls promptly with now and then a trifle to spare. We quote at $1.80@1.85 for car lots, and $1.90@2.00 per keg for parcels from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The movement of supplies is still reported as quite satisfactory, with a tendency to increase, if anything, and matters are in very good shape. There is no speculation or flurry to trade, but in a quiet way the steady movement towards consumptive outlets is benefiting all standard descriptions of stock and keeping the general market in a healthy form. Local wants, it is expected, will develop an increase this spring. Linseed Oil meeting with due proportion of attention, and is quoted at 56@57c. for Western and 58@59c. for City. Spirits of Turpentine has found rather a moderate demand of late, with offerings somewhat more decided and tone easier at 52½@53½c. per gallon, according to quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand has required a little more stock in some instances, but nothing of an extraordinary character or beyond the ability of sellers to meet with reasonab'e promptness. Prices about steady. We quote Pitch $1.35@1.50 per bbl.: Tar at $2.10@2.20, according to quantity, quality and delivery.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.
